Life Insurance Progress in the United States.

It is within the past sixty years that the vast business of life insurance in the United States has been developed. The experimental stage was ended and the era of advance was opened when, in 1843, the Mutual Life Insurance Company of New York began business, its first policy having been issued on February 1 of that year.

Since then a large number of life insurance companies have been established. The following list includes those now transacting business which had their inception between 1843 and 1860 inclusive, arranged according to the date of the first policy issued:

Mutual Life Insurance Company, 1843, February 1; New England Mutual Life Insurance Company (1), 1844, February 1; New York Life Insurance Company, 1845, April 17; Mutual Benefit Life Insurance Company (2), 1845, May 6; State Mutual Life Assurance Company (3), 1845, June 1; Connecticut Mutual Life Insurance Company, 1846, December 15; Penn Mutual Life Insurance Company, 1847, June 25; Union Mutual Life Insurance Company, 1849, October 1; National Life Insurance Company of Vermont, 1850, February 1; United States Life Insurance Company, 1850, March 4; Ætna Life Insurance Company, 1850, August 1; Manhattan Life Insurance Company, 1850, August 1; Massachusetts Mutual Life Insurance Company, 1851, August 2; Phœnix Mutual Life Insurance Company, 1851, September 11; Berkshire Life Insurance Company (4), 1851, October 27; Northwestern Mutual Life Insurance Company, 1858, November 25; Equitable Life Assurance Society, 1859, July 28; Washington Life Insurance Company, 1860, February 2; Home Life Insurance Company, 1860, May 1; Germania Life Insurance Company, 1860, July 16.

How life insurance has progressed since the early part of 1843 is shown in the subjoined table by periods of years as indicated, assessment insurance not being included.

| December 31. | Amount of Outstanding Insurance. | Amount of Assets. |
|---|---|---|
| 1843 | $6,500,000 | $1,000,000 |
| 1867 | 1,235,000,000 | 124,534,000 |
| 1892 | 4,898,000,000 | 907,441,000 |
| 1899 | 6,266,000,000 | 1,576,000,000 |
| 1913 | 19,264,793,685 | 4,409,292,521 |

American Experience Table of Mortality.

This is the mortality table prescribed by statute in most of the States as the basis upon which the reserves of life insurance companies shall be computed:

| Age. | Number Living. | Number Dying. | Expectation of Life. | Age. | Number Living. | Number Dying. | Expectation of Life. | Age. | Number Living. | Number Dying. | Expectation of Life. |

State Fire Marshals.

FOLLOWING is a list of the Fire Marshals holding office in each of the States; their duties being to provide and put in operation means for the prevention of fires and to investigate the causes of fires that have taken place. The laws of almost all the States give them extensive powers, and they have the right to enter premises and compel the attendance of witnesses in the pursuance of their duties. The officials are usually appointees by the Governors of their respective States, but in Maine, Michigan, Mississippi, North Carolina, South Carolina, and Virginia the State Insurance Commissioners are State Fire Marshals ex-officio. In a number of States Fire Marshal laws have not yet been passed, but legislation to this effect may be expected within the next few years.

The Pilgrims.

THE Pilgrims was organized in London during coronation year, 1902. It was born of a desire on the part of a few Anglo-Americans, who foregathered in London at that time, to have a society that would stand for the promotion of good fellowship and friendship between Britons and Americans as individuals.

The British Pilgrims has a membership of 400 The American Pilgrims was organized in 1903 and has a membership of 600, which is the limit specified in the rules. There is a long waiting list of applicants

The society takes no part in politics or affairs of state or church, but simply and solely the cementing of friendship between citizens of the United States and its dependencies and the subjects of the British Empire. It exists for the one purpose of fostering by social means a friendly understanding between the people of the United States and those of Great Britain, and to bring distinguished visitors from Great Britain into contact with leading citizens of New York and the most eminent men of the country.

The citizens of the United States and its dependencies and subjects of the British Empire, and others prominent for their sympathy with the objects of the society, are eligible for membership, and membership in one society ipso facto constitutes membership in the other.

The officers and Executive Committee of the Pilgrims of Great Britain are as follows:

President—Field-Marshal Earl Roberts, K. G., V. C.

Vice-Presidents—The Archbishop of Canterbury; Field-Marshal Lord Grenfell, G. C. B.; Admiral the Hon. Sir Hedworth Lambton Meux, K. C. V. O.

Public Roads in the United States.

MILEAGE AND COST OF PUBLIC ROADS IN THE UNITED STATES.

|---|---|---|---|---|---|
| Total mileage of all public roads in United States | 2,151,379 | 2,199,645 | Total mileage of stone roads in United States | 36,818 | 59,237 |
| Total mileage of all improved roads in United States | 153,530 | 190,476 | Total mileage of gravel roads in United States | 109,905 | 102,870(a) |
| Percentage of all roads improved | 7.14 | 8.66 | Total mileage of sand-clay, brick, bituminous-macadam & other impr'd roads in U. S. | 6,806 | 28,372 |

STATES HAVING LARGEST MILEAGE OF IMPROVED ROADS.

| States. | 1904. | 1909. | States. | 1904. | 1909. |
|---|---|---|---|---|---|
| Indiana | 23,877 | 24,955 | Kentucky | 9,486 | 10 114 |
| Ohio | 23,460 | 24,106 | Illinois | 7,924 | 8,914 |
| New York | 5,876 | 12,787 | California | 8,803 | 8,587 |
| Wisconsin | 10,633 | 10,167(a) | Massachusetts | 7,543 | 8,463 |

(a) Decrease caused by reclassification of roads.

STATES WHICH HAVE MADE THE GREATEST PROGRESS IN ROAD BUILDING IN THE FIVE-YEAR PERIOD:

|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|
| New York | 5,876 | 12,787 | 6,911 | Pennsylvania | 2,160 | 3,364 | 1,204 |
| Georgia | 1,634 | 5,978 | 4,344 | Tennessee | 4,285 | 5,353 | 1,068 |
| Washington | 1,976 | 4,520 | 2,544 | New Jersey | 2,422 | 3,377 | 955 |
| Missouri | 2,733 | 4,755 | 2,022 | Florida | 885 | 1,752 | 866 |
| South Carolina | 1,878 | 3,534 | 1,656 | Maryland | 1,570 | 2,142 | 572 |
| Alabama | 1,720 | 3,263 | 1,543 | | | | |

The gain in New York State is due largely to the fact that the State has bonded itself for $50,000,000, and that $5,000,000 a year is being expended by the State, in addition to an equal sum by the counties, in building State highways.

The gain in Georgia is largely attributed to the use of 4,500 prisoners on the public roads of the State.

The gain in South Carolina, Alabama and Florida is due largely to the fact that sand-clay roads are being built and that this is a very cheap and satisfactory type of road building.

STATES SHOWING THE GREATEST PERCENTAGE OF IMPROVED ROADS—1909.

| States. | Per Cent. | States. | Per Cent. |
|---|---|---|---|
| Rhode Island | 49.14 | Wisconsin | 16.64 |
| Massachusetts | 49 | New York | 16.13 |
| Indiana | 36.7 | Washington | 13.19 |
| Ohio | 27.13 | Maryland | 12.77 |
| Connecticut | 24.08 | Utah | 12.23 |
| New Jersey | 22.76 | Tennessee | 11.66 |
| Kentucky | 18.82 | South Carolina | 11.02 |
| Vermont | 18.4 | Maine | 10.59 |
| California | 17.87 | Michigan | 10.01 |

The following States have between 5 and 10 per cent. of roads improved: Alabama, Delaware, Florida, Georgia, Illinois, Minnesota, New Hampshire and Oregon.

There are twenty-two States which have less than 5 per cent. of roads improved.

AVERAGE COST PER MILE OF IMPROVED ROADS IN THE VARIOUS STATES IN 1909.*

| Materials. | Cost. | Materials. | Cost. |
|---|---|---|---|
| Sand-clay | $723 | Macadam | $4,989 |
| Gravel | 2,047 | Bituminous-macadam | 10,348 |

* These figures are based on reports received from the officials of State Highway Departments and from counties, townships and other local subdivisions of the various States.

ESTIMATED COST OF IMPROVED ROADS IN THE UNITED STATES BASED ON DATA CONTAINED IN BULLETIN NO. 41.

| Roads. | Mileage. | Ave. Cost per Mile. | Total Estimated Cost in U. S. | Roads. | Mileage. | Ave. Cost per Mile. | Total Estimated Cost in U. S. |
|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|
| Stone | 59,237 | $4,989 | $295,533,393 | Miscellaneous (B.-Mac., Brick, &c.) | 3,771 | $10,000 | $37,710,000 |
| Gravel | 102,870 | 2,047 | 210,574,890 | | | | |
| Sand-clay | 24,601 | 723 | 17,786,523 | Grand totals | 190,479 | | $561,604,806 |

VALUE OF RIGHTS OF WAY ON ALL PUBLIC ROADS IN THE UNITED STATES.

On a basis of 40-foot width, there are 10,668,276 acres of rights of way included in the public roads of the United States.

Based on the average value of farm lands in the various States, the total value of these rights of way would amount to $345,652,215.

|---|---|
| Cost of improved roads | $561,604,806 |
| Value of rights of way | 345,652,215 |
| Total | $907,257,021 |

It is estimated that the total expenditure for the year 1911 was $141,298,209.

Highway bonds issued, or authorized, by States, counties and townships for the purpose of construction or improvement of public roads to Jan. 1, 1913, State bonds, $142,577,000; county and township bonds, $254,462,824. Does not include city bonds for street improvements.

Rowing.

YALE VS. HARVARD—VARSITY EIGHTS.

YALE and Harvard eights have rowed forty-seven races, beginning in 1852 on Lake Winnipiseogee at two miles, when Harvard won. In 1855 the course was changed to Springfield and lengthened to three miles. Lake Quinsigamond was the scene for nine years, and Lake Saltonstall for 1869. After an interval of seven years the crews in 1876-77 went to Springfield, Mass., when the four-mile course was inaugurated. In 1878 the crews changed again to New London, Ct. The records:

DAVIS CUP TENNIS.

The Dwight F. Davis Tennis Cup, emblematic of the world's team championship, first offered in 1900, won from the United States by British Isles in 1903, was regained by United States during the 1913 tournament. Eight nations competed for the trophy, which was finally won by the United States team, consisting of H. H. Hackett, captain; Maurice E. McLoughlin, Richard Norris Williams, 2d, and Wallace F. Johnson. The Davis cup was placed in competition in 1900. It was successfully defended in 1900 and 1902 against British Isles, but in 1903 an invading team from that country, composed of R. F. and H. L. Doherty and Joshua Pim, won it from the United States. In 1907 Norman E. Brookes and Anthony F. Wilding won it for Australasia, which country retained it until 1912, when a British team, consisting of J. C. Parke, C. P. Dixon, A. E. Beamish and F. G. Lowe, regained possession of the trophy. In 1913 seven countries challenged for the cup, which was finally won by the United States team. The results of the various international matches follow:

First Round. June 5, 6 and 7—Germany vs. France, won by Germany, 4 matches to 1. June 6, 7 and 9—United States vs. Australasia, won by United States, 4 matches to 1. June 19, 20 and 21—Canada vs. South Africa, won by Canada, 3 matches to 1. Belgium a bye.

Second Round. July 10, 11 and 12—United States vs. Germany, won by United States, 5 matches to none. July 10, 11 and 12—Canada vs. Belgium, won by Canada, 5 matches to none.

Final Round. July 18, 19 and 21—United States vs. Canada, at Wimbledon, England, won by United States, 3 matches to none, two unplayed.

Challenge Round. July 25, 26 and 28—United States vs. British Isles, at Wimbledon, England, for the cup. Won by United States, 3 matches to 2.

Pugilistic Champions and Receipts.

ALL attempts to designate and classify the pugilistic champions and title holders are more or less arbitrary because of the fact that few such champions won and defended the championships at the same weight. Among the lighter weight boxers it is not at all unusual for a pugilist to be forced from one class into the next higher by growth and increased weight. The following list, dating from 1890, is generally accepted by critics and boxers as being the correct classification, although holders did not always win title from previous champions:

Rifle Shooting.

THE year 1913 was a red letter year in rifle shooting annals, as the greatest rifle shooting competition that this country has ever seen was held at Camp Perry, Ohio, from August 15 to September 9 inclusive, consisting of international, national, and National Rifle Association matches. The international matches, as well as the national matches, were fostered by the Government and Congress appropriated $25,000 for prizes and expenses, while the State of Ohio appropriated $15,000. This was the first time that the matches of the International Union and the Pan-American Shooting Union were ever held in this country.

Chess.

FOLLOWING the unusual activity in international chess in Europe the previous year, there came a distinct reaction and the masters were given opportunity to obtain a much needed rest in 1913. Budapest and Scheveningen did arrange meetings that were not distinctly first class, these being won by R. Spielmann and A. Alechine, respectively. Attention of the chess world, therefore, centred to a large extent upon this side of the water, where the second American National Tournament, in New York in January, was followed immediately by the Havana congress. In both the honors were monopolized by J. R Capablanca of Havana and F. J. Marshall of New York, the former being first in New York and second in his own home. These competitions were arranged by the American Chess Bulletin. During the Summer, good tournaments were held in New York, Capablanca winning the first with a record score and Marshall winning the second. In this wise, the collapse of the proposed New York-Havana international championship tournament was in a measure atoned for. Moreover, the Cuban tournament paved the way for an international tournament on a grand scale at Havana in 1914, the start being planned for February 1. Europe, on the other hand, will have at least one gala attraction of like nature in the international congress to be begun at St. Petersburg in April. Two tours were made by Marshall, the United States champion, one upon his return from Havana by way of New Orleans and the other in midsummer, when he responded to a call from the Pacific Coast. At Pittsburgh, Marshall established a new record for simultaneous play in this country, meeting fifty-seven opponents without suffering a defeat. Capablanca spent the greater part of the year in Havana and in October departed for St. Petersburg, there to take up his duties as Chancellor of the Cuban Embassy. In August, Dr. E. Lasker and A. K. Rubinstein agreed to terms for a championship match to be played in 1914. Funds will be raised through subscription to the "Book of the Match," a limited edition of which will be printed. An effort to revive the college cable matches with Oxford and Cambridge for the Rice international trophy failed, but a match is assured for 1914. Prof. I. L. Rice of New York also provided what will be known as the Cuban-American Chess Trophy, which was forwarded to the Havana Chess Club. Correspondence chess flourished during 1913. Among the notable deaths are to be recorded those of C. A. Maurian, L. Uedemann, D. G. Baird and L. Hoffer.

Twenty-first Intercollegiate Tourney—New York, December 22, 23 and 24, 1912. Won by Columbia, with totals of 8—4; Harvard, second, with 7½—4½; Yale, third, with 4½—7½; Princeton, fourth, with 2—10. The winning team was: H. A. Wise, '14; S. H. Childs, '13, S , E. L. Gluck, '13, L., A. P. Sachs, '13, S. The record: Columbia and Harvard, each 9; Yale and Princeton, each 1. In addition, Harvard and Yale tied in 1909. It was not played off.

Fourteenth Triangular College Chess League—December 26, 27 and 28, 1912. Won by Pennsylvania, with totals of 7½—½; Cornell, second, with 4—4; Brown, third, with ½—7½. The winning team: R. Sze, '14, Ch. E., and M. J. Teitelbaum, '14, Wharton. The record: Pennsylvania, 7; Cornell, 5. In addition, Pennsylvania tied once with Brown and once with Cornell.

Second American National Tournament—New York, January 19 to February 5. Winner J. R. Capablanca, Havana, 11—2; second, F. J. Marshall, 10½—2½; third, C. Jaffe, 9½—3½; fourth, D. Janowski, 9—4; fifth and sixth, each 8—5. Fourteen entries.

Western College Tournament—Chicago, December 30 and January 2, 3 and 5. Won by University of Chicago, with totals of 8½—3½; Illinois, second, with 5½—6½; Michigan, third, with 4—8. The winning team: E. W. Gruer, W. G. Ringer and R. W. Stevens.

Havana Masters' Tournament—Havana, February 15 to March 6, 1913. Winner F. J. Marshall, New York, 10½—3½; second, J. R. Capablanca, Havana, 10—4; third, D. Janowski, Paris, 9—5; fourth and fifth, O. Chajes and A. Kupchik, each 6½—7½. Eight entries.

IMPORTANT CYCLING EVENTS.

The Amateur World's Championships were run on the new Olympic Stadium Track at Berlin, Germany, August 23, 1913. William Bailey, of London, won the sprinting championship, and Leon Meredith, also English, captured the 100 kilometre paced championship for the seventh time. The professional championships were run at Leipsic, Germany, August 31, 1913, the sprinting championship being captured by Walter Rutt of Germany, with Thorwald Ellegaard, of Denmark, second, and Andre Perchicot, third. Paul Guignard, the paced hour record holder, won the 100 kilometre paced championship. Paul Guignard holds the 100 kilometre paced record, made at Munich, September 15, 1909, in the time of 59m. 1s. Guignard also holds the 1-hour professional paced record, made the same time and place, of 63 miles 189 8 yards. At Munich, Guignard on July 23, 1909, rode 31 miles 1,198 yards in the half-hour (a record).

The amateur 1-hour motor-paced record is 56 miles, 1,128 yards, and was made by Francois Cuzin at Munich, September 30, 1909. Cuzin completed 100-kilometres in 1h. 5m. 45 2-5s.

Marcel Berthet, at the Velodrome Buffalo, Paris, August 7, 1913, rode 26.35 miles unpaced in the hour.

Arthur Van der Stuyft made two-hour paced record at Leipsic, Germany, October 11, 1908, at 106 miles 1,498 yards. Joe Noe, of the Century Road Club of America, reduced the record from New York to Philadelphia and return to 13h. 58m. on August 22, 1910.

Six-day race, Boston, Mass., November 3 to 8, 1913, ten hours a day. Final score—Fogler-Lawson, 1,359 miles 9 laps; McNamara-Root, 1,359 miles 9 laps; Lawrence-Magin, 1,359 miles 9 laps; Collins-Hill, 1,359 miles 9 laps; Cavanagh-Moran, 1,359 miles 9 laps; Grenda-Carmen, 1,359 miles 8 laps; Ryan-Corry, 1,359 miles 8 laps.

Sunday World Athletic Meets.

(From Official Report of Public Schools Athletic League.)

EARLY in the year the SUNDAY WORLD renewed its offer to the League to assist 150 of the elementary schools of the city in each having a field day of athletic games during the spring term of school, as preliminaries to the SUNDAY WORLD Grand Final Meet in October. Though the offer was at first limited to 150 schools, the demand proved so much greater that 172 schools were finally admitted to the privilege of entering for the field days. Of these 169 schools held meets, between April 15 and June 27. As a few of the larger schools, having entry lists that in some cases went beyond 1,000 contestants, held more than one meet the actual number of meets held for the Sunday WORLD prizes during the year was 176.

In every way that has gone to make up the growing success of this great series of annual field days for grammar grade boys, the year's field days have been wonderfully successful. In the 176 separate meets sixty thousand boys were entered and contested in the track and field events, a number far surpassing that of any previous year. But even this does not tell the full story of the actual number of children that participated in the field days during the year. At many of the meets there were, in addition to the events on the SUNDAY WORLD'S standard programme, mass drills and other added events that included large numbers of other pupils in the activities of the field day. Many of the schools took advantage of the Board of Education rule permitting a school to take one day a year for athletic sports and made of their field day an all-day outing to some distant athletic field nearby, the entire school going by special train or ferry boat in the morning and returning in the late afernoon. The following Manhattan schools went to Curtis Field, Staten Island, for their games: Schools Nos. 11, 20, 23, 58, 62, 69, 79, 120, 160 and No. 6, Brooklyn. The following Manhattan schools took the long trip to Crotona Athletic Field in the Bronx for their full day's outing: Schools Nos. 5, 10, 19, 25, 27, 34, 43, 89, 132, 171, 184. Schools Nos. 77, 83, 87, and 109, Manhattan and No. 109, Brooklyn, went to Astoria Field. The field at Pelham Bay Park was used by three Manhattan schools—P. S. 40, 186, and the Vocational, and Schools Nos. 3, 40 and 43 of the Bronx had very largely attended meets there. At many of the meets during the year there were added events for girls, usually for prizes given by the school athletic organizations, though the SUNDAY WORLD contributed for these events 300 bronze pins and a number of banners. In the 176 meets of the year more than 1,600 teachers acted as officials of the games. The number of prizes given by the SUNDAY WORLD during the year for the separate school games was as follows: 3,740 medals—1,870 of silver and a like number of bronze; 170 class banners and 15 special banners. The entry lists from many of the schools were very large, as compared to their total enrolment of grammar grade boys. Some schools had more than 90 per cent. of their boys in the games, and more than forty schools exceeded 75 per cent. of their enrolment. The promoters of this series of field days have stated that "the object of these games is to encourage participation in healthful sports by the largest possible number of New York schoolboys, teaching fairness, cheerfulness, pluck and skill—the true sportsmanlike spirit of honorable competition with ambition to do things and confidence in their own powers—as well as giving physical training and aiding the schools in effecting permanent organization for athletic work." That object has come even nearer fulfilment last year than in the previous year, judging by the very large entry lists from most of the schools that held the games. Some huge meets were held by the larger schools of the city. Following are some of the schools that had great numbers of contestants in their meets, the figures given being the actual number of boys who competed in the athletic events for the SUNDAY WORLD prizes: School No. 62, Manhattan, 4 meets, 1,560; No. 188, Manhattan, 1,350; No. 43, Brooklyn, 1,100; No. 5, Manhat-

The SUNDAY WORLD Field Days were instituted in the Spring of 1906, when the SUNDAY WORLD offered to the Public Schools Athletic League to furnish prizes and other assistance to one hundred New York public schools to enable each of them to hold a field day of athletic games for their grammar grade boys. Each year since 1906 the SUNDAY WORLD has renewed its offer to the league and the schools, increasing the number of schools invited to hold the games to 125 in 1908 and to 150 in 1910. The field days have grown steadily and vastly in popularity, in the number of contestants and in the quality of the games with the increased experience of the teachers managing them and the greater amount of training that is given to the boys preliminary to the contests. In the Spring of 1912 157 schools had SUNDAY WORLD Field Days. A grand total of 54,000 boys competed—a record surpassed only by the year 1913—1,200 teachers acted as officials at the games and half a million children and adults witnessed the athletic contests. For the eight years of the SUNDAY WORLD Field Days the statistics in the grand totals reach astonishing figures: 1,104 separate school athletic meets have been held; 295,000 boys have competed in the games; 27,000 SUNDAY WORLD medals have been awarded; 1,180 banners have been presented as class trophies.

NEW YORK SUNDAY WORLD FINAL MEET.

Held at Curtis Athletic Field, New Brighton, Staten Island, Saturday, October 12, 1912.

On Saturday afternoon, October 12, 1912 (Columbus Day), the Public Schools Athletic League conducted the Seventh Annual SUNDAY WORLD Final Track and Field Championship Games at the Curtis Athletic Field, New Brighton, Staten Island. These games were the finals of 157 individual school meets held during the Spring of 1912, in which fully 300,000 young athletes participated. An entry of over 1,400 boys was received for the sixteen events, which were divided into four weight classes. Only those schools which held a SUNDAY WORLD Field Day athletic meet in the Spring were eligible to enter boys in the final games. The performances of the embryo athletes in the various events were remarkable and were freely commented upon by many of the invited guests.

The contest for the City Championship was keen throughout and it was impossible to determine the winner until the last event was finished. The scoring of points was on a basis of 5 for firsts, 3 for seconds, 2 for thirds and 1 for fourths. P. S. 42, Bronx, won the City Championship with a score of 22 points, closely followed by P. S. 62, Manhattan, with 18 points, P. S. 5, Manhattan, with 15 points, and P. S. 64 and P. S. 19, Manhattan, tied for fourth place with a score of 13 points apiece. ## AMERICA'S CUP RACES.

The year 1914 will be notable in yachting circles owing to the renewal of the international yachting regatta between England and the United States, with the America's Cup as the trophy at stake. The New York Yacht Club, custodian of the famous cup, accepted the challenge of the Royal Ulster Yacht Club on behalf of Sir Thomas Lipton during the Summer of 1913 and set the dates for the first three races as September 10, 12, 15, 1914. Lipton's challenger, to be known as the Shamrock IV., is to be a 75-footer, built by Charles E. Nicholson, at Gosport, Eng. The United States Cup defender will be selected from the several candidate yachts now being built by the Vanderbilt syndicate, Cochran and others. The following table shows the results of all previous races for the America's Cup:

HOCKEY AT CLEVELAND.

Despite the failure of the Cleveland Athletic Club seven to retain the amateur hockey championship of the United States, the present season has been anything but a disappointment. The Sixth City puck chasers have played 43 games and hit a .650 clip, winning 26 games and losing 14. Constant changes in the lineup crippled the club's chances to display consistent form—the brand of hockey that won the United States title for them last year. The team showed to best advantage on home ice. The locals won 24 of their 26 victories at the Elysium and battled to a tie in two others. The resume of the season's play follows: Games played, 43; won 26, lost 14, tied 3. At home games played, 36; won 24, lost 10, tied 2; abroad games played, 7; won 2, lost 4, tied 1. The scores by games follows: At home—Cleveland A. C. 5, Detroit Tigers 1; Cleveland A. C. 3, Detroit Tigers 1; Cleveland A. C. 13, Duluth Curling Club 0; Cleveland A. ## AMERICAN INSTITUTE OF SOCIAL SERVICE.

Organized 1898. President—Dr. Josiah Strong. Lecturer—Dr. Jas. H. Ecob. Treasurer—John T. Perkins. Object: The gathering and disseminating of information on all branches of social thought and service. Supplies information and advice as to methods by correspondence, by its publications, by lectures and by its special reference library, open to the public. Publishes The Gospel of the Kingdom, a monthly magazine (75 cents per year) devoted to studies in social reform from the Christian standpoint, used by classes in churches, Sunday schools, church brotherhoods, colleges, Y. M. C. A.'s and Y. W. C. A.'s in all parts of the United States and Canada. The 1914 series, take as a basis the principles in social reform adopted by the Federal Council of the Church of Christ in America, and will study definite legislative measures aimed to put these principles into actual practice. The headquarters of the institute is at Bible House, Astor Place, New York.

TYPEWRITING RECORD.

On October 21, 1913, at the Sixty-ninth Regiment Armory, New York City, under the auspices of the annual Business Show, Miss Margaret B. Owen, of New York, made a net average of 125 words a minute for sixty consecutive minutes. Miss Owen's total was 7,925 words. She made eighty-six errors, and was penalized five words for each error. Second on the list came Emil Trefzger, who made but eighty-five errors and had a net average of 120 words. Gus Trefzger equalled the old world's record with a net average of 117 words a minute. Miss Florence E. Wilson, former record holder, did not enter the contest. Miss Owen won the $1,000 silver trophy cup.

The contests were inaugurated in 1906 and Miss Rose L. Fritz won with 82 words net. That remained the record until 1910, when H. O. Blaisdell ran it up to 109. Miss Wilson reached 112 last year.

Aviation.

PROGRESS in all branches of aviation was marked during 1913, although the European countries surpassed the United States in this respect. Reports filed by secretaries of various aeronautical organizations showed advancement in all departments, while several individual aviators demonstrated that the limit of aeroplane and dirigible balloon travel and control has not yet been reached. According to the annual report of the International Aeronautical Association, there were close to 2,500 licensed aviators on May 1. France led at that time with 968, Britain was second with 376, and Germany third with 335. The United States had enrolled 193. During the year there were a number of sensational flights both for trophies and exhibition. Caveller won the Michelin trophy with a flight over an observed circuit of 4,350 miles, while B. de Moulenais captured the Pommery cup for a twenty-four hour flight with the Paris to Warsaw trip, a distance of more than 1,300 miles. Other feats included looping-the-loop and flying upside down by Adolphe Pegoud, both in France and England, and similar feats by Lincoln Beachey in California. Moreau won the Bonnet prize for a self-righting aeroplane by flying for thirty minutes, under observation, without touching the levers of his planes. The wind was strong, and while the aeroplane rolled and pitched it always returned automatically to an even keel. Lieutenant Dunne also gave several convincing exhibitions with his self-righting aeroplane flying in the face of a stiff wind without touching the steering or elevating planes.

In the field of military and naval aeronautics the effort to maintain alleged supremacy in the air resolved itself into a contest principally between France and Germany, with other nations following but not seriously threatening the leaders. The following tabulations show the relative aeronautical strength, military, naval and otherwise, among the various nations, as prepared by the International Aeronautical Association and other official aviation organizations:

AEROPLANE-HYDROAEROPLANE-BALLOON RACES, 1913.

INTERNATIONAL SPEED RACE.

The fifth annual International James Gordon Bennett Speed Cup race was held at Betheny Aerodrome, France, September 29, 1913, and was won by M. Prevost, representing France. The distance was 124.28 miles, consisting of 20 laps of 6.21 miles each. Prevost flew at the rate of 124.8 miles per hour. His fastest lap was done in 2m. 56 3-5s., at the rate of 2.1 miles per minute. The first race was held in 1909 and was won by Glenn Curtiss, who flew the twenty kilometres (12.4 miles) in 15m. 50 2-5s., at an average speed of 47 miles per hour. In 1910 the winner was Grahame-White, who covered 100 kilometres (62 miles) at Belmont Park, L. I., in 60m. 47 3-5s., an average speed of 61.3 miles per hour. In 1911 the winner was C. T. Weymann, who covered 94 miles at Eastchurch, England, in 1h. 11m. 36 1-5s., an average of 78.77 miles per hour. In 1912 the winner was J. Vedrines, who covered 124.8 miles at Chicago, Ill., in 1h. 10m. 56s., an average of 105.5 miles per hour. The result of the 1913 race follows:

Automobile Industry.

ONE million automobiles were in use in the United States on November 1, 1913, more than a quarter of a million of which had been sold in the previous twelve months. This was a greater record of sales than had ever been achieved previously in a similar length of time, proving conclusively that the motor car has entirely passed the stage where it can be classed as a luxury and that it is to-day regarded as quite as much of a necessity by the man of moderate means as was the horse a few years ago. New York State leads all as a consumer of automobiles, more than 130,000 cars having been registered in the first nine months of the year.

The huge production and sales of motor cars in the season of 1913 was carried through in a manner to reflect the utmost credit on an industry that was the veriest infant only fifteen years ago. Allowing $900 as a conservative average price, the product represented a value of $225,000,000. Despite the staggering magnitude of the investment in plants and materials necessary to place on the market so many thousands of machines, hardly a loose financial link was developed throughout the season. Only one corporation of consequence became involved in difficulties, and this has since adjusted its affairs satisfactorily and is again an active producing factor. One other of importance, after a long period of producing high-class cars and trucks at a loss, has retired from the field.

The demand for low-powered and low-priced cars increased tremendously during 1913. One Detroit concern alone had produced 175,000 cars up to the end of its season and is perfecting plans for doubling the capacity of the factory in anticipation of a still greater vogue for its output in the years to come. Naturally, the demand for high-priced cars did not increase; in fact, the tendency of the year was to bring out cars of moderate price, possessing as much speed and quality as the most fastidious could demand. It seems likely, therefore, that the trend of production will be along these lines. Already many of the plants, heretofore confining their attention to building machines of the highest price, have begun to turn their attention to a product more nearly meeting the popular idea in price. There will always be, of course, a demand for the big expensive car from persons of large means, but it is gradually diminishing.

During 1913 the American automobile industry made wonderful strides toward becoming the world's centre of production in its line. Nearly $37,000,000 worth of motor cars and allied products were exported during the fiscal year that ended on June 30 last, according to Federal statisticians, a gain over the previous fiscal year of 27 per cent. Of this total more than $26,000,000 was represented solely by automobiles. Great Britain and Canada remained the largest markets, but South America, Continental Europe and Australia are constantly absorbing more and more of the American output, which, through quantity production, can be sold more cheaply than the foreign machines, even with the transportation charges added.

From the comparatively small total of imports during 1912, there was a decline of 21 per cent. in the 1913 fiscal year, the value of imports dropping to less than $2,000,000. The average value of cars imported in 1913 advanced slightly over that of the previous year.

During much of the year the automobile industry was intensely interested in the Underwood-Simmons Tariff bill, the passage of which brought about a big reduction in import duties. As it affects the class of foreign automobiles that have been popular in this country for many years, the new tariff brings a reduction of 15 per cent., while foreign-built tires benefit by a reduction from 35 to 10 per cent. Had it been possible, even five years ago, for the importers to secure such a reduction on cars, the American industry might have had a stiff fight on its hands. Coming at this time, however, it is not likely to make much difference. The most optimistic of the importers do not expect that the change in duty will be followed by an increase of more than 100 per cent. in importations, which would mean the bringing in of less than 1,500 foreign cars in 1914, a drop in the bucket as compared with the expected output in this country of about 300,000 machines.

The big drop in import duties on tires, however, seems likely to have an adverse effect on the American tire industry. Cheap labor abroad permits the production of tires at a lower price than can be reached in this country, and with only a 10 per cent. duty to meet, the European manufacturers are placed nearly on an equality with those of the United States in the matter of price. Immediately on the passage of the new Tariff bill the foreign tire representatives began an active campaign for business in this country, and the developments in the closing months of the year presaged a rate war between the rival factions.

The final months of the year were marked by a development that will probably have an important effect on the industry in time to come, and possibly in the very near future. This was the incorporation in the Middle West of a number of concerns for the production of the so-called cycle car, a "little brother" to the automobile, but built more cheaply, and intended to appeal to a vast portion of the population to whom even the cheapest automobiles have been prohibitive in price. The cycle car first made its appearance in Europe two or three years ago. So comprehensive are the plans thus far made that if the American public shows a liking for this car the market will be flooded with them in the next twelve months, at prices ranging from $300 to $400. The lower price would serve to bring the new type of motor car into direct competition even with motor cycles.

The commercial vehicle made fair progress in the year just ending, the number in use throughout the country increasing from 33,000 to about 50,000, a gain represented largely by machines of the delivery type of from 1,000 to 1,500 pounds capacity. There is nothing to indicate that this branch of the industry will ever progress as has the passenger car division. Excessive up-keep charges are the retarding feature, and when these can be brought down the motor-propelled business vehicle will begin to cut seriously into the field of the horse.

As a competitive sport, automobiling plays a very small part in the records of 1913. The class road contests for the Grand Prize and Vanderbilt, which were to have been run at Savannah, Ga., were abandoned through inability of the promoters to secure sufficiently large fields. The most important road race of the year was at Elgin, Ill., a 300-mile grind, in which a moderate-priced American-built machine won in fast time over a field that included several foreign cars. The 500-mile Speedway race was renewed at Indianapolis and was won by a French car with a French driver at the wheel, with American cars filling second and third places. A number of road races were held in California, the one section of the country in which high speed racing seems to have a strong following.

Throughout the year automobilists played a large part in the betterment of the country's road system. They were back of every move for improvement, and in several cases were responsible for inducing thousands of persons in certain sections of the country to set aside one day for road work. Up to October 1 more than $5,000,000 had been subscribed by automobile manufacturers and users for the building of a transcontinental highway between the Atlantic and Pacific, to be known as the Lincoln Highway. It is predicted that the entire amount will be subscribed within a year and that the highway will be well under way for the use of the thousands who will go by motor car from Eastern points to the Panama-Pacific Exposition of 1915.

President—John B. Lewis. Secretary—Mrs. Elizabeth Robbins Berry, 8 Forest Street, North Cambridge, Mass. Treasurer—Geo. D. Kellogg, Newcastle, Tenn. Objects—The objects of this association shall be to afford all persons interested in the promotion of patriotism and good citizenship an opportunity for acquaintance and interchange of ideas and experiences; to study systematically the best methods for the advancement of patriotic work; by unity of effort to secure the enactment and enforcement of such laws as will safeguard our American institutions and protect our flag from insult or desecration, or displacement by any other banner, also of laws in every State for the flying of the flag over public buildings and schoolhouses. Headquarters, 101 Tremont Street, Boston, Mass.

THE PRODUCTION OF DIAMONDS.

M. de Launay, the well known metallurgist, published in April, 1913, an estimate of the diamond production of the world from the earliest time to the present day. He gave it as 28 2-5 tons, which would fill a space of 10 1-2 cubic yards and have a value of about $1,000,000,000. These figures, however, only concern the stones before cutting, which reduces their weight volume by half but multiplies their value by five. A box three feet high, six wide and eight long would thus hold the total world's output of these gems in their finished condition and would have a market value of $4,700,000,000, according to present prices. Of this quantity, according to M. de Launay, 10,000,000 carats of the value of $85,000,000 have been contributed by India, the source of all diamonds from ancient times up to the eighteenth century, and 12,000,000 carats of the value of $100,000,000 by Brazil between 1723 and 1910. These fields are now, however, practically exhausted. Gems representing 142,000,000 carats of the value of $700,000,000 is the estimate for South Africa, which is now almost the sole source of the world's supply.

*Except as to some of the principal and a few of the minor States, it is doubtful whether the numbers given of the reserves or auxiliary forces could be mobilized and made effective within a considerable period of time. †These figures are based on estimated male population of military age, deducting "total war strength." In some States, all men of military age are enrolled in national militia and are partly trained. a Including Colonial troops. b Including regular forces at home, in the Colonies, and 76,000 men in India and excluding the native Indian army of about 175,000. c Includes army reserves and territorial force. d Exclusive of Colonial army of about 36,000. e Exclusive of troops in Colonies. f Trained National militia. g Organization of army under present government incomplete. There were about 212,000 men under arms in the recent revolution. h Provincial troops available in case of war. i National guard, or militia partly trained. j Nominal strength. Population nearly all negroes. k Strength previous to present revolution. The Provisional Government claims to have an army of 80,000, and proposes to increase it to 150,000.

Protection of the Army and Navy Uniform.

AN act of Congress approved March 1, 1911, entitled "An act to protect the dignity and honor of the uniform of the United States," provides: "That hereafter no proprietor, manager or employé of a theatre or other public place of entertainment or amusement in the District of Columbia or in any Territory, the District of Alaska or Insular possessions of the United States, shall make or cause to be made any discrimination against any person lawfully wearing the uniform of the Army, Navy, Revenue Cutter Service or Marine Corps of the United States, because of that uniform, and any person making or causing to be made such discrimination shall be guilty of a misdemeanor, punishable by a fine not exceeding five hundred dollars."

Principal Battleships of Naval Powers.

(Compiled from the latest authentic sources of official information. Only the principal and more modern battleships are given. Most of the principal powers possess powerful armored cruisers equal to or in greater number than battleships, and in addition many vessels of smaller and older types.)

Following Great Britain, the first naval power, Germany now ranks second, the United States third, France fourth, Japan fifth, Russia sixth, Italy seventh, and Austria eighth.

Reigning Families
OF THE PRINCIPAL EUROPEAN COUNTRIES.

AUSTRIA-HUNGARY.

Francis Joseph I., the Emperor of Austria and King of Hungary, was born August 18, 1830, and was proclaimed Emperor of Austria after the abdication of his uncle, Ferdinand I., on December 2, 1848. He was crowned King of Hungary June 8, 1867. He married, in 1854, Elizabeth, a daughter of Duke Maximilian of Bavaria. She died by the hand of an Anarchist in Geneva, September 10, 1898. They had issue:

1. Archduchess Gisela, born 1856; married to Leopold, son of the Regent Luitpold of Bavaria. Issue, two daughters and two sons.

2. Archduke Rudolph, late heir-apparent, born 1858; died by suicide, 1889. He married, 1881, Stephanie, daughter of the late King of the Belgians, and had issue one daughter, the Archduchess Elizabeth, born 1883; married, 1902, Prince Otto Windisch Gräetz. The widowed Crown Princess Stephanie married, March, 1900, Count Elemer Lonyay.

3. Archduchess Marie Valerie, born 1868; married, 1890, Archduke Francis-Salvator of Tuscany.

The Emperor's eldest brother was Archduke Ferdinand (Maximilian), Emperor of Mexico, from 1864 to 1867, when he was shot at Queretaro. His widow, Charlotte, survives him.

On the death of the Crown Prince, in 1889, the right of succession to the throne passed to the Emperor's second brother, the Archduke Charles Louis, who was born 1833, and died 1896; he married, 1862 (second marriage), the Princess Annunciata, daughter of King Ferdinand II. of Naples, and had issue the Archduke Francis Ferdinand, born 1863, who is the heir-presumptive to the throne (married, morganatically, 1900, Countess Sophie Chotek, who had title Duchess of Hohenberg conferred upon her October, 1909, and renounced the claim of his issue by her to the throne); the Archduke Otto, born 1865, died 1906, married to the Princess Marie Josefa of Saxony, had two sons (Archdukes Charles, born 1887, married, 1911, Princess Zita of Parma, has one son, Francis Joseph Otto, born 1912; and Maximilian, born 1895); the Archduke Ferdinand, born 1868, renounced his rights in 1911 to marry Berta Czuber, and the Archduchess Margaret Sophia, born 1870, died 1902; she married in 1893 Albert, Duke of Württemberg. By a third marriage, the Archduke Charles Louis had two daughters.

The Emperor has a third brother, the Archduke Louis Victor, born 1842, who is unmarried.

There are over eighty other archdukes and archduchesses of Austria, cousins of the Emperor, collateral relatives of the reigning house and members of the formerly reigning branches of Tuscany and Modena.

BAVARIA.

Louis III., King of Bavaria, born January, 1845, succeeded his cousin Otto, who, after having been nominal King since Louis II.'s death in 1886, was declared incapable of occupying the throne in October, 1913. It was necessary to alter the Constitution to bring about the succession. Louis III. married the Archduchess Maria Theresia and has six daughters and four sons. The eldest, Prince Rupert, is the Crown Prince, was born in 1869 and in 1900 married his cousin, Duchess Marie Gabrielle, who died October, 1912, leaving three little sons, the Princes Luitpold, Albrecht and Rudolf. The King's brother, Leopold, born 1846, is married to the Archduchess Gisela, daughter of the Emperor of Austria. There are two sons and two daughters. The King's sister is Princess Theresa, a doctor of philosophy, member of the Academy of Sciences and Lady Abbess of a convent. The widow of a second brother, Princess Arnulf, has one son, Prince Henry.

The royal house of Bavaria descends from the Counts of Wittelsbach, one of whom was elevated to the rank of Elector, a later one was made King by Napoleon I.

BELGIUM.

Albert I., King of the Belgians, was born April 8, 1875, and was the nephew of the late King Leopold II., who died December 17, 1909. King Albert married, October 11, 1900, Duchess Elizabeth, of Bavaria, and has two sons, Prince Leopold, born 1901, and Prince Charles, born 1903, and a daughter, Princess Marie José, born 1906.

The King's father was Prince Phillippe, Count of Flanders, born in 1837; married to the Princess Maria of Hohenzollern, who died Nov., 1912. He died 1905. His elder son, Prince Badouin, born in 1869, died in 1891. His two daughters are Princess Henriette, born 1870, married, 1896, the Duke of Vendome; and Princess Josephine, born 1872, married, 1894, Prince Charles of Hohenzollern-Sigmaringen.

The late King Leopold was born in 1835, and was married, in 1853, to Marie Heariette, Archduchess of Austria, who died 1902. They had the following children:

1. Princess Louise, born 1858; married to Prince Philippe of Saxe-Coburg-Gotha, and divorced in 1906. Issue, one son and one daughter.

2. Prince Leopold, heir to the throne, Duke of Brabant, born 1859, died 1869.

3. Princess Stephanie, born 1864; married, 1881, to the late Crown Prince Rudolph of Austria, and has one daughter. Princess Stephanie married, second, in 1900, Elemer, Count Lonyay of Nagy Lonyay and Vásáros-Namény, Chamberlain to the Emperor of Austria.

4. Princess Clementine, born 1872, married November, 1910, Prince Victor Napoleon Bonaparte, son of the late Prince Jerome Bonaparte, brother of Napoleon III., and the late Princess Letitia, daughter of King Victor Emmanuel of Italy. Prince Victor Napoleon is the Bonaparte claimant to the throne of France.

The aunt of King Albert is Princess Charlotte, sister of the late King Leopold, and ex-Empress of Mexico, widow of Maximilian of Austria, who was shot in Mexico in 1867. She was born in 1840 and lives near Brussels. She has become insane.

DENMARK.

Christian X., King of Denmark, succeeded to the throne of Denmark by virtue of the law of the Danish succession on the death of his father, King Frederick VIII., May 15, 1912. He was born September 26, 1870, married, 1898, the Princess Alexandria of Mecklenburg-Schwerin, born 1879, and has two sons, Crown Prince Frederick, born 1899, and Knud, born 1900.

The King's brothers and sisters are:

1. The King of Norway, Haakon; born 1872, married, 1896, the Princess Maud of Great Britain and Ireland, born 1869, and has one son, Olaf, born 1903. 2. Harald, Prince of Denmark, born 1876, married, 1909, Princess Helena, Duchess of Sonderburg-Glücksburg, born 1888. Has two daughters, born 1910 and 1912. 3. Ingeborg, born 1878, married, 1897, Prince Carl of Sweden, a brother to King Gustaf V. of Sweden. 4. Thyra, born 1880. 5. Gustav, born 1887. 6. Dagmar, born 1890.

The King's mother is the Dowager Queen of Denmark, married, 1869, the late King Frederick VIII. of Denmark. She was born, 1851, as the Princess Louise of Sweden, daughter of King Charles XV. of Sweden and Norway.

The King's uncles and aunts are:

1. The ex-Queen of Great Britain and Ireland (Alexandra) born 1844; married 1863, and has four living children. One being the King of England.

2. The ex-Queen of the Hellenes, born as Grand Duchess Olga of Russia, and has one daughter and five sons, the eldest of the latter being Constantine, King of the Hellenes.

3. The Dowager Empress of Russia (Dagmar), born 1847; married the late Czar Alexander III. in 1866, and has four children, one being the present Czar.

4. The Duchess of Cumberland (Thyra), born 1853; married the present Duke of Cumberland (English title), son of the ex-King of Hanover, in 1878, and has one son and three daughters.

5. Prince Waldemar, born 1858; married, 1885, the Princess Marie of Orleans (died 1909, daughter of the Duke of Chartres, and has four sons and a daughter. He was offered the crown of Bulgaria in 1886, but declined.

GERMANY.

William II., German Emperor and King of Prussia, was born January 27, 1859; succeeded his father, the Emperor Frederick III., June 15, 1888. He married the Princess Victoria of Schleswig-Holstein-Sonderburg-Augustenburg (born 1858), and has had issue:

1. Frederick William, Crown Prince, born 1882, married, June 6, 1905, to Duchess Cecilie of Mecklenburg-Schwerin, and has four sons, William Frederick, born July 4, 1906; Louis Ferdinand, born November 9, 1907, Hubert, born September 20, 1909, and Frederick, born December 19, 1911. 2. William Eitel-Frederick, born 1883, married, February 27, 1906, Princess Sophie Charlotte of Oldenburg. 3. Adalbert, born 1884. 4. August, born 1887, married his cousin, Princess Victoria of Schleswig-Holstein, 1908. 5. Oscar, born 1888; 6. Joachim, born 1890. 7. Victoria Louise, born 1892, married May, 1913, to Prince Ernst August, of Cumberland, Duke of Brunswick.

The Emperor's brother is Prince Henry, born 1862, and married, 1888, to his cousin, Princess Irene of Hesse, daughter of the late Princess Alice of England, and has two sons; and the Emperor has four sisters, all the children of the late Emperor Frederick and the Princess Victoria of England (the Dowager Empress Frederick, who died in 1901). The sisters are:

1. Princess Charlotte, born 1860; married, 1878, to George, hereditary Prince of Saxe-Meiningen, and has one daughter.

2. Princess Victoria, born 1866; married, 1890, to Prince Adolph of Schaumburg-Lippe.

3. Princess Sophia, born 1870; married, 1889, to Constantine, Crown Prince of Greece, and has three sons and a daughter.

4. Princess Margaret, born 1872; married, 1893, to Prince Frederick Charles of Hesse, and has five sons.

The Emperor has an aunt, the Princess Louise, born 1838, widow of the late Grand Duke of Baden; and he has a number of cousins, descendants of the brothers and sisters of the Emperor William I. One of these is Princess Louise, daughter of the late Prince Frederick Charles and wife of the British Duke of Connaught, son of Queen Victoria. The reigning family is descended from Frederick of Hohenzollern, a German count in 980, and Frederick William, the Elector of Brandenburg, 1640-88, whose son became King of Prussia.

GREECE.

King Constantine, King of the Hellenes, born 1868, succeeded his father, King George, on the assassination of the latter by a neurasthenic named Aleke Schinar at Salonica March 19, 1913. King Constantine married, 1889, the Princess Sophia, sister of the present German Emperor. They have three sons and two daughters. The eldest son is:

Prince George, born 1890; unmarried. The other sons of the King are: Prince Alexander, born 1893; and Prince Paul, born 1901. The daughters are: Princess Helen, born 1896, and Princess Irene, born 1904.

ITALY.

Victor Emmanuel III., King of Italy, was born November 11, 1869, and is the only son of Humbert I., second King of United Italy, murdered by the Anarchist Bresci at Monza, July 29, 1900. He married, in 1896, Princess Helene, fourth daughter of Nicholas, King of Montenegro, and has four children—Princess Iolande, born June 1, 1901; Princess Mafalda, born November 19, 1902; Prince Humbert (heir-apparent), born September 15, 1904, and Princess Giovanna, born November 13, 1907.

Emmauuel, Duke of Aosta, born 1869, is eldest son of the late Prince Amadeus, uncle of present King (and ex-King of Spain); married, 1895, Princess Helene of Orleans, daughter of the late Count of Paris, and they have had issue two children—Amadeus, born 1898, and Aimone, born 1900. The three remaining sons of the late Prince Amadeus are Victor, Count of Turin, born 1870; Louis, Duke of Abruzzi, born 1873, and Humbert, Count of Salemi, born in 1889 of his second marriage with his niece, Princess Letitia, daughter of Prince Napoleon Bonaparte and the Princess Clotilde.

The mother of the King is Dowager Queen Margherita, daughter of the late Prince Ferdinand of Savoy. She was born 1851, and married the late King, 1868.

The following were the aunts of the King:

1. Princess Clotilde, born 1843, died 1911; married, 1859, to Prince Napoleon Jerome Bonaparte, the late head of the Bonaparte family, and had issue two sons and a daughter, Letitia. (See "Bonapartists.")

2. Dowager Queen Maria Pia of Portugal, born 1847, died 1911, married, 1862, to the late King Louis of Portugal, and had one son, the late King Charles of Portugal, assassinated in 1908.

The King's great aunt by marriage was the Princess Elizabeth, widow of the Duke of Genoa, she died August 12, 1912, and had a son (Prince Thomas, Duke of Genoa, married, 1883, Princess Isabella, daughter of Prince Adalbert of Bavaria, and has three sons and two daughters) and a daughter, the latter being the late King Humbert's wife. The family is descended from the Counts of Savoy, who flourished in the eleventh century.

NETHERLANDS.

Wilhelmina, Queen of the Netherlands and Princess of Orange-Nassau, born August 31, 1880, daughter of the late King William III. and Emma, daughter of Prince George Victor of Waldeck-Pyrmont. She married, February 7, 1901, Prince Henry of Mecklenburg-Schwerin; issue, Juliana Wilhelmina, born April 30, 1909, Princess of Orange.

The Queen's mother is the late Regent Queen Emma, whose regency lasted from the death of the late King, her husband, November 23, 1890, until the end of the minority of her daughter, August 31, 1898. The Queen's aunt is the Princess Sophia, married to the Grand Duke of Saxe-Weimar. She has a son, Prince Charles, born 1844, and two daughters. This family, known as the House of Orange, is descended from the Princes of Orange, stadtholders during the Dutch Republic.

NORWAY.

Haakon VII., King of Norway, was before his election to the crown by the Norwegian people, in 1905, Prince Charles of Denmark. He is the second son of King Frederick VIII. of Denmark; was born 1872; married, 1896, Princess Maud, third daughter of King Edward VII. of Great Britain, and has one son, Olav Alexander Edward Christian Frederick, born July 2, 1903.

RUSSIA.

Nicholas II., Emperor of Russia, was born May 18, 1868, and succeeded his father, the late Emperor Alexander III., November 1, 1894. He is married to the Princess Alice (Alix) of Hesse-Darmstadt, daughter of the Princess Alice of Great Britain, and has four daughters and one son—Olga, born in 1895; Tatjana, born in 1897; Marie, born in 1899; Anastasia, born in 1901, and Alexis (the Czarevitch), born August 12, 1904.

The late Emperor Alexander III., born in 1845, married, in 1866, the Princess Dagmar, sister of the present King of Denmark, had issue three sons: 1. Nicholas, the present Emperor; 2. Grand Duke George (the late Czarevitch), born 1871, died 1899; 3. Grand Duke Michael, born December 4, 1878, and two daughters: 1. Grand Duchess Xenia, born April 6, 1875; married, August 6, 1894, her cousin, the Grand Duke Alexander, has six sons and one daughter; and, 2. Grand Duchess Olga, born June 13, 1882, married to Prince Peter of Oldenburg. The uncles and aunts of the Emperor are:

1. Grand Duke Vladimir, born 1847; died 1909. He married, 1874, the Princess Marie of Mecklenburg-Schwerin, and had three sons and one daughter: Grand Duke Cyril, born in 1876; married, 1905, Melita, second daughter of the late Duke of Coburg and divorced wife of the Grand Duke of Hesse. Grand Duke Boris is the second son and was born in 1877.

2. Grand Duke Alexis, High Admiral, born 1850. He was unmarried. Died November 14, 1908.

3. Grand Duchess Marie, born 1853; married the late Duke of Edinburgh, and has had one son (deceased) and four daughters.

4. Grand Duke Sergius, born 1857; married, 1884, Princess Elizabeth of Hesse-Darmstadt, daughter of Princess Alice of England. Assassinated in 1905. He left no issue.

5. Grand Duke Paul, born 1860; married, 1889, Princess Alexandra, daughter of the King of the Hellenes. She died September 24, 1891, leaving a son, the Grand Duke Demetrius, and a daughter, Marie, married, 1908, Prince Wilhelm, of Sweden. In 1902 he contracted a morganatic marriage with Olga Pistolkohrs, now Countess Hohenfelsen.

A grand uncle, the Grand Duke Constantine, born 1827; died January 12, 1892; married, 1848, Princess Alexandra of Saxe-Altenburg, and had issue five children, the Grand Duke Nicholas, born 1850, being the eldest, and the Grand Duchess Olga, born 1851, the eldest daughter, being married to the King of the Hellenes.

A second granduncle, the Grand Duke Nicholas, born 1831, field marshal in the Russian Army, died in 1891; married, in 1856, the Princess Alexandra of Oldenburg, and had issue two sons, Grand Duke Nicholas, born 1856, married, 1907, Anastasia, daughter of the present King of Montenegro, and sister of Queen Helene, of Italy, and Grand Duke Peter, married, in 1889, Militsa, sister of the preceding.

The last surviving granduncle of the Emperor, Grand Duke Michael, born 1832, died in 1910. He married, 1857, Princess Cecilia of Baden, and had issue six children, the eldest daughter, Anastasia, born 1860, being the widow of the Grand Duke of Mecklenburg-Schwerin and mother of the German Crown Princess Cecilia.

The Russian reigning family is descended in the female line from Michael Romanoff, elected Czar in 1613. The members of the family for over two centuries, however, have married so generally into the German royal houses that the present Romanoffs are practically, by blood, Germans; as much so as their kinsman, the head of the German Empire.

SPAIN.

Alfonso XIII., King of Spain, born May 17, 1886, nearly six months after the death of his father, Alfonso XII. His mother is Maria Christina, an Austrian princess. He married in 1906 the English Princess Victoria Eugenie, daughter of Princess Henry of Battenberg, youngest sister of King Edward VII. He has three sons, Alfonso, Prince of the Asturias, heir to the Spanish throne, born the 10th of May, 1907; Prince Jaime, born at La Granja Palace, near Madrid, on the 22d of July, 1908, and Prince Juan Alfonso Fernando, born in Madrid, 16th of June, 1913, and two daughters, Princess Beatrice, born the 21st of July, 1909, and Princess Maria Cristina, born in Madrid December, 1911.

The King's only sister, the Infanta Maria Teresa, born in 1882, and married to the Infante Ferdinand of Bavaria, her cousin, son of Prince Louis of Bavaria, died on September 23, 1912, suddenly from the after effects of childbirth, leaving two sons and two daughters, the Infante Alfonso Luis Fernando, born in 1906, the Infante José Carlos, born in 1909, and the Infanta Maria de las Mercedes, born in 1911, and the Infanta Paz Cristina Teresa, born in 1912, when her mother died.

The King's aunts are the Infantas Isabella, widow of the Count de Girgenti; Paz, wife of Prince Louis of Bavaria, and Eulalie, wife of Prince Antonio of Orleans (separated from him by deed of separation), who visited the United States and the World's Fair in 1893.

The King's grandmother, ex-Queen Isabella, born in 1830, crowned 1833, abdicated 1870, died April 9, 1904. Her husband, the Infante Francis d'Assisi, born 1822, died in 1902.

The King's grandaunt, the Infanta Louisa, widow of the Duke of Montpensier (son of King Louis Philippe of France), now dead, was the mother of a son and three daughters: 1. The wife of the late Count of Paris and mother of the French pretender, the Duke of Orleans; 2. The late Queen Mercedes, wife of Alfonso XII., deceased; 3. The Infanta Cristina, also deceased.

A second cousin of the King was Don Carlos, born 1848, the pretender to the Spanish throne, who died July 18, 1909, leaving a son, Prince Jaime, born 1870, the present pretender, and four daughters.

SAXONY.

Frederick August, King of Saxony, born May 25, 1865, succeeded his father, King George, October 15, 1904. He married in 1891 Archduchess Louise of Austria (from whom he was separated in 1903). The King has three daughters and three sons, the Crown Prince being George, born 1893.

The King has two sisters, Mathilde, born 1863, unmarried, and Maria Josepha, born 1867, married to the late Archduke Otto of Austria, and two brothers, Johann Georg, born 1869, married first to Duchess Isabella of Württemberg (died 1904), and in 1906 to Princess Maria Immaculata of Bourbon, and Max, born 1870, a priest in Holy orders.

The royal house of Saxony is one of the oldest in Europe, having given an emperor to Germany as early as the beginning of the tenth century. The Elector of Saxony assumed the title of King in 1806, and was confirmed therein in 1815.

SERVIA.

Peter I., King of Servia, born in Beigrade, 1846, son of Alexander Karageorgevic, Prince of Servia from 1842 to 1858. Was proclaimed King on the night of June 10-11, 1903, by the officers of the Servian Army after they had murdered King Alexander and Queen Draga, and was crowned in October, 1904. King Peter I. was married in 1883 to Princess Zorka of Montenegro, who died in 1890. He has two sons and a daughter—George (who renounced his right to the throne in 1909), Alexander and Helen, who married, 1911, Grand Duke Ivan of Russia.

against Turkey in 1804. He reigned as Prince of Servia from 1804 to 1813, when he was supplanted by the Obrenovic during a second insurrection.

SWEDEN.

Gustaf V., King of Sweden, born June 16, 1858; son of Oscar II., and great-grandson of Marshal Bernadotte. He married, 1881, the Princess Victoria of Baden, and has had three sons, the eldest of whom is the Crown Prince Gustav Adolph, who married, in 1905, Princess Margaret of Connaught, and has three sons, born 1906, 1907 and 1912, and a daughter, born in 1910. The King's other sons are: Prince Wilhelm, born 1884, and married, 1908, the Grand Duchess Maria Pavlowna of Russia (issue one child, Prince Lennard, born 1909) suit for separation pending, and Prince Eric, born 1889. The King has three brothers: Prince Oscar, born 1859, married Lady Ebba Munck, one of his mother's maids of honor, and relinquished his rights to the throne; Prince Carl, born 1861, and married, 1897, Princess Ingeborg, eldest sister of the King of Denmark, and Prince Eugene, born 1865. The King has a cousin, Louise, married to the late King Frederick VIII. of Denmark. The royal family comes from Napoleon's Marshal Bernadotte, a Frenchman, who was elected heir-apparent to the crown of Sweden in 1810 and became King in 1818.

WÜRTTEMBERG.

William II., King of Württemberg, born February 25, 1848, succeeded his uncle, King Charles I., October 6, 1891. He married, 1877, Princess Marie of Waldeck, who died leaving a daughter, Pauline, born 1877, and married, 1898, the reigning Prince Frederick of Wied. The King married, second, Princess Charlotte of Schaumburg-Lippe, by whom he has no children. As the King has no male descendants, the heir-presumptive is his distant kinsman, Duke Albert, born 1865, married to the Archduchess Margareta, niece of the Emperor of Austria, who died in 1902, and has three sons and three daughters.

ALBANIA.

William Frederick, Prince of Wied, brother to Fürst Frederick William who is the head of the ancient house of Wied. Prince William Frederick was born in Neuwied, Nov. 30, 1876; a captain in the Prussian General Staff. Was married in 1906 to Sophie, Princess Schönburg-Waldenburg (born 1885). Has one daughter, Marie Eleonore, born 1909. The Prince has two brothers and two sisters. His aunt is Queen Elisabeth of Rumania (Carmen Sylva).

The family of Wied dates back to Siegfried, mentioned as Count of Wied in documents dated 1226. In 1806 the independent, self-governing county was incorporated in Prussia, part of which kingdom it forms. Prince Maximilian du Wied, 1782-1867, was a distinguished explorer, wrote books on Brazil and North America.

THE FRENCH PRETENDERS.

BONAPARTIST.

Of the Emperor Napoleon I. and his brothers Joseph and Louis, male issue is now extinct. The Emperor's brothers Lucien and Jerôme are represented by the following living descendants, and they constitute the present Imperialist house of France:

Prince Victor Napoleon (of the house of Jerôme), born July 18, 1862, is the son of the late Prince Napoleon, who died March 18, 1891, and the Princess Clotilde, who died June 25, 1911, sister of the late King Humbert of Italy. The Prince has been recognized by his party as the undisputed head of the Bonaparte family. He lives in Brussels and in 1910 married Clementine, third daughter of Leopold I., King of Belgium. A daughter was born in 1911. His only brother, Prince Louis Napoleon, born 1864, is a General in the Russian Army, and is unmarried. His sister, Princess Letitia, born 1866, is the widow of Prince Amadeus of Italy, her own uncle, by whom she had a son, Prince Humbert, born 1889.

The late aunt of Prince Victor Napoleon, the Princess Mathilde, born 1820; married, 1840, Prince Demidoff of Russia; died in 1904 without children.

Prince Charles Napoleon, brother of the late Cardinal Bonaparte, who died February 12, 1899, was the last representative of the eldest son of Napoleon's brother Lucien, in the male line. He was born 1839; was married and had two daughters—Marie, wife of Lieutenant Gotti, of the Italian Army, and Eugénie, unmarried. He had three sisters, married respectively to the Marquis of Roccagiovine, Count Primoli and Prince Gabrelli, who have descendants.

Prince Roland Bonaparte is the only living male cousin of Prince Charles Napoleon. He is a son of the late Prince Pierre Napoleon Bonaparte; was born 1858; married, 1880, the daughter of Blanc, one of the proprietors of the Monte Carlo gambling-hell. His wife died in 1882, leaving him a daughter, who is married to Prince George of Greece. He has one sister, Jeanne, born 1861, and married to the Marquis de Villeneuve, who died in 1910.

Ex-Empress Eugénie, widow of Emperor Napoleon III., was a daughter of Count Cyprien de Montijo, a Spanish grandee, and was born May 5, 1826. She married 1853. Became a widow, 1873. Her only son, Prince Louis Napoleon, was killed in Zululand in 1879.

BOURBON—ORLEANIST.

Philippe, Duke of Orleans, born 1869, succeeded his father, the late Count of Paris, in 1894, as the head of the royal family of France. He married, in 1896, the Archduchess Marie-Dorothea, daughter of the Archduke Joseph, cousin of the Emperor of Austria. His mother (still living) was the Spanish Infanta Louise of Montpensier, and he has one brother, the Duke of Montpensier, and four sisters—Princess Amelie, married the late King Charles of Portugal; Helena, married to the Duke of Aosta, nephew of the late King Humbert of Italy; Isabel, married to the Duke of Guise, son of the Duke of Chartres, and Louise, married to Prince Charles of Bourbon, grandson of King Ferdinand II., of Naples.

The only uncle of the Duke of Orleans is the Duke of Chartres, born 1840, and married to a daughter of the Prince of Joinville. The issue are two daughters and two sons, the eldest son being Prince Henry, born 1867 (died at Saigon, Cochin-China, in 1901); the second, the Duke of Guise; the eldest daughter, Princess Marie, being married to Prince Waldemar of Denmark, and the second daughter, Princess Marguerite, being married (in 1896) to Patrice MacMahon, Duke of Magenta.

The granduncles of the Duke of Orleans (who were the sons of King Louis Philippe) are all dead. They were the Prince of Joinville, born 1818, died 1900, married to a daughter of Pedro I. of Brazil, and had one daughter who married the Duke of Chartres, and had one son, the Duke of Penthièvre, born 1845; Henry, Duke of Aumale, born 1822, died (childless) 1897; Anthony, Duke of Montpensier, born 1824, died 1890 (married, 1852, a sister of Queen Isabella of Spain, and had a daughter, the wife of the Count of Paris, and a son, Prince Anthony, born 1866, who married, 1888, his cousin, the Infanta Eulalie of Spain), and Louis, Duke of Nemours, born 1814, died 1896. He was the father of two daughters, the Princess Czartoryska, deceased, and Princess Blanche of Orleans, and two sons, the eldest being the Count of Eu, born 1842, married to a daughter of Pedro II. of Brazil, and having three children, and the second the Duke of Alençon, born 1844, and married to a Bavarian princess (who was burned in the Paris bazaar fire in 1897), and having two children.

By the death of the Count of Chambord, in 1883, the elder line of the Bourbons of France became extinct, and the right of succession merged in the Count of Paris, grandson of King Louis Philippe, representative of the younger, or Orleans, line.

Irish Home Rule Movement.

BY JAMES M. TUOHY.

THE Irish Home Rule movement, started in 1870 by the late Isaac Butt, the most distinguished Irish lawyer of his day and a Protestant from the Ulster province of Donegal; taken up by the late Charles Stewart Parnell in 1878, and, after seven years of vigorous agitation, adopted by Premier Gladstone in 1886, seems at last on the eve of legislative fruition. Gladstone's first Home Rule bill, in 1886, was defeated on its second reading in the House of Commons, owing to the secession of the Liberal-Unionists under the leadership of the late Duke of Devonshire and Mr. Joseph Chamberlain. Gladstone dissolved Parliament and appealed to the country, with the result that the late Lord Salisbury was returned with a large majority, remaining in office until 1892, when another general election took place and Gladstone was victorious, with a majority of 47. Gladstone immediately introduced another Home Rule bill, carried it through the House of Commons after a struggle marked by many disorderly "scenes," notably on the second reading, when there was a momentary physical clash between the Irish Nationalists and the Orange members. The House of Lords at once rejected the bill by a majority of 492 votes against 41. Gladstone, failing to induce his Cabinet to appeal to the country again on Home Rule, retired from public life, and Lord Rosebery became Prime Minister. Gladstone delivered a memorable speech on his last appearance in the House of Commons, warning the Liberals that they could never pass Home Rule, or any other great social reform, until they had smashed the veto power of the Lords. Rosebery was utterly routed at the polls, and the Tories, first under Lord Salisbury, and then under Mr. Arthur Balfour, enjoyed another lease of power for ten years. The next Home Rule bill was presented to the House of Commons by Premier Asquith in 1911. In the mean time the Irish Nationalist Party had passed through many vicissitudes, but mainly owing to the exertions of John Dillon, the Home Rule agitation was kept alive, and the mass of the party remained united under his leadership. To secure the adhesion of the Parnellites under John Redmond, Dillon voluntarily resigned the leadership and proposed the election of John Redmond, under whom the party has been led to the political Mount Pisgah, from whence it can survey the Promised Land of Home Rule. Without the generous and unwavering support of sympathizers in America this achievement, if not impossible, would have been delayed for many years. Although the Liberals secured a record majority at the polls under Sir Henry Campbell Bannerman in 1906, the House of Lords fulfilled Gladstone's prediction by ruthlessly rejecting all the Liberal reforms sent up to them. Premier Asquith appealed twice to the country in 1910, received a fresh mandate against the Lords on each occasion, and then proceeded to pass the Parliament act, under which any bill—other than a money bill, which the House of Lords is expressly disabled from either altering or rejecting—which the House of Commons has passed in three successive sessions in the three successive years, and which the House of Lords has thrown out each time, shall on the third occasion receive the Royal Assent and become law. This act, introduced as an essential preliminary to the passage of Home Rule, did not become law until after one of the most notable crises in the constitutional history of England. The permanent Tory plurality in the House of Lords was only constrained into accepting it by the knowledge that if they refused, King George was prepared to create a sufficient number of new peers to force it through the upper house. Asquith's Home Rule bill has already passed through the House of Commons in 1912 and 1913, and the Lords have rejected it on each occasion.

The main provisions of the bill are: (1) to set up a Parliament in Ireland with an executive responsible to it for the control of purely Irish affairs; (2) the Parliament to consist of two chambers, an elective House of Commons, consisting of 164 members, and a Senate of 40 members, who are to be nominated for the first five years by the Imperial Government, and thereafter elected on a system of proportional representation. The Irish Parliament is expressly prohibited from legislating on peace or war, the navy, army or any naval or military force, foreign relations, trade outside Ireland and coinage. Ireland is to return 42 members to the Imperial Parliament. This latter is one of the great cruxes of the bill. It is argued by the Unionists on the one hand that Ireland has no right to send members to the Imperial Parliament when she has a Legislature of her own, and on the other that if Ireland is unrepresented in the Imperial Parliament it means separation. The Irish Exchequer is to pay the cost of Irish Administration, excepting certain reserved services, which are to be provided for out of the Imperial Exchequer temporarily. While the Irish taxes produce less than the cost of Irish Administration, the Irish Exchequer, in addition to the receipts of the Irish Post-Office, will receive an annual transferred sum from the Imperial Exchequer of £500,000, to be reduced by £50,000 a year until it is only £200,000. Of course these and all other provisions of the bill are subject to review and alteration by the Imperial Parliament, whose supremacy is explicitly declared in the body of the bill itself. The Ulster Counties send 33 members to the Imperial Parliament, of whom 17 are Nationalist Home Rulers and 16 are Unionists. These Unionists, under Sir Edward Carson, ex-Solicitor-General for England, claim to veto the concession of Home Rule to Ireland and threaten that if the bill is passed next session they will resist its operation by force of arms, set up a provisional government, and administer the affairs of Ulster apart from the Irish Parliament. A volunteer force of Orangemen, partly armed, has been formed, having undergone some drilling, and has been paraded at the different Orange centres before Sir Edward Carson, who has had the assistance of a retired general of the Indian Army in the work of organization. The Home Rulers have contended all along that the Orange movement is pure pretense; they point out that when the Irish Protestant Church was disestablished precisely the same threats were made by the Orangemen, and that instead of the 100,000 volunteers Sir Edward Carson claims, he has not mustered in the aggregate more than 15,000, the bulk of them boys. Throughout the whole of Ulster the Nationalists number 45 per cent. of the population, while in the four northeastern counties, where the Orangemen claim absolute predominance, the Nationalists number nearly 33 per cent. Therefore Sir Edward Carson's Provisional Government would have to cope not only with the hostility of the rest of Ireland, but with the internal opposition of 45 per cent. of the population of Ulster. As Premier Asquith has shown his determination to go straight on with the Home Rule bill, and refusing to appeal to the country for a third mandate for Home Rule, the Unionist leaders are asking for a conference to arrange a compromise. But Asquith, while willing to do anything to allay the fears of the Orangemen by offering them every security they can demand for fair treatment under Home Rule, will not abate the main principles of the bill, and it is pointed out that under the provisions of the Parliament act, when the bill comes up for its third passage next session, an occasion will be open to the Unionists to make "suggestions" for its alteration. The probability is that a settlement will be concluded before the bill becomes law, for the English Unionists have long realized that Home Rule is a dead issue in England.

On November 4, 1913, at a mass meeting held under the auspices of the business men's Anti-Home Rule agitation combined wealth estimated at $500,000,000 was represented. George Ewart, President of the Chamber of Commerce, occupied the chair. He said that the meeting was called to disprove statements made in England that the commercial interests of Ulster were not in sympathy with the movement against Home Rule. The meeting unanimously and enthusiastically adopted a resolution declaring that Ulster business men will refuse to pay taxes to a Dublin Parliament and approving of the organization of the Ulster volunteers, the provisional government and other warlike measures adopted by Ulsterites.

The British Parliament.

THE supreme legislative power of the British Empire is, by its Constitution, vested in Parliament. This body consists of two houses, the Lords and the Commons.

THE HOUSE OF LORDS.

The House of Lords is composed of the whole Peerage of England and of the United Kingdom, and of certain representative Peers of Scotland and Ireland, but many members of these latter have also English titles which give them seats in the House. The Duke of Buccleuch sits as Earl of Doncaster, and the Duke of Leinster as Viscount Leinster. The House at present consists of 3 Princes of the Blood, 2 Archbishops, 21 Dukes, 25 Marquises, 122 Earls, 44 Viscounts, 24 Bishops, 350 Barons, 16 Scottish Representative Peers elected for each Parliament, and 28 Irish Representative Peers elected for life—in all, 635 members.

The Lord Chancellor of England is the Speaker of the House of Lords.

The Swiss Government.

THE FEDERAL COUNCIL is elected tri-annually (re-elections are in vogue) by Congress. Members for the period ending December 31, 1915, are as follows: Messrs. E. Müller, A. Hoffmann, Motta, Decoppet, L. Forrer, Schulthess and Calonder.

The Federal Council is the chief executive body of the confederation, and acts as a unit. Its members are the directors of the respective departments of Interior, Justice, Military, Finance, Commerce, Post and Railroads. The Chairman of the Federal Council is the nominal President of Switzerland. President—1913, M. Müller. Vice-President—M. Motta. The Vice-President will doubtless be President in 1914. The members take this office in rotation. The President is the Chief of the Department of Foreign Affairs.

*NATIONAL ASSEMBLY—189 members. Groups: 114 Radical-Democrats, 38 Roman Catholic Conservatives, 15 Socialists, 13 Centre, 5 Social-Political, 4 "Independent." They are elected by the people.

The Portuguese Government.

THE permanent President of the Republic of Portugal is Manuel de Arriaga, elected in August, 1911. The new ministry has been constituted as follows: Premier and Minister of Finance—Affonso Costa; Minister of the Interior—Rodrigo Rodriguez; Minister of Justice—Alvaro de Castro; Minister of Foreign Affairs—Antonio Macieira; Minister of Public Works—Antonio Maria da Silva; Minister of War—Joas Pereira Bastos; Minister of Marine—José Freitas Ribeiro; Minister of Public Instruction—Sausa Junior; Minister of the Colonies—Almeida Ribeiro. During 1911 the United States and most of the European nations officially recognized the Republic. A rising in northern Portugal in the Autumn in favor of the restoration of the monarchy was easily suppressed. Ex-King Manuel in the meanwhile is residing in England. Another rising in favor of the restoration of the monarchy was suppressed in the Summer of 1912. Nevertheless the Republic does not appear to rest on a very solid foundation.

British Africa: Basutoland, Bechuanaland Protectorate, Cape Colony, Central Africa, East Africa Protectorate, Uganda Protectorate, Zanzibar Protectorate, Mauritius, Natal, Niger Coast Protectorate, Territory of the Royal Niger Co., South Africa, West Africa, Zululand and Islands, and the Boer colonies.

French Africa: Algeria, Senegal, French Soudan and the Niger Gaboon and Guinea Coast, Congo Region, Somali Coast, Madagascar and Islands.

German Africa: Togoland, Cameroons, South West Africa, East Africa.

Italian Africa: Eritrea, Somaliland, Tripoli.

Portuguese Africa: Angola, the Congo, Guinea, East Africa and islands.

Spanish Africa: Riode Oro, Adrar, Fernando Po and islands.

Turkish Africa: Egypt (a).

Belgian Africa. The Congo State.

(a) Egypt, although nominally under the suzeralnty of Turkey, is really controlled by Great Britain, and it is only a matter of time as to when it will be incorporated into the British Empire.

The remaining territory of Africa unoccupied is a part of the great Desert of Sahara and the independent States of Abyssinia, Morocco and Liberia. Even this territory, except the last, is destined to pass under the power of the Europeans. The figures are from "Whitaker's Almanack."

THE UNION OF SOUTH AFRICA.

A federation of four British Colonies in South Africa, namely, the Cape of Good Hope, Natal, the Transvaal and Orange Free State, was formed provisionally in 1909 by a convention held at Capetown. The federation was confirmed by an act passed by the British Parliament August 16, 1909, and the date appointed for the establishment of the Union was fixed for May 31, 1910. Viscount Gladstone was appointed Governor-General and assumed office on that date.

The act of Union vested the executive government in the King and his successors, a Governor-General advised by an executive council and ministers of state. Legislative power was vested in a Parliament composed of the King, a Senate of forty members, eight nominated for ten years by the Governor-General in council, and eight for each original province elected for ten years by the two houses of the Colonial Legislature sitting together, and a House of Assembly, consisting of members chosen as follows: From the Cape of Good Hope, 51; Natal, 17; Transvaal, 36; Orange Free State, 17. The Governor-General has the power to summon, prorogue and dissolve Parliament, and that body shall sit annually.

Provision is made for an Administrator for each province for five years, appointed by the Governor-General, and a Provincial Council elected for three years.

Pretoria, in the Transvaal, is the seat of Government of the Union, and Cape Town the meeting place of Parliament. The English and Dutch languages are both official. It is provided that the British South African Company's territories may be received into the Union and the government of native territories may be transferred to the Union Government.

The area of the Union of South Africa is as follows, in square miles: Cape of Good Hope, 276,995; Natal, 35,290; Transvaal, 110,426; Orange Free State, 50,389. Total Union, 473,100.

The population is as follows: Cape of Good Hope, 2,564,965; Natal, 1,194,043; Transvaal, 1,686,212; Orange Free State, 528,174. Total Union, 5,973,394.

The Commonwealth of Australia.

The Commonwealth of Australia consists of the six original Australian colonies: New South Wales, Victoria, Queensland, South Australia, Western Australia and Tasmania. Each of these is a self-governing State, except as to the powers reserved to the Confederation. The Commonwealth of Australia was proclaimed at Sydney, January 1, 1901. Legislative power is vested in a Federal Parliament, consisting of the King—represented by a Governor-General—a Senate and a House of Representatives. The Senate consists of thirty-six Senators—six for each State—chosen for six years. The House of Representatives consists of seventy-five members, distributed as follows: New South Wales, 27; Victoria, 22; Queensland, 9; South Australia, 7; Western Australia, 5; Tasmania, 5.

The legislative powers of the Federal Parliament embrace commerce, shipping, finance, defence, post-office, telegraph, census and statistics and conciliation and arbitration in industrial disputes extending beyond the limits of any one State. Authority is given to the Commonwealth to assume jurisdiction regarding railways, lighthouses, marriage and divorce, and emigration and immigration. The executive power is vested in the Governor-General, assisted by an Executive Council of responsible Ministers. There is also a Federal Judicature. The present seat of government is at Melbourne, the Federal capital (Yass Canberra) being in process of building. The area of the Commonwealth, with the Territories (Northern Territory, Papua), and Federal District (Yass Canberra), is 3,063,041 square miles, and the population (census, 1911) is 4,918,707.

Each of the States has its own Parliament, Governor, Ministry and Judiciary.

By the Extension act of 1912, the area of Ontario was increased by 146,400 square miles, Quebec by 354,961, and Manitoba by 178,100.

High Commissioner in London, England, Lord Strathcona and Mt. Royal, G.C.M.G. Salary, $10,000.

The Dominion of Canada has an area of 3,729,665 square miles (excluding the Hudson Bay, the Gulf of St. Lawrence and all tidal waters) and comprises one-sixteenth of the land surface of the globe. It is the largest of all the British possessions, Australia, the next in size, containing 2,946,691 square miles. The Government of Canada is federal, centred at Ottawa, which city is the capital of the Dominion, while the provinces have their respective local Legislatures. The head of the Federal Government is the Governor-General, appointed by the King of Great Britain, and holding office for five years, his salary being paid by the Dominion Government.

The Lieutenant-Governors of the several provinces are appointed by the Federal Government for a term of five years. The Legislatures are elected by the people of each province. The highest Court in the Dominion is the Supreme Court, composed of a Chief Justice and five Judges, each of whom receives a salary of $9,000 per annum, except the Chief Justice, who is paid an additional $1,000. From the decisions of this Court the only tribunal to which appeal can be made is to the Judicial Committee of the Imperial Privy Council of Great Britain. The only other Federal Court is the Exchequer Court, presided over by a single Judge, for trying cases connected with the revenue. Salary $8,000. All others are of a provincial character, limited to jurisdiction in their respective provinces only.

DEFENCE.

Every Canadian citizen is liable to service in the Militia from the age of 18 to that of 60. Militiamen are enrolled for three years to the "Active" Militia. The actual training varies in length, according to the branch of the service, from 12 to 16 days.

It is provided that if the embodiment of the Militia becomes necessary, the men, both active and reserve, would be called out in four classes or levies; first, the unmarried men and widowers (without children) from 18 to 30; secondly, the unmarried men and widowers (without children) from 30 to 45; thirdly, the married men and widowers (with children) from 18 to 45; fourthly, all the remaining men up to 60. In the case of a lévée en masse, all male inhabitants capable of bearing arms may be required to serve without regard to age, class or distinction.

The active Militia includes the "Permanent Force," which furnishes the personnel of the training schools, and some nucleus units of garrison artillery, etc. There are various schools of military instruction which are established in the six divisional areas and the three military districts into which Canada is now divided. A proportion of the officers are trained at the Royal Military College at Kingston. Total active Militia in 1913 was:

The present Constitution of Mexico bears date February 5, 1857, with subsequent amendments. By its terms Mexico is considered a Federative Republic, divided into States, nineteen at the outset, but at present twenty-seven in number, with three Territories and one Federal District, each having a right to manage its own local affairs, while the whole are bound together in one body politic by fundamental and constitutional laws. The powers of the Federal Government are divided into three branches—the legislative, executive, and judicial. The legislative power is vested in a Congress, consisting of a House of Representatives and a Senate; the executive in a President, and the judicial in Federal Courts. Representatives elected by the suffrage of married males if eighteen years of age and twenty-one years of age if unmarried, at the rate of one member for every 40,000 inhabitants or fraction exceeding 20,000, and hold their places for two years. The qualifications requisite are to be twenty-five years of age and a resident in the State. The Senate consists of two members from each State, of at least thirty years of age, who hold their places for four years. Senators are elected indirectly, half of the Senate being renewed every two years. The members of both Houses receive salaries of 3,000 pesos each year.

The President is elected by electors popularly chosen in a general election, and holds office for six years. In case of his sudden death or disability, the Vice-President, who is also permanent President of the Senate, officiates in his place. Congress holds two regular sessions annually, from September 16 to December 15, and from April 1 to May 31, and a permanent committee of both Houses sits during the recesses.

COMMERCE.

For the year ending June 30, 1912, the value of imports was $91,331,155, a decrease of $11,605,981. The exports for 1912 on the same basis amounted to $148,994,564, a gain of $2,117,744 over the previous year.

In view of the perturbed political conditions of the country during the year 1912, Mexico's commerce suffered less than might have been expected. The total foreign trade for the fiscal year ending June 30, 1912, was only 18,976,472 pesos (peso equals about $0.50 U. S. currency) less than for the preceding year, and the reduction was confined altogether to imports, the exports being 4,235,489 pesos in excess of the year ending June 30, 1911. The balance of trade in favor of Mexico for the year was 115,326,818 pesos.

ARMY AND NAVY.

The full strength of the army in September, 1912, was stated to be 107 generals, 6,236 officers and 49,332 men.

There are six gunboats of from 1,000 to 1,300 tons, armed with rapid-firing four-inch guns and with rapid-firing six-pounders; a transport of 1,600 tons, armed with 57 mm. guns; another transport of 900 tons; two training ships, one of steam, 1,300 tons, armed with 12 cm. and 57 mm., and the other, a sailing ship of 700 tons. There are, also, several small revenue cutters watching the coast on both oceans; a naval school, a navy-yard, a floating dock at Vera Cruz, a dry-dock at Salina Cruz and a shipyard at Guaymas. The Military School is at Chapultepec.

NATIONAL DEBT.

According to the report of the Under Secretary of Finance to the Mexican Congress on December 14, 1910, the public debt for the fiscal year 1909-10 was as follows: Debt payable in foreign currency, face value of bonds in circulation, $150,262,498.01; debt payable in Mexican currency, face value of bonds in circulation, $68,925,066.85; floating debt, uncollected balances of past budgets, $136,699.37. Grand total, $219,324,264.23.

INTERNAL IMPROVEMENTS.

Miles of railway in operation, 16,000; miles of telegraph line, 50,000; post-offices, 2,964.

This information about Mexico was furnished by the Pan-American Union, Washington, D. C.

Brazil.

THE Republic of the United States of Brazil is the largest of the South American countries and the second largest of the American Republics, extending over an area of 3,218,130 square miles, or about 400,000 square miles less than the United States of America with Alaska. It is situated between 4° 22′ north and 33° 45′ south and longitude 34° 40′ and 75° 15′ west, and touches every other South American Republic with the exception of Chile; besides, it is bounded by British, Dutch and French Guiana.

Brazil has a population of 20,515,000, equal to 6.4 per square mile, or about-fifth the population per square mile of the United States of America proper. The language of the country is Portuguese. Under the constitution Brazil is a Federal Union of States, republican and representative. The Union is composed of twenty-one States, one National Territory and the Federal District. The peace strength of the regular army is 30,000 but as every Brazilian citizen between twenty-one and forty-five years of age is liable to military service, the war strength of the republic probably exceeds 30,000 men. The navy consists of thirty-one vessels, among which are three battleships, four protected cruisers and fifteen torpedo boats.

The imports for the year 1912 amounted to $308,243,736 and the exports $362,794,846, showing a balance of trade in favor of Brazil of $54,551,110. The foreign trade of the country for 1912 exceeded that of 1911, which heretofore held the record, by $88,602,840. Coffee is the greatest source of wealth for the republic and the value of the export crop in 1912 amounted to $226,276,155. Rubber is second in importance, amounting to $78,221,821.

The new port works at Bahia, under construction since 1909, were officially inaugurated May 13, 1913. The dock when completed will add a width of about 560 feet to the water front for over two miles. This work involves an expenditure of $22,500,000. Other extensive improvements have been made to the port facilities of the different cities, indicating preparation for the growing commerce.

Argentina.

ARGENTINA, the third largest of the American Republics, is situated between latitude 22° and 56° south and longitude west of Greenwich 53° and 57°, being bounded by the Republics of Chile, Bolivia, Paraguay, Brazil, Uruguay, and the Atlantic Ocean. It has an area of 1,139,979 square miles, equal to over one-third the total area of the United States of America, and a population of 7,080,000 (estimated in 1912), or 6.2 per square mile, as against 32.08 per square mile in the United States of America.

It is a Federal Republic of fourteen provinces, ten Territories and one Federal District. The provinces and Federal District are represented in the National Congress, composed of a Senate and Chamber of Deputies. The permanent army numbers about 20,000 men, and there is a reserve army of trained men of about 150,000. The navy aggregates over forty vessels, of which two are battleships, four armored cruisers and three protected cruisers.

The Government revenue in 1912 was $405,237,115, and the expenditures $402,838,639. The public debt was $1,207,950,246.

The total length of railroads in operation at the close of 1912 was 20,400 miles, representing a capitalization of $1,120,210,000. In 1911 there were 2,980 post-offices, 701 telegraph offices and about 38,000 miles of wire; 7,183 public schools for primary instruction, with an enrolment of 746,725 pupils, aside from the numerous schools supported by the provinces, and schools of higher education.

Chile.

AREA, 291,500 square miles. Population, 3,500,000 (1910).

The Republic of Chile extends over more than 38 degrees of latitude, from 17° 57′ to 55° 59′ south, stretching from the Samu River to Cape Horn, and occupying a long narrow strip of land between the Andine mountain range and the Pacific Ocean, with a coast line of 2,625 miles and an average width of 90 miles. The Republic has a single republican form of government, with the customary division into legislative, executive and judicial branches. There are twenty-three provinces and one Territory.

Foreign commerce for 1912: Exports, $139,878,201; imports, $122,075,994; total, $261,954,195. The principal exports were for the year 1912, nitrate of soda, copper, wheat, iodine, borate of lime, oats, bran, wool, etc. The principal imports for the same period were: Textiles, mineral products, coal oils, etc., machinery, hardware, carriage, etc., vegetable products, animal products, paper and manufactures, wines, liquors and other beverages, all arranged in this list according to value.

PAN-AMERICAN UNION.

THE Pan-American Union was organized for the purpose of promoting friendship and commerce between the twenty-one American Republics, each of which contributes to the maintenance of the institution in proportion to its population. The building in which the Union is housed stands upon land provided by the United States at the cost of $200,000, the cost of the building ($1,000,000) having been defrayed as to three-fourths by Andrew Carnegie, and as to one-fourth by the twenty Republics of Latin America. The address is 17th Street, Washington, D.C.

ORGANIZATION OF THE ARMY.*

The army in active service as now organized under the acts of Congress of February 2, 1901, January 25, 1907, April 23, 1908, and March 3, 1911, comprises 15 regiments of cavalry, 765 officers and 14,184 enlisted men; 6 regiments of field artillery, 252 officers and 5,513 enlisted men; a coast artillery corps, 170 companies, 715 officers and 18,931 enlisted men; 30 regiments of infantry, 1,530 officers and 33,113 enlisted men; 3 battalions of engineers, 1,942 enlisted men, commanded by officers detailed from the corps of engineers; the Porto Rico Regiment of Infantry, 32 officers and 591 enlisted men; staff corps, Service School detachments, Military Academy, Indian scouts, recruits, etc., 7 officers and 10,585 enlisted men, and a provisional force of 52 companies of native scouts in the Philippines, 180 officers and 5,732 enlisted men. The total number of commissioned officers, staff and line, on the active list, is 4,745 (including 90 first lieutenants Medical Reserve Corps on active duty, 60 dental surgeons, and 233 additional and detached line officers), and the total enlisted strength, staff and line, is 84,859, exclusive of the provisional force and the hospital corps. The law provides that the total enlisted strength of the army shall not exceed at any one time 100,000. * For Military Departments and Commands, see Index.

ENLISTMENT LAW FOR THE UNITED STATES ARMY.

The Army act of August 24, 1912, prescribes a seven years' term of enlistment in the Army after November 1, 1912, in lieu of the previous term of three years, the first four years with the colors in active service, and the remaining three years on furlough, without pay, and attached to the Army Reserve established by the same act. The Army Reserves are subject to be called into active service only in the event of actual or threatened hostilities.

A soldier after four years' continuous service, either under a first or any subsequent enlistment, may be re-enlisted for seven years and receive a final discharge from his prior enlistment, or after three years' continuous service may, upon his written request, be furloughed and transferred to the Reserve. Enlistment periods for service pay are counted as four years. First enlistments are confined to men between the ages of 18 and 35 years. All soldiers receive, in addition to their pay, rations, clothing, bedding, and medical attendance while with the colors.

The monthly pay during first enlistment ranges from $15 to $18 for privates. For non-commissioned officers the rates are $21, $24, $30, $40, $45, $50, $65 and $75, respectively, according to grade, arm or corps, and nature of duties. Master electricians of the signal corps and the Coast Artillery Corps, and chief musicians of bands, receive the highest rate, $75 per month.

Additional pay of from $1 to $4 per month for continuous service is allowed during each enlistment period of four years, after the first, up to and including the seventh. In addition to all other pay, qualified or expert gunners, riflemen, sharpshooters and marksmen receive from $2 to $5 per month. Casemate electricians, plotters, planters, loaders, gun commanders, gun pointers, etc., of the Coast Artillery Corps receive from $6 to $9 per month additional. Twenty per cent. increase of pay is allowed for service in the Philippines and China.

Enlisted men may be retired after 30 years' service, with three-fourths of the pay of their grade, and $15.75 per month additional in lieu of clothing, subsistence, quarters, fuel and light. Unmarried soldiers under 30 years of age of not less than two years' service may compete in examination for promotion to second lieutenant.

DAUGHTERS OF THE CINCINNATI.

President—Miss Julia Chester Wells. Vice-President—Miss Laura Sylvina Heilner. Secretary—Mrs. Adolphus J. Outerbridge, Tuxedo Park, New York. Treasurer—Miss Annie Clarkson. Incorporated in 1894. The objects are "to renew, foster and develop among its members the friendships formed and cemented amid the trying ordeals of the war of the Revolution, in the camp, and on the battlefield by their ancestors; to advance and encourage investigation and study of the history of the Revolution, its causes and results; to cherish the memory and record the deeds of the noble women who encouraged and assisted the patriot cause; to commemorate by celebrations and tablets the achievements of our ancestors in the Revolution, and to gather and carefully preserve documents and relics relating to the Revolutionary period."

The Triple Alliance.

THE Triple Alliance was formed in 1883 between Germany, Austria-Hungary and Italy for the purpose of checking encroachments by Russia and France. By its provisions the three powers are bound to support one another in certain contingencies.

Its terms were made more definite in 1887. The exact provisions of the alliance have not been divulged, but are said to have been modified as to France and Italy in 1893. The alliance was renewed in 1902 and in 1907, for certain periods, and the period of its last renewal extends to June 14, 1914. It has been reported, but apparently from no authoritative source, that the alliance has been renewed without alteration for a term of twelve years. It would appear that the recent demands of Italy against Turkey, followed by Italy's declaration of war, were assented to by the alliance. For many years Great Britain, while not a party to the alliance, was closely linked with it through apprehension of French and Russian aggressiveness, but later, becoming disquieted by the growth of the German naval power, adopted, in 1902, a decided change of policy with a view to seeking in the Balance of Power greater security against invasion.

In pursuance of this policy Great Britain entered into an agreement with France in 1904 and with Russia in 1907. The aims of the Triple Entente, so called, Great Britain, France and Russia, were substantially as follows:

1. The Balance of Power.
2. The strengthening of the treaty law in the interests of peace and the status quo.
3. Disarmament.

In some directions this policy has met with considerable success.

In the improbable event of a war between the powers of the Triple Alliance and those of the Triple Entente (England, France and Russia), the land forces of the entente would exceed by probably a million men those of the alliance, but it is doubtful whether the vast army of Russia could be promptly assembled for service in the theatre of war.

The strength of the combined navies of the entente in ships, tonnage, armament and number of men would exceed the combined naval strength of the alliance.

Comparing the number of airships, the alliance has a total number of 39, with 11,086,000 cubic feet capacity, against 35 for the entente, with 6,001,000 cubic feet capacity.

About 1880 all the civilized countries began rearming their troops with magazine rifles of small calibre, using high power cartridges with smokeless powder. Modifications and improvements in these as well as in carbines and pistols, have materially added to their effectiveness. At the present time no great difference exists in the effectiveness of the kinds of rifles with which the armies of the great powers are supplied with regard to their ranges and shooting qualities. It is well known that the effectiveness of any arm depends greatly on the experience and skill of the men who use it, and that, other things being equal, the troops most thoroughly instructed and drilled in the use of the rifle are the most efficient in battle.

While the wounds inflicted by the modern small calibre high velocity rifles are less fatal and yield more readily to treatment than those made by the guns of large calibre using slow-burning black powder formerly in use, yet it is claimed that men hit by the smaller bullet, even if not killed or mortally wounded, are as completely put out of action as if struck by the larger.

The automatic rifle will be, beyond question, the military weapon of the near future. Nearly all of the principal countries of Europe have been experimenting with rifles of this type. It seems, however, that, as yet, no automatic shoulder rifle has been brought forward that is considered as sufficiently reliable and effective for war purposes to justify the great expense of adopting it in the place of those now in use.

Some British army officers do not regard their Lee-Enfield rifle as equal to that of some other countries. This arm is made in two lengths. Opinions differ as to the respective merits of the long and the short rifle. During the last two years the British War Office has manufactured for experimentation a limited number of rifles of a new type, called the "276" rifle. It has been claimed that in effectiveness the new rifle is the best in the world; but difficulties have been met and improvements of the new rifle will be necessary before the great cost of its adoption for the army is justified. Switzerland has made some changes in its Schmidt-Rubin rifle; will use sharp pointed bullet; magazine changed to hold only 6 cartridges, etc.

A few years ago the Mexican Government ordered some 4,000 rifles of the automatic type, known as the "Mondragon," with which to arm part of its army. This gun has the same calibre and uses the same cartridge as the German Mauser, with which the Mexican troops are mostly armed, but information as to the result of this experiment of introducing an automatic rifle to actual military use is lacking.

Germany adopted an automatic pistol for military use in 1908. The United States has recently adopted for the army and navy, in place of the service revolver, the Colt automatic pistol, after extended and rigid experiments and tests by a board of army officers. This is regarded as a remarkably effective weapon. Its length is 8.5 inches; length of barrel, 5 inches; weight, 2 lbs. 7 oz.; calibre, .45; cartridges in magazine, 7. The German automatic pistol has a length of 8.54 inches; length of barrel, 4.02 inches; weight, 1 lb. 13½ oz.; calibre, .35; cartridges in magazine, 8.

The appended table of military rifles in use by the principal countries of the world is compiled from the latest available data. Changes are frequently made, however, and it is difficult, if not impossible, to present accurate statistics up to date.

The Navy League of the United States.

The Navy League of the United States was incorporated under the laws of the State of New York on January 2, 1903, its declared object being "to acquire and spread before the citizens of the United States, through branch organizations and otherwise, information as to the condition of the naval forces and equipment of the United States, and to awaken public interest and co-operation in all matters tending to aid, improve and develop their efficiency." It is strictly non-partisan. Men, women and children are eligible to membership. The button of the league is of silver gilt and blue enamel, with letters in white and anchor of gold, and is worn by members. The membership fee is one dollar annually. The headquarters of the league is at the Southern Building, Washington, D. C.

The General Officers are: President—Gen. Horace Porter. Vice-President—Henry H. Ward. Secretary—Arthur H. Dadmun. Treasurer—Charles C. Glover. Chairman Executive Committee—Robert M. Thompson.

LAKE CHAMPLAIN ASSOCIATION.

President—Frederick B. Jennings. Historian—James A. Holden. Treasurer—S. H. P. Pell, 43 Exchange Place, New York City. Secretary—Percival Wilds, 2 Rector Street, New York City.

The purpose of this association is: "To assemble in social gatherings; to renew and extend affiliations; to perpetuate the historical traditions, and to promote the welfare of the Lake Champlain Valley."

THE UNION SOCIETY OF THE CIVIL WAR.

President-General—Col. Henry H. Andrew. Registrar-General—Mayhew W. Bronson, Larchmont, New York. Secretary-General—Charles Paul Brown, 141 Broadway, New York City. Treasurer-General—Frederic W. Lincoln, 17 State Street, New York City.

The society was founded in 1909 "To perpetuate the memory of those loyal officials who, outside the military and naval service of the United States, rendered invaluable aid and assistance to the National Government and Union cause during the civil war." Eligibility—Any loyal Union man who between April 12, 1861, and April 9, 1865, served as President, Vice-President, Justice of Supreme Court, Cabinet Officer, Minister Plenipotentiary abroad, Senator, Member of House of Representatives, Special Commissioner or Executive Secretary of the United States, citizens who received by name the thanks of Congress for valuable services rendered to the Government during the civil war, Loyal Governor of Loyal State, Lieut.Governor, Secretary of State, State Attorney-General, State Treasurer, Commissioned Officer of Governor's Military Staff, President of State Senate, Speaker of House of Representatives, Executive Secretary, State Executive, Counsellor, Office of State Provost Marshal's Department on recruiting duty for United States Volunteer Service, State Military Agent, Member of Commission, board or committee appointed by Governor to aid and assist in matters connected with National protection and defence, United States Military or Provisional Governor of secession State. Any other loyal Union man may be elected to membership who outside the military or naval service of the United States between the aforesaid dates, rendered services to the National Government and Union cause, which may be considered by the General Board of Managers to have been of sufficient value to warrant his election to membership in the society. Any man twenty-one years of age is eligible to membership who is descended from any of the foregoing classes provided he may be found worthy.

Military Educational System of the United States.

THE military educational system of the United States, exclusive of the Military Academy at West Point, comprises the following:

I. The Army War College, Washington, D. C., under the management of a President and directors detailed from officers of the army. The course of instruction is for one year, beginning September 1. A limited number of officers not below the rank of captain, selected on account of exceptional efficiency and fitness, are detailed annually for instruction. The purpose of the college is to make practical application of knowledge already acquired, not to impart academic instruction.

II. The Army Service Schools. The group of schools established at Fort Leavenworth, Kansas, consisting of the Army School of the Line as the basic school, the Army Staff College, the Army Signal School, the Army Field Engineer School, and the Army Field Service and Correspondence School for Medical Officers as special affiliated schools, are designated the Army Service Schools, and are under the direction of a Commandant not of lower grade than that of a Brigadier-General.

The course of instruction at the schools, except as otherwise stated, is included in one term from September 1 to June 30 of the following year.

1. The Army School of the Line. The object of this school is the instruction of selected officers from the line of the army in the leading and care of troops in time of war and their training in time of peace. The Assistant Commandant of the Army Service Schools is also the Director of the School of the Line.

Upon graduation, the student class are graded, in order of merit, as "honor graduates," "distinguished graduates," and "graduates," respectively.

2. The Army Staff College, for the instruction of officers detailed annually from the highest graduates of the latest class of the School of the Line, recommended by the Academic Board of that school. The object of this college is to impart instruction to officers in the duties of the general staff of an army; to prepare them for the Army War College and to investigate military inventions, discoveries and developments.

The Commandant, Assistant Commandant, Secretary and Senior Instructors of the School of the Line hold corresponding positions in the Staff College.

3. The Army Signal School, for instruction of officers of the Signal Corps in their duties, including aeronautics; for instruction of officers of the line, who are designated therefor, in signal duties, and to make research and experiments in subjects pertaining to the work of the Signal Corps. The school is under the general direction of the Commandant of the Army School of the Line.

4. The Army Field Engineer School, for the instruction of officers of the Engineer Corps, not exceeding ten, and engineer officers of the National Guard.

5. The Army Field Service and Correspondence School for Medical Officers, for the instruction of officers of the Medical Corps and of the National Guard. Part one of this school requires attendance in person for a graded course of study, and part two for a course by correspondence. The course of instruction is eight weeks, from April 1 of each year. Students who complete the course satisfactorily receive certificates of proficiency.

III. The Army Medical School, Washington, D. C., for the instruction of medical officers of the army, candidates for appointment in the Medical Corps, and medical officers of the National Guard. The faculty consists of a President and Instructors. The course of instruction is for eight months, from October 1 each year. Graduates receive diplomas.

IV. The Coast Artillery School, Fort Monroe, Virginia. The object of this school is to enlarge the field of instruction of the garrison schools for Coast Artillery officers by advanced courses of study and practical training in technical duties; to prepare specially selected officers for the more important positions in the Coast Artillery; also to educate and train selected enlisted men for the higher non-commissioned staff grades in the Coast Artillery. The courses of instruction for officers and enlisted men are each comprised in one school year, from January 3 to December 1. Special courses in ballistics are also provided.

Officers who are graduated are furnished with diplomas, as "honor graduates," "distinguished graduates," or "graduates," according to their standing.

V. The Engineer School, Washington Barracks, D. C. This school is under the control of the Chief of Engineers. Its object is to prepare junior officers of engineers for the active duties of their corps; to make experiments and recommendations, and to give instruction pertaining to the civil engineering work of the army. The course of instruction is one year, beginning September 1. Diplomas are given to students who successfully complete the course.

VI. The Mounted Service School, Fort Riley, Kansas, is under the command of a general officer, who also commands the post of Fort Riley. The object of the school is to give practical instruction to field and company officers of cavalry and field artillery, and to farriers and horseshoers. The courses for field officers begin April 1 and October 10; the course for company officers is from September 25 to June 30, following; and for farriers and horseshoers two courses of four months each. Company officers who are graduated receive diplomas.

VII. The School of Fire for Field Artillery, Fort Sill, Oklahoma, for practical instruction in field artillery firing. Courses of instruction are prescribed: A, for captains and lieutenants; B, for field officers of field artillery; C, for non-commissioned officers, and D, for officers of the militia. Officers and enlisted men who complete any course satisfactorily receive certificates of proficiency.

VIII. School of Musketry, Fort Sill, Oklahoma, for instruction in small-arms firing.

IX. Garrison Schools, one at each military post, for the instruction of officers of the army and the National Guard, in subjects pertaining to their ordinary duties. The course covers three years and the annual terms five months each, from November 1st. Certificates of proficiency in each subject of study are given to those who pass the prescribed examination therein.

X. Post Schools for Instruction of Enlisted Men in the common branches of education and military subjects.

XI. Schools for Bakers and Cooks, at San Francisco, California, Washington, D. C., and Fort Riley, Kansas, for the instruction of selected enlisted men.

Officers of the National Guard are admitted to most of the Army Schools, under the Militia law of January 21, 1903, and regulations prescribed by the War Department. They must be nominated by the Governors of their States. Those admitted to any of the schools receive mileage and money commutations for subsistence, quarters, etc. A considerable number of militia officers enter these schools, notably the garrison schools, annually.

The Organized and Unorganized Militia of the U. S.

(Compiled for THE WORLD ALMANAC from the latest official reports.)

THE Militia law of January 21, 1903, as amended by the act of May 27, 1908, provides: "That the militia shall consist of every able-bodied male citizen of the respective States- * * * and every able-bodied male of foreign birth who has declared his intention to become a citizen, who is more than 18 and less than 45 years of age, and shall be divided into two classes—the organized militia, to be known as the National Guard * * * or by such other designations as may be given them by the laws of the respective States or Territories; the remainder to be known as the reserve militia."

(a) No organized militia.

Alaska has no militia, though provision is made for such if need arises. Guam and Samoa have each a small provisional force, used more for police purposes than for military. The Philippines have a constabulary force which can be used either for police or war purposes, provided the latter is on the islands. Porto Rico has a regiment of eight companies of infantry which is a part of the army. The enlisted men of this regiment are natives of Porto Rico. The reserve militia in the Southern States is assumed to include negroes capable of bearing arms.

Cost of Maintaining Armies and Navies.

The cost of the British Army, according to estimates for 1913-14, will amount to $224,300,000. The estimates for the Navy for 1913-14 are placed at $224,140,000. The United States Army appropriations for 1913-14 amount to *94,266,145, not including the expenditure by the several States on their National Guard or the enormous sums paid for pensions to ex-volunteers. The Navy appropriations for 1913-14 amount to †$140,800,643. The estimated military expenditure of the German Empire in the budget for 1912-13 amounts to $183,090,000, excluding expenditures on Colonial troops. The German Naval estimates for 1913-14 amount to $111,300,000. The military budget of France for 1913 shows an estimated expenditure of ‡$191,431,580 for the military establishment. The Navy estimate for 1914 amounts to $119,571,400. Italy during 1913-14 expects to spend about $51,000,000 on her Navy, and about $82,928,000 on her Army. The military budget of Russia, ordinary and extraordinary, for 1913-14 calls for $317,800,000, and the Navy expenditures in 1913-14 will amount to about $122,500,000. The Army estimate of Austro-Hungary for 1913 was $82,300,000, and for the Navy $42,000,000. The military expenditure of Japan for 1913-14 will be about $49,000,000. The Navy estimates for 1913-14 amounts to $46,500,000.

* This does not include cost of fortifications, Military Academy, etc., but only for the Army.
† This includes construction of ships, Naval Academy, Navy Yards, etc. ‡ Excluding cost of Colonial troops not serving in France.

(b) The maximum pay of a colonel is $5,000, of a lieutenant-colonel $4,500, and of a major $4,000.
Dental Surgeons have the rank and pay of first lieutenant.
Acting Dental Surgeons receive $150 per month.
Veterinary Surgeons receive the pay of second lieutenant with right to retirement.
Army Pay Clerks receive from $1,125 to $2,000 per year with right to retirement.
The pay of non-commissioned officers is from $21 to $99 per month, and of privates from $15 to $25 per month. Service outside the United States, except in Porto Rico, Panama and Hawaii, 10 per cent. additional for officers and 20 per cent. for enlisted men.
The total amount appropriated by Congress for the United States Military establishment, including construction of fortifications, the Military Academy and $150,000 for automatic rifles, for the fiscal year ending June 30, 1914, is $100,733,879, and for the naval establishment and stations, and including the Naval Academy, $140,800,643.

United States Military Academy at West Point.

Each Senator, Congressional District, and Territory, including Porto Rico, Alaska, and Hawaii, is entitled to have one cadet at the Academy; the District of Columbia, two cadets. There are also forty appointments at large, specially conferred by the President of the United States. The law, however, provides that for six years, from July 1, 1910, whenever any cadet shall have finished three years of his course at the Academy his successor may be admitted

Appointments are usually made one year in advance of date of admission, by the Secretary of War, upon the nomination of the Senator or Representative. These nominations may either be made after competitive examination or given direct, at the option of the Representative. The Representative may nominate two legally qualified second candidates, to be designated alternates. The alternates will receive from the War Department a letter of appointment, and will be examined with the regular appointee, and the better qualified will be admitted to the Academy in the event of the failure of the principal to pass the prescribed preliminary examinations. Appointees to the Military Academy must be between seventeen and twenty-two years of age, free from any infirmity which may render them unfit for military service, and able to pass a careful examination in English grammar, English composition, English literature, algebra through quadratic equations, plane geometry, descriptive geography and the elements of physical geography, especially the geography of the United States, United States history, the outlines of general history. The Secretary of War is authorized to permit not exceeding four Filipinos, to be designated, one for each class, by the Philippine Commission, to receive instruction at the United States Military Academy at West Point; Provided, That the Filipinos undergoing instruction shall receive the same pay, allowances, and emoluments as are authorized by law for cadets at the Military Academy appointed from the United States, to be paid out of the same appropriations; And provided further, That said Filipinos undergoing instruction on graduation shall be eligible only to commissions in the Philippine Scouts. Serve for 8 years, unless sooner discharged.

The course of instruction, which is quite thorough, requires four years, and is largely mathematical and professional. The principal subjects taught are mathematics, English, French, drawing, drill regulations of all arms of the service, natural and experimental philosophy, chemistry, chemical physics, mineralogy, geology, electricity, history, international, constitutional, and military law, Spanish, civil and military engineering, art and science of war, and ordnance and gunnery. About one-fourth of those appointed usually fail to pass the preliminary examinations, and but little over one-half the remainder are finally graduated. The discipline is very strict—even more so than in the army—and the enforcement of penalties for offences is inflexible rather than severe. Academic duties begin September 1 and continue until June 4. Examinations are held in each December and June, and cadets found proficient in studies and correct in conduct are given the particular standing in their class to which their merits entitle them, while those cadets deficient in either conduct or studies are discharged.

From about the middle of June to the end of August cadets live in camp, engaged only in military duties and receiving practical military instruction. Cadets are allowed but one leave of absence during the four years' course, and this is granted at the expiration of the first two years. The pay of a cadet is $709.50 per year, and, with proper economy, is sufficient for his support. The number of students at the Academy is usually about five hundred and fifty

Upon graduating cadets are commissioned as second lieutenants in the United States Army. The whole number of graduates from 1802 to 1913, inclusive, has been 5,205. It is virtually absolutely necessary for a person seeking an appointment to apply to his Senator or Member of Congress. The appointments by the President are usually restricted to sons of officers of the army and navy, who, by reason of their shifting residence, due to the necessities of the service, find it next to impossible to obtain an appointment otherwise. The Superintendent is Colonel Clarence Page Townsley, Coast Artillery Corps, U. S. A., and the military and academic staff consists of 130 persons.

Military Order of the Serpent.

The Military Order of the Serpent is a secret social organization founded upon facts and is of historical interest. "A corporation not for profit" founded at Cleveland, Ohio, January 1, 1904, by Fred Manning and Walter Scott MacAaron and incorporated under the laws of Ohio, August 6, 1907. It consists of the Supreme Lair of the United States and a number of Grand Lairs with Local Lairs owing allegiance to them. Having spread with great rapidity it now maintains flourishing Grand Lair organizations in the following States and Territories: Ohio, New York, Colorado, Massachusetts, Pennsylvania, New Mexico, Missouri, Minnesota, Montana, New Jersey, Washington, Illinois, Vermont, California, Rhode Island, Wyoming and the Philippines.

Its objects and purposes are: To maintain a secret social society to perpetuate the memories of the war with Spain, the incident struggle in the Philippines, the China Relief Expedition; for literary purposes connected with these wars, as well as to more firmly establish good fellowship among the comrades of the United Spanish War Veterans. No person not a member of that body in good standing is eligible to its membership.

CHAPLAIN.†

With Pay of Captain, Mounted.

Silver, Horace Porcy, Sept. 1, 1913.

SECTION 12 of the act of February 2, 1901, provides "That the President is authorized to appoint, by and with the advice and consent of the Senate, chaplains in the army, at the rate of one for each regiment of cavalry and infantry in the United States service, * * * with the rank, pay and allowances of captains of infantry." By the act of June 12, 1906, one chaplain is authorized for the Corps of Engineers. By the act of January 25, 1907, fourteen chaplains are authorized for the Coast Artillery Corps, and one for each regiment of Field Artillery. By the act of April 21, 1904, the President may select from among the chaplains of not less than ten years' service, in the grade of captain, those who have been commended as worthy of special distinction for exceptional efficiency, and may, by and with the advice and consent of the Senate, promote such to be chaplains with the grade, pay and allowances of major: the number in active service so promoted shall not at any time exceed fifteen. The remaining chaplains have the grade, pay and allowances of captain, mounted, after seven years' service. Chaplains appointed after April 21, 1904, have the grade, pay, and allowances of first lieutenant, mounted, until they shall have completed seven years' service.

UNITED STATES NAVAL ENLISTMENT.

The term of enlistment in the Navy is four years, except for boys under eighteen, who enlist for minority, with the consent of parents or guardian. Minors over eighteen are enlisted without the consent of parents or guardian, but they must furnish a birth certificate or verified written statement of parent or guardian as to their age. Only American citizens of good character who may reasonably be expected to remain in the service are enlisted, and every applicant must pass the required physical examination, be able to read and write English and take the oath of allegiance. No boy under seventeen can be enlisted except by special permission from the Department.

Information regarding rates, with pay, opportunities for advancement, allowances, etc., can be obtained by addressing: BUREAU OF NAVIGATION, NAVY DEPARTMENT.

Enlistments are also made at all Navy Yards and Naval Stations; and in addition travelling or temporary offices are occasionally opened in cities throughout the country.

NAVY RECRUITING SERVICE.

On July 1, 1910, publicity offices were established at New York, N. Y. (153 W. 23d St.) for the Eastern district, and Indianapolis, Ind. (P. O. Bldg.) for the Western district, where full information regarding the pay, opportunities, etc., of service in the United States Navy may be obtained. Inquiries from the different States should be sent to the nearest of the two districts enumerated above. Address "Publicity Office, Navy Recruiting Service, 153 W. 23d St., N. Y.," or "Indianapolis, Ind.," as the case may be. All inquiries will be promptly answered by an officer of the navy. Better still, if you are in a position to do so, call at the nearest station and get all information first hand from the enlisted men who have seen service in our navy.

The origin of the Navy Department may be said to date from October 13, 1775, when Congress authorized the equipment of two cruisers, mounting respectively 10 and 14 guns. Before the end of that year 15 more vessels of from 20 to 36 guns were authorized. The affairs of the Navy were at that time intrusted to a "Marine Committee." In 1798 the present department was formally created, and Benjamin Stoddart appointed the first Secretary.

NAVY YARDS.

1. New York Navy Yard, Brooklyn, N. Y.
2. Boston Navy Yard, Boston, Mass.
3. Norfolk Navy Yard, near Norfolk, Va.
4. Portsmouth Navy Yard, Portsmouth, N. H.
5. Philadelphia Navy Yard, Philadelphia, Pa.
6. Mare Island Navy Yard, near San Francisco, Cal.
7. Washington Navy Yard, Washington, D. C.
8. Puget Sound Navy Yard, Bremerton, Wash.

There are naval stations at Charleston, S. C.; Key West, Fla.; Great Lakes, North Chicago, Ill.; a torpedo and training station at Newport, R. I., and a training station on Yerba Buena Island, Cal., and the Naval War College, Newport, R. I.

Naval stations have been established at Tutuila, Samoa; Island of Guam; Guantanamo, Cuba; Honolulu, H. I.; Cavite, and Olongapo, Philippine Islands. The latter has become an important naval base for the Asiatic Fleet.

OLD VESSELS.

There are in the Navy a small number of old vessels which are unserviceable for war purposes. A number of these vessels are in service as receiving ships at the principal navy yards.

TUGS.

There are 46 tugs in the Naval Service, of which the Ontario and Sonoma have a displacement of 1,120 tons, and the two smallest, the Chickasaw and Waban, 100 and 150 tons respectively. These vessels are distributed among the various naval stations in the United States and the Philippine Islands.

UNITED STATES NAVY PAY ROLL.

| Rank. | Base Pay | Rank. | Base Pay |
|---|---|---|---|
| Admiral | $13,500 | Lieutenant-Commanders | $3,000 |
| Rear-Admirals, first nine | 8,000 | Lieutenants | 2,400 |
| Rear-Admirals, second nine | 6,000 | Lieutenants (Junior Grade) | 2,000 |
| Captains | 4,000 | Ensigns | 1,700 |
| Commanders | 3,500 | Midshipmen | 600 |

All staff officers, such as medical directors, chaplains, naval constructors, pay directors, civil engineers, etc., receive the pay of their rank.

Chief boatswains, and other commissioned warrant officers receive the same pay as ensigns.

All officers paid under this table, below the rank of Rear-Admiral, are entitled to 10 per cent. increase upon the full yearly pay of their grades for each and every period of five years' service as "longevity pay," computed upon their total actual service in the Navy or Marine Corps, provided that the total amount of such increase shall not exceed 40 per cent. upon the full yearly pay of their grade.

All officers on sea duty and all officers on shore duty beyond the continental limits of the United States shall while so serving receive ten per centum additional of their salaries and increase as above provided, and such increase shall commence from reporting for duty on board ship or the date of sailing from the United States for shore duty beyond seas or to join a ship in foreign waters.

Warrant officers (boatswains, gunners, carpenters, sailmakers, pharmacists, machinists and pay clerks) are paid from $1,125 to $2,250 a year.

Commandants' clerks receive from $1,000 to $1,800 a year.

Petty officers (masters-at-arms, boatswains' mates, gunners' mates, gun captains, quartermasters, machinists, hospital stewards, yeomen, bandmasters, first musicians, coxswains, electricians, boiler-makers, coppersmiths, blacksmiths, plumbers and fitters, sailmakers' mates, carpenters' mates, oilers, printers, painters, water tenders, and hospital apprentices (first class) receive from $396 to $924 a year.

The pay of first-class seamen per month is $26; seamen gunners, $28; firemen, first class, $38; musicians, first class, $34.

The pay of second-class seamen per month is: Ordinary seamen, $21; firemen, second class, $33; shipwrights, $27; musicians, second class, $33.

The pay of third-class seamen per month is: Landsmen, for training, $17; coal passers, $24; apprentices, third class, $10

To provide for the welfare and comfort of the officers and enlisted men of the Navy during the fiscal year of 1914, it is going to cost Uncle Sam just $39,264,662. Of this amount $10,770,792 is required to pay the officers on the active list, while the retired officers receive the sum of $3,189,761.

The perquisites allowed officers of the Navy will aggregate nearly three-quarters of a million dollars in 1914. Of this amount $440,576 will be spent in providing quarters for those officers who cannot be accommodated in buildings or houses maintained by the Government, and $151,882 for the item of heat and light for officers using other than Government quarters and in Government quarters where no heating and lighting plant is maintained by the Government; also the item of rations, for enlisted men and certain officers, which figured at 30 cents a day, amounts to nearly $5,500,000. The sum of $540,000 is required to pay the midshipmen under instruction at the Naval Academy.

The pay of the enlisted men of the Navy is divided into the following items. Pay of 48,000 petty officers, seaman, etc., $21,887,424; 3,500 apprentices under training, $742,749; 395 retired enlisted men, $340,095, and 1,000 enlisted men in prisons undergoing sentences of court-martial, etc., $335,406.

Each man in the Navy holding an honorable discharge receives a bounty. This item will cost the Government $650,969 in 1914. There is also required the sum of $34,568 for interest on the deposits held by Uncle Sam for the enlisted men of the Navy. Eighty-nine thousand, five hundred and twenty dollars is required to pay the Female Nurse Corps of the Navy and $15,920 is allowed them for commutation of quarters.

Each officer or enlisted man in the Navy who dies from wounds or disease contracted in the line of duty is entitled to have paid to his beneficiary a sum equal to one-half of his annual pay. For this purpose the sum of $75,000 will be required for the fiscal year 1914.

Naval Militia.

THE Naval Militia is now organized in twenty-two States and the District of Columbia, as follows:

United States Naval Academy at Annapolis.

The students of the Naval Academy are called Midshipmen. Two Midshipmen are allowed for each Senator, Representative, and Delegate in Congress, two for the District of Columbia, and five each year from the United States at large. The appointments from the District of Columbia and five each year at large are made by the President. One Midshipman is allowed from Porto Rico, who must be a native of that island. The appointment is made by the President, on the recommendation of the Governor of Porto Rico. The Congressional appointments are equitably distributed, so that as soon as practicable each Senator, Representative, and Delegate in Congress may appoint one Midshipman during each Congress. The course for Midshipmen is four years at the Academy, when the succeeding appointment is made, and the examination for graduation takes place. Midshipmen who pass the examination for graduation are appointed to fill vacancies in the lower grade of the Line of the Navy, in the order of merit as determined by the Academic Board of the Naval Academy. The act of June 29, 1906, prescribes that the Secretary of the Navy shall as soon as possible after June 1 of each year preceding the graduation of Midshipmen in the succeeding year, notify in writing each Senator, Representative, and Delegate in Congress of any vacancy that will exist at the Naval Academy because of such graduation, and which he shall be entitled to fill by nomination of a candidate and one or more alternates therefor. The nomination of candidate and alternate or alternates to fill said vacancy shall be made upon the recommendation of the Senator, Representative, or Delegate, if such recommendation is made by March 4 of the year following that in which said notice in writing is given, but if it is not made by that time the Secretary of the Navy shall fill the vacancy by appointment of an actual resident of the State, Congressional District, or Territory, as the case may be in which the vacancy will exist, who shall have been for at least two years immediately preceding the date of his appointment an actual and bona fide resident of the State, Congressional District, or Territory in which the vacancy will exist, and of the legal qualification under the law as now provided. Candidates allowed for Congressional Districts, for Territories, and for the District of Columbia must be actual residents. Candidates at the time of their examination must be physically sound, well formed and of robust constitution. Attention will also be paid to the stature of the candidate, and no one manifestly under size for his age will be received at the Academy. The height of candidates for admission shall not be less than 5 feet 2 inches between the ages of 16 and 18 years, and not less than 5 feet 4 inches between the ages of 18 and 20 years; and the minimum weight at 16 years of age shall be 100 pounds, with an increase of not less than 5 pounds for each additional year or fraction of a year over one-half. Any marked deviation in the relative height and weight to the age of a candidate will add materially to the consideration for rejection. Candidates must be unmarried, and any Midshipman who shall marry, or who shall be found to be married, before his graduation, shall be dismissed from the service. All candidates must, at the time of their examination for admission, be between the ages of 16 and 20 years. The pay of a Midshipman is $600, beginning at the date of admission. The regulations regarding places and times of examinations and subjects of examinations may be obtained by addressing the Chief of the Bureau of Navigation, Navy Dept., Washington, D. C.

United States Marine Corps.

Commandant—Major-General William P. Biddle.

Officer in Charge, Adjutant and Inspector's Department—Col. Charles H. Lauchheimer. Quartermaster's Department—Col. Charles L. McCawley. Paymaster's Department—Col. George Richards. Headquarters—Navy Department Annex (Mills Building), Washington, D. C.

The United States Marine Corps is an independent branch of the military service of the United States, serving generally under the direction of the Secretary of the Navy. The corps may be detached by order of the President for service with the army, and on various occasions parts of the corps have so served.

Marines served on shore and on board vessels of the navy throughout the Revolutionary war, two battalions having been authorized by the Continental Congress November 10, 1775, but the present organization dates from July 11, 1798, when an act of Congress was approved for establishing and organizing a marine corps to consist of 1 major, 4 captains, 16 first lieutenants, 12 second lieutenants, 48 sergeants, 48 corporals, 32 drums and fifes and 720 privates.

The authorized strength of the corps (November, 1913) was 346 officers and 9,921 enlisted men, as follows: 1 major-general commandant, 11 colonels, 12 lieutenant-colonels, 28 majors, 107 captains, 97 first lieutenants, 90 second lieutenants, 12 sergeant majors, 79 quartermaster sergeants, 1 drum major, 114 first sergeants, 86 gunnery sergeants, 480 sergeants, 897 corporals, 124 drummers, 124 trumpeters, 1 leader of the band, 1 second leader of the band, 30 first-class musicians, 30 second-class musicians and 7,942 privates.

Soldiers' Homes.

NATIONAL HOME FOR DISABLED VOLUNTEER SOLDIERS.

President of the Board of Managers... Maj. James W. Wadsworth, 346 Broadway, New York City, N.Y.
Secretary.....John M. Holley, Esq., La Crosse, Wis.

There are branches of the National Home at Dayton, O.; Milwaukee, Wis.; Togus, Me.; Hampton, Va.; Leavenworth, Kan.; Santa Monica, Cal.; Marion, Ind., Danville, Ill., Johnson City, Tenn., and Hot Springs, S. Dak. The aggregate number of members cared for is about 35,000.

REQUIREMENTS FOR ADMISSION.

1. An honorable discharge from the United States service during a war in which it was engaged.
2. Disability which prevents the applicant from earning his living by labor.
3. Applicants for admission will be required to stipulate and agree to abide by all the rules and regulations made by the Board of Managers, or by its order; to perform all duties required of them, and to obey all the lawful orders of the officers of the Home. Attention is called to the fact that by the law establishing the Home the members are made subject to the Rules and Articles of War, and will be governed thereby in the same manner as if they were in the Army of the United States.
4. A soldier or sailor must forward with his application for admission his Discharge Paper, and when he is a pensioner, his Pension Certificate, which papers will be retained at the branch to which the applicant is admitted, to be kept there for him, and returned to him when he is discharged. This rule is adopted to prevent the loss of such papers and certificates, and to hinder fraudulent practices; and no application will be considered unless these papers are sent with it. If the original discharge does not exist, a copy of discharge, certified by the War or Navy Department, or by the Adjutant-General of the State, must accompany the application.

There are State Homes for disabled volunteer soldiers provided by the States of California, Colorado, Connecticut, Idaho, Illinois, Indiana, Iowa, Kansas, Massachusetts, Michigan, Minnesota, Missouri, Montana, Nebraska, New Hampshire, New Jersey, New York, North Dakota, Ohio, Oregon, Pennsylvania, Rhode Island, South Dakota, Vermont, Washington, Wisconsin, and Wyoming.

UNITED STATES SOLDIERS' HOME FOR THE REGULAR ARMY.

The United States Soldiers' Home in the District of Columbia receives and maintains discharged soldiers of the regular army. All soldiers who have served twenty years as enlisted men in the army (including volunteer service, if any), or who have served in any war, and all soldiers of less than twenty years' service who have incurred such disability, by wounds, disease, or injuries in the line of duty while in the regular army, as unfits them for further service, are entitled to the benefits of the Home.

A pensioner who enters the Home may assign his pension, or any part of it, to his child, wife, or parent, by filing written notice with the agent who pays him. If not so assigned, it is drawn by the treasurer of the Home and held in trust for the pensioner, to whom it is paid in such sums as the governor of the Home deems proper while he is an inmate of the Home, the balance being paid in full when he takes his discharge and leaves the Home.

Inmates are subject to the Rules and Articles of War, the same as soldiers in the army. They are comfortably lodged, fed, and clothed and receive medical attendance and medicine, all without cost to them. There are 1,379 men now receiving the benefits of the Home.

Applications for admission to the Home may be addressed to the "Board of Commissioners, U. S. Soldiers' Home, War Department, Washington, D. C.," and must give date of enlistment and date of discharge, with letter of company and number of regiment for each and every term of service, and rate of pension, if any, and must be accompanied by a medical certificate showing nature and degree of disability if any exists.

THE BIG BROTHERS' MOVEMENT.

The object of the Movement is to assist and guide unfortunate boys to good citizenship and respectable living, particularly boys coming before the Children's Court, by personal influence and assistance. While organizations and institutions are utilized, the emphasis is placed on personal helpful relations. During the year ending September 30, 1912, 2,883 boys were cared for by Big Brothers. Only 90 of these were again before the court; 550 men are working as Big Brothers; 1,690 personal visits were made to boys' homes; 345 boys were sent to Summer camps; 1,527 boys called at the office of the movement for advice and guidance, and 214 boys obtained employment. President—Franklin C. Hoyt. Vice-Presidents—Luther H. Lewis, Robert L. Gerry. Chairman Executive Committee—Ernest K. Coulter. Secretary—Charles A. Taussig. Treasurer—Francis J. Danforth. General Secretary—R. C. Sheldon. Headquarters, 200 Fifth Avenue, New York City.

The Boy Scouts of America.

ORIGIN AND GROWTH OF SCOUTING.

LIKE many other things showing permanence and power, the Scout movement can be traced back to widely separated sources where constructive ideas came to boy workers and were tested with varying degrees of success. In America there were a number of originators of methods, plans, and principles that have proved effective. In Great Britain, Lieut.-Gen. Sir Robert S. S. Baden-Powell became active in organization work based largely on the ideas and methods of American workers. He did this so successfully that the enrolment of British Boy Scouts soon grew into the hundred thousands, with the emphasis, not on the military note, but on peace virtues and learning practical trades. Then the movement spread to Germany, France, Italy, Australia and New Zealand, to Canada and the United States; to South American republics; in short, almost the world over; since it is already established in twenty-seven countries. Everywhere it has shown adaptation to new fields and nationalities.

In Germany the boys have engaged in the work with such enthusiasm and in such numbers that the Prussian and Bavarian authorities are giving the movement financial aid. But it has been left to the United States to show what the system of scouting can accomplish, when it returns to the lands in which the larger number of its working ideas and principles originated. While the number of the Boy Scouts enrolled throughout the world is estimated as not less than two million; one-sixth of the whole number are in the United States. The emphasis and ideals of the movement belong here also to the highest plans—that of efficient citizenship, service and character-building.

"The Boy Scouts of America," the name under which the movement in the United States was incorporated, February 8, 1910, has as its Honorary President, the Hon. Woodrow Wilson, President of the United States, and Hon. William H. Taft and Col. Theodore Roosevelt as its Honorary Vice-Presidents. Associated with these in approval and promotion of the movement are eminent citizens from all walks of public life, who are members of the National Council and of the local councils in the cities and towns of the whole country, and a host of others who earnestly co-operate in the work.

A group of men, representing the various religious and civic organizations of the community that are engaged in boys' work, are brought together as a local council for the promotion of Scout work. This local council receives a charter from the national organization, giving them full authority to deal with all questions relating to scouting in that district and to pass upon all Scout Masters' applications. In many cases this council engages a boys' work director, to be known as the Scout Commissioner, to take charge of the work in that community. He is responsible to the local council for the direction and promotion of the work. He is the leader of the Scout Masters, and as such, gives such instructions and help as may be necessary, arranges inter-troop meets, games, camps, and in general, makes uniform the plan of work conducted in that community. The Scouts are organized in patrols and troops. Eight boys constitute a patrol, one of whom is chosen as the Patrol Leader. Three patrols make up a troop. The Scout Master is the adult leader of the troop. Already there are about 700 local councils in as many cities throughout the United States and under the direction of each there are from five to one hundred and fifty Scout Masters in charge of troops.

The Scout programme is proving practicable as a civic enterprise. There are many cities so thoroughly organized that every phase of boy life in the community is being reached by Scout activities. The movement is adapting itself not only to the wealthy classes, but to the boys of the slums, to the newsboys and to foreign boys alike. Over seven thousand Scout Masters are already registered with the national organization, representing about 300,000 boys that are being reached by the movement. Work to some extent has been started in practically every city in this country having a population of 4,000 or over, besides in the Hawaiian Islands, the Philippine Islands, Porto Rico and Guam. Any boy, of any class or creed, over 12 years of age, is eligible to become a Scout The initial requirements are that he know the Scout salute, sign and laws, and that he take the Scout oath By meeting certain requirements, he is in line to become a Tenderfoot, Second-Class and First-Class Scout.

Scouting means outdoor life and so health, strength, happiness and practical education. By combining wholesome attractive, outdoor activities with the influence of the Scout oath and law, the movement develops character and worth-while ability.

Scoutcraft includes instruction in first aid, life saving, tracking, signalling, cycling, nature study, seamanship, campcraft, woodcraft, chivalry and all the handicrafts.

The national organization is largely maintained by public subscriptions. Sustaining and Contributing Memberships are issued to men and women throughout the country who are financially assisting in the development and promotion of this organization among boys.

CONSULAR SERVICE.

C. G., Consul-General; C., Consul; V. C., Vice-Consul; D. C., Deputy Consul; C. A., Consular Assistant.

To insure prompt attention letters upon consular business should be addressed "To the American Consul at ....." Such letters are opened and attended to by the person who happens to be in charge of the office. If addressed to the consul by name they are forwarded to him unopened if he should be absent, and a delay thus intervenes; if he should in the meau time have gone out of office they may wholly escape attention.

Consuls at the principal places in the world are given here. Where there are a consul and vice or deputy consul at the same place only the consul is given. Consular officers are ex-officio notaries for all the States of the United States.

CONSULS-GENERAL AT LARGE.

The Hall of Fame.

MARCH 5, 1900, the Council of New York University accepted a gift of $100,000, afterward increased to $250,000, from a donor, whose name was withheld, for the erection and completion on University Heights, New York City, of a building to be called "The Hall of Fame for Great Americans." A structure was built in the form of a terrace with superimposed colonnade connecting the University Hall of Philosophy with the Hall of Languages. On the ground floor is a museum 200 feet long by 40 feet wide, consisting of a corridor and six halls to contain mementoes of the names that are inscribed above. The colonnade over this is 600 feet long with provision for 150 panels, each about 2 feet by 6 feet, each to bear the name of a famous American.

Only persons who shall have been dead ten or more years are eligible to be chosen. Fifteen classes of citizens were recommended for consideration, to wit: Authors and editors, business men, educators, inventors, missionaries and explorers, philanthropists and reformers, preachers and theologians, scientists, engineers and architects, lawyers and judges, musicians, painters and sculptors, physicians and surgeons, rulers and statesmen, soldiers and sailors, distinguished men and women outside the above classes. Fifty names were to be inscribed on the tablets at the beginning, and five additional names every fifth year thereafter, until the year 2000, when the 150 inscriptions will be completed. In case of failure to fill all the panels allotted, the vacancies are to be filled in a following year.

In February, 1904, the plan was announced of an additional Hall joining the colonnade on the north, having 25 panels for foreign-born Americans, six to be filled in 1905, and of a Hall of Fame for Women, about 30 by 60 feet, with places for 50 tablets. The erection of the former Hall was begun in October, 1912, and the North Colonnade completed in 1913.

The rules prescribed that the council should invite nominations from the public. Every nomination seconded by a member of the University Senate should be submitted to an electorate of one hundred eminent citizens selected by the Council. Chancellor Emeritus MacCracken presides in the Senate when the Hall of Fame is considered. Address University Heights, New York City.

In October, 1900, the University Senate received the ballots of the electors. Of the one hundred judges selected ninety-seven voted. The number of names which had been submitted to them was 252. Of these each judge returned a vote for fifty. The rule required that no candidate receiving less than fifty-one votes could be accepted. The returns showed that but twenty-nine candidates received the required number and were chosen. These were as follows: George Washington, Abraham Lincoln, Daniel Webster, Benjamin Franklin, Ulysses S. Grant, John Marshall, Thomas Jefferson, Ralph Waldo Emerson, Henry W. Longfellow, Robert Fulton, Washington Irving, Jonathan Edwards, Samuel F. B. Morse, David G. Farragut, Henry Clay, Nathaniel Hawthorne, George Peabody, Robert E. Lee, Peter Cooper, Eli Whitney, John J. Audubon, Horace Mann, Henry Ward Beecher, James Kent, Joseph Story, John Adams, William E. Channing, Gilbert Stuart, Asa Gray.

of 101 appointed, of whom only 85 undertook to consider the names of women. A majority of 51 was demanded, but in the case of the names of women, a majority of only 47. The following persons were found to be duly chosen: John Quincy Adams, 59; James Russell Lowell, 58; William Tecumseh Sherman, 58; James Madison, 56; John Greenleaf Whittier, 53; Alexander Hamilton, 88; Louis Agassiz, 83; John Paul Jones, 54; Mary Lyon, 58; Emma Willard, 50; Maria Mitchell, 48.

The Hall was dedicated May 30, 1901, when twenty-five or more national associations each unveiled one of the bronze tablets in the colonnade, and on May 30, 1907, the eleven new tablets were unveiled, orations being given by the Governors of New York and Massachusetts.

Since the Deed of Gift was amended to admit memorials to famous foreign-born Americans, the roll of electors has been amended in like manner, Mr. Andrew Carnegie, a native of Scotland, succeeding to the place of ex-President Grover Cleveland, deceased.

In October, 1910, the next ballot was taken, the number cast being 97 and the number required for a choice being 51. The following persons had the requisite number of votes: Harriet Beecher Stowe, 74; Oliver Wendell Holmes, 69; Edgar Allan Poe, 69; Roger Williams, 64; James Fenimore Cooper, 62; Phillips Brooks, 60; William Cullen Bryant, 59; Frances E. Willard, 56; Andrew Jackson, 53; George Bancroft, 53; John Lothrop Motley, 51. There were 211 nominees.

Examinations for the Consular Service.

In pursuance of the Executive order of June 27, 1906, whereby the President promulgated regulations governing appointments and promotions in the consular service, the following rules have been adopted by the Board of Examiners, who, under that order, have been designated to formulate rules for and hold examinations of applicants for admission to the consular service whom the President shall have designated for examination to determine their eligibility for appointment therein:

1. The examinations will be the same for all grades and will be to determine a candidate's eligibility for appointment in the consular service, irrespective of the grade for which he may have been designated for examination and without regard to any particular office for which he may be selected.

2. The examinations will consist of an oral and a written one, the two counting equally. The object of the oral examination will be to determine the candidate's business ability, alertness, general contemporary information, and natural fitness for the service, including moral, mental and physical qualifications, character, address, and general education and good command of English. In this part of the examination the applications previously filed will be given due weight by the Board of Examiners, especially as evidence of the applicant's business experience and ability. The written examination will include those subjects mentioned in the Executive order, to wit: French, German, or Spanish, the natural, industrial and commercial resources and the commerce of the United States, especially with reference to possibilities of increasing and extending the foreign trade of the United States; political economy, and the elements of international, commercial and maritime law. It will likewise include American history, government, and institutions; political and commercial geography; arithmetic (as used in commercial statistics, tariff calculations, exchange, accounts, etc.); the modern history, since 1850, of Europe, Latin America, and the Far East, with particular attention to political, commercial and economic tendencies. In the written examination, composition, grammar, punctuation, spelling and writing will be given attention.

3. To become eligible for appointment, except as student interpreter, in a country where the United States exercises extra territorial jurisdiction, the applicant must pass the examination outlined above, but supplemented by questions to determine his knowledge of the fundamental principles of common law, the rules of evidence, and the trial of civil and criminal cases.

4. The examinations to be given candidates for appointment as student interpreters will follow the same course as in the case of other consular officers, provided, however, that no one will be examined for admission to the consular service as a student interpreter who is not between the ages of nineteen and twenty-six, inclusive, and unmarried; and, provided further, that upon appointment each student interpreter shall sign an agreement to continue in the service so long as his services may be required, within a period of five years.

5. Upon the conclusion of the examinations the names of the candidates who shall have attained upon the whole examination an average mark of at least eighty, as required by the Executive order, will be certified by the board to the Secretary of State as eligible for appointment in the consular service, and the successful candidates will be informed that this has been done.

6. The names of candidates will remain on the eligible list for two years, except in the case of such candidates as shall within that period be appointed or shall withdraw their names, and of candidates holding subordinate positions in the consular service, when eligibility shall not expire until appointment to consular rank or until separation from the service. Candidates whose names have thus been dropped from the eligible list will not again be eligible for appointment unless upon fresh application, designation anew for examination, and the successful passing of such second examination.

DUTIES OF CONSULAR OFFICERS.

Consular officers are expected to endeavor to maintain and promote all the rightful interests of American citizens, and to protect them in all privileges provided for by treaty or conceded by usage; to visa and, when so authorized, to issue passports; when permitted by treaty, law or usage, to take charge of and settle the personal estates of Americans who may die abroad without legal or other representatives, and remit the proceeds to the Treasury in case they are not called for by a legal representative within one year; to ship, discharge, and, under certain conditions, maintain and send American seamen to the United States; to settle disputes between masters and seamen of American vessels; to investigate charges of mutiny or insubordination on the high seas and send mutineers to the United States for trial; to render assistance in the case of wrecked or stranded American vessels, and, in the absence of the master or other qualified person, take charge of the wrecks and cargoes if permitted to do so by the laws of the country; to receive the papers of American vessels arriving at foreign ports and deliver them after the discharge of the obligations of the vessels toward the members of their crews, and upon the production of clearances from the proper foreign port officials; to certify to the correctness of the valuation of merchandise exported to the United States where the shipment amounts to more than $100; to act as official witnesses to marriages of American citizens abroad; to aid in the enforcement of the immigration laws, and to certify to the correctness of the certificates issued by Chinese and other officials to Chinese persons coming to the United States; to protect the health of our seaports by reporting weekly the sanitary and health conditions of the ports at which they reside, and by issuing to vessels clearing for the United States bills of health describing the condition of the ports, the vessels, crews, passengers, and cargoes; and to take depositions and perform other acts which notaries public in the United States are authorized or required to perform. A duty of prime importance is the promotion of American commerce by reporting available opportunities for the introduction of our products, aiding in the establishment of relations between American and foreign commercial houses, and lending assistance wherever practicable to the marketing of American merchandise abroad.

In addition to the foregoing duties, consular officers in China, Turkey, Siam, Maskat, Morocco, and a few other so-called un-Christian countries, are invested with judicial powers over American citizens in those countries. These powers are usually defined by treaty, but generally include the trial of civil cases to which Americans are parties, and in some instances extend to the trial of criminal cases.

Diplomatic Intercourse.

ALL representatives not otherwise designated bore the title of minister plenipotentiary or envoy extraordinary or both.

International Peace Plan.

PRESIDENT WILSON'S PEACE PROPOSAL.

THE parties hereto agree that all questions of whatever character and nature in dispute between them shall, when diplomatic efforts fail, be submitted for investigation and report to an international commission (the composition to be agreed upon); and the contracting parties agree not to declare war or begin hostilities until such investigation is made and report submitted.

The investigation shall be conducted as a matter of course upon the initiative of the commission, without the formality of a request from either party; the report shall be submitted within (time to be agreed upon) from the date of the submission of the dispute, but the parties hereto reserve the right to act independently on the subject matter in dispute after the report is submitted.

SUPPLEMENTARY MEMORANDUM BY THE SECRETARY OF STATE.

In the peace plan proposed by the President to all the nations the composition of the International Commission is left to agreement between the parties, and I am authorized to suggest for the consideration of those who are willing to enter into this agreement:

1. That the International Commission be of five members, to be composed as follows: One member from each of the contracting countries, to be chosen by the Government; one member to be chosen by each of the contracting countries from some other country, and the fifth member of the Commission to be agreed upon by the two Governments. the Commission to be appointed as soon as convenient after the making of the treaty, vacancies to be filled according to the original appointment.

2. The time also is to be agreed upon, and it is suggested that that time be one year. If a year is considered too long or too short this Government will consider either a greater or a less period.

3. This Government is prepared to consider the question of maintaining the status quo as to military and naval preparation during the period of investigation, if the contracting nation desires to include this, and this Government suggests tentatively that the parties agree that there shall be no change in the military and naval programme during the period of investigation unless danger to one of the contracting parties from a third power compels a change in said programme, in which case the party feeling itself menaced by a third power, shall confidentially communicate the matter in writing to the other contracting party and it shall thereupon be released from the obligation not to change its military or naval programme, and this release will at the same time operate as a release of the other contracting party. This protects each party from the other in ordinary cases, and yet provides freedom of action in emergencies.

All of these suggestions, however, are presented for consideration, and not with the intention of imposing any fixed conditions. The principle of investigation being accepted, the details are matters for conference and consideration.

The principles involved in this peace plan had been accepted, up to October 11, 1913, by twenty-nine countries, as follows:

| | | | | |
|---|---|---|---|---|
| 1. Italy. | 7. Russia. | 13. Argentina. | 18. Spain. | 24. Costa Rica. |
| 2. Great Britain | 8. Peru. | 14. China. | 19. Portugal. | 25. Salvador. |
| 3. France. | 9. Austria. | 15. Dominican Republic. | 20. Belgium. | 26. Switzerland. |
| 4. Brazil. | 10. Netherlands. | | 21. Denmark. | 27. Paraguay. |
| 5. Sweden. | 11. Bolivia. | 16. Guatemala. | 22. Chile. | 28. Panama. |
| 6. Norway. | 12. Germany. | 17. Hayti. | 23. Cuba. | 29. Honduras. |

Three countries, Salvador, Guatemala and Panama, have already signed treaties accepting the details of the plan.

BETTERMENT LEAGUE.

President—Mrs. William Cumming Story. Secretary—Miss Florence G. Finch, 36 East Gramercy Park, New York. The league was founded by Mrs. Nellie Nan Slingerland and has 500 members, including 30 presidents of other clubs, 19 physicians and 10 clergymen. Headquarters, 132 West 131st Street, New York City.

Of the whole number of post-offices at the close of the fiscal year, June 30, 1912, 8,228 were Presidential offices and 50,501 were fourth-class offices.

The estimated number of pieces of postal matter of all kinds which passed through the mails of the United States in the fiscal year (1912) was 17,588,658,941. Letters, etc., registered, 42,235,000. Special Delivery pieces delivered, 16,756,499. Ordinary postage stamps issued, 9,928,263,748; postal cards, 909,411,045. The annual aggregate number of letters transmitted through the post-offices of the world may be estimated at 30,000,000,000, and of newspapers, 15,000,000,000.

The number of domestic money-orders issued in the fiscal year 1912 was 85,286,380; number of international money-orders, 3,708,773; amounting to $86,095,404.

RURAL DELIVERY SERVICE.

The following table exhibits the growth of the rural delivery service from 1897 to 1912:

| Year. | Carriers (number). | Daily Mileage. | Annual Cost. | Year. | Carriers (number). | Daily Mileage. | Annual Cost. |
|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|

ARCHAEOLOGY.

RUINS of old Roman baths were uncovered at Acqui, Italy, which have lead to the belief that Acqui is built upon the ruins of the "Aquae Statiellae" of the Romans, whose waters are referred to by Tacitus and Pliny.

With funds given by the Italian Government, Prof. Dante Vaglieri carried on excavations in the forum of Ostia. Several statues were unearthed, as well as about 800 coins, among which were many of the Emperor Jovian.

Extensive excavations were made in the State of Esmeralda, Ecuador, by Prof. M. H. Saville of Columbia University, New York Many skulls were found with the teeth richly decorated with gold, which showed that dentistry of a high order was practised by the Incas over a thousand years ago.

Pygmy flints of various types, rough knives, borers and a saw were discovered near the confluence of the River Feugh with the Dee in Scotland. Although pygmy flints had been discovered in England, yet it was not until 1913 that they were found in Scotland.

Interesting discoveries were made in the great cemetery of the First Dynasty (5500 B. C.) at Tarkhan, about forty miles south of Cairo, Egypt, where 800 graves were explored. At Gerzeh, a few miles further south, numerous remains of the Twelfth and Eighteenth Dynasties were unearthed, including statuary and gold ornaments.

Great interest was taken in the excavating at Verulamium, near St. Albans, and within 30 minutes' ride by train from London, Eng. A large quantity of antiquarian treasures are known to be buried there, and it is expected that important discoveries will be made as the excavating progresses

A version of the deluge story of Genesis which is known to be at least 1,500 years earlier than any previously discovered account was deciphered from tablets at the University of Pennsylvania, Philadelphia, Pa., by Dr A. Poebel.

The discovery of the oldest fossil skeleton of a mammal ever found in America was announced by Prof H. F Osborne of the American Museum of Natural History. The skeleton was unearthed in the Kimbetoh Draw and is of an animal about the size of a wolf.

Excavations were made in the base beds of the Red and Coralline Crags of Suffolk, Eng. Flints of various forms, consisting of pointed implements for use in the hand, pounders and scrapers, were unearthed

The exact site of the harbor of Pompeii was discovered by Lorenzo Cozza. The harbor is 1,250 yards inland from the beach and 700 yards from the gate of Pompeii.

A committee was appointed by the council of the Archaeological Institute of America to report on the plan of establishing an American School of Archaeology in China.

The Germans started excavating in the south Babylonian ruin of Warka, which is the largest of all Babylonian mounds

English archaeologists discovered the remains of the city of Beth-Shemesh, Palestine, which has been lying forgotten for about 2,610 years.

German savants at Tendaguru, in German East Africa, unearthed bones of the gigantosaurus Africanus, the largest animal ever discovered. The creature when alive measured about 160 feet long and stood 22 feet high.

Discoveries of great importance were made in Southern Sardinia, under the auspices of the Italian Ministry of Public Instruction. Beneath the ancient church of St. Anastasia a large subterranean temple was found, whose date reaches back at least 1,000 years before Christ.

An interesting illustrated article on "The Resurrection of Ancient Egypt," by J. Barkie, was published in the National Geographic Magazine for September.

The International School of American Archaeology in Mexico City announced that during the ensuing year stratigraphical work will be undertaken in the valley of Mexico.

ASTRONOMY.

The gold medal of the Royal Astronomical Society was given in 1913 to M. Deslandres for his work on the sun.

A new observatory for the Illinois Watch Co. was erected at Springfield, Ill. The equipment includes an 8½-inch refractor and a 3-inch combined transit instrument and zenith telescope.

Director Abbot, of the Smithsonian Astrophysical Observatory, returned from an astronomical expedition to Bassour, Algeria. The object of the expedition was to confirm or disprove the supposed variability of the sun. The observations indicated that the sun is probably a variable star having a range of variation amounting to from five to ten per cent. within an irregular interval of from five to ten days.

It was reported that a new observatory will be erected on Mt. Hollywood, Los Angeles, Cal

The Carnegie Institute of Washington, D. C., published a large volume containing a series of measures of proper motion stars made with the 40-inch refractor of the Yerkes Observatory, in the years 1907 to 1912.

Total eclipses of the moon occurred on the mornings of March 22 and of September 15, 1913. The only planetary occultation visible anywhere in the United States during the year 1913 was that of Venus on September 27, and this took place under adverse conditions, as it was confined to a small section of the country and in the day time.

At the United States Naval Observatory, Washington, D. C., during the past year, the first half of a series of observations of the fundamental stars selected by the Paris Conference was completed on the 6-inch transit circle.

The solar eclipse of April 6, 1913, was visible only in the extreme northwestern part of the United States.

A valuable contribution to the radial velocities of stars was published in Lick Observatory Bulletin No. 229

The minor planet No. 594, discovered by Dr. Max Wolf in 1906, has been named Mirelle.

M. Jules Baillaud exhibited before the Academy of Sciences of Paris, France, an improved opacimeter, which will be of valuable service to astronomers in studying stellar photographs.

Important data on the solar constant of radiation was published in the annals of the Astrophysical Observatory of the Smithsonian Institution. It appears that the mean value of the solar constant for the period 1905 to 1912 was 1.929 calories per square centimeter per minute, and that irregular variations frequently exceeding .07 calory per square centimeter per minute occur within intervals of ten days.

The International Union for Solar Research met at Bonn, Germany, and that of the Astronomische Gesellschaft at Hamburg At the latter meeting, Dr. Rosenberg, of Lüblingen, described a new photometer, and Prof. Hayn gave an account of his study of the moon's limb.

Corrections to the orbit of the satellite of Neptune were determined from observations made at the United States Naval Observatory, Washington, D. C., during the past two years.

The most extensive observing programme of the Lick Observatory at Mount Hamilton, Cal., during the past 16 years, has referred to the spectrographic determinations of the stellar motions of approach and recession. From the observations made, one star in every four is double.

Three new comets were discovered in 1913. The first on May 6 by M. Schaumasse, at the Nice Observatory, France. On September 1 another was discovered by Rev. J. Metcalf, and on September 6, Professor Neujmim, a Russian astronomer, found a new comet in the constellation Pisces, west of the star Omega.

An appropriation was made by the Dominion Government for the erection of a small observatory at Vancouver, B. C.

CHEMISTRY.

A method of detecting formaldehyde in plant juices was discovered by MM. Angelico and Catalano.

The element zirconium was studied by Herr Wedekind. A new compound, zirconium nitride, was prepared by heating the metal in an atmosphere of nitrogen.

A bacillus that acts upon solutions containing iron was isolated, by Mr. E. M. Mumford, from the Bridgewater Canal tunnels at Worsley, Lancashire, England.

Sir William Ramsay published an article on argon. The experiments of Professor Collie and M. Paterson which indicated the formation of helium and neon from hydrogen were repeated, and their results confirmed.

At a meeting of the Academie des Sciences, Paris, France, M. Briner-Kurner proved that calcium carbide was dissociated into its elements at a temperature of 900 to 1,000 deg. Cent.

A new potassic fertilizer was produced by the Swedish chemist, A. Lindblad, which can replace the Stassfurt salts that are at present imported.

It was reported that an English chemist succeeded in making paper from seaweed. The paper so made was found to be fireproof, waterproof and odorless, and particularly adapted for wrapping perishable goods.

A composition which the German inventor, Dr. Egly, calls "silite" was reported to be an excellent material for making electric heating resistance pieces as used in electric heaters.

That radium rays have the effect of interrupting the repose of Winter buds of different woody plants and thus give rise to a precocious budding was shown by experiments made by the scientist, H. Molish.

A process for hardening steel by compressed air was brought out by a German company. Compressed air is sprayed over the metal through specially designed nozzles, and by varying the number and spacing of the nozzles the degree of hardening may be accurately graded.

From the results of experiments it was shown that a small amount of copper (approximately .2 per cent.) in steel materially increases the life of steel sheets when exposed to the weather.

A preliminary report from the committee on coal analysis of the American Society for Testing Material and the American Chemical Society was published in the Journal of Industrial and Engineering Chemistry for June, 1913.

A new fuel for use in internal combustion engines has attracted considerable attention. It is marketed under the name of "Parol," and is made from paraffin by a chemical process without the use of heat.

The use of vanadium steel in the past eight years has been remarkable. Besides being extensively used in locomotives, it was reported that fully 60 per cent. of the automobiles built in 1913 contained parts made of vanadium steel.

A process has been adopted by the municipality of Brunn, in Austria, by which the solid matter in sewage is transformed into illuminating gas.

Curious phenomena accompanying the stretching of metallic sodium and potassium wires were described in a paper read before the Physical Society of London.

A new material to take the place of hard fibre, glass, rawhide and molded compounds was developed by the Westinghouse Electric and Manufacturing Co. The new material is known as "micarta."

GEOLOGY.

An Institute of Geology was organized in Uruguay, S. A. A preliminary survey of the country will be made, particular attention being given to locating mineral deposits, including petroleum and coal. Special efforts will be made to ascertain if there is petroleum in the Department of Cerro Largo.

An exploring party from the Mexican National Institute of Geology reported the discovery of extensive deposits of salt in the northern part of Lower California.

In a report of the United States Geological Survey, attention is called to the rapid growth of the sulphur industry in the United States. Sulphur now comes in large quantities from Louisiana, Nevada and Wyoming, the production of Louisiana being the dominant factor in the industry.

A study was made of Mount Chiriqui, in Western Panama, by Dr. D. F. McDonald, geologist of the Panama Canal Commission. He found evidence that indicated that the last volcanic eruption occurred about 175,000 years ago.

The iron ores and bauxites, which form a prominent stratified zone in the midst of the Tertiary basaltic series of Northeast Ireland, were described by Professor Cole, of the Geological Survey of Ireland, in a memoir.

The raised beach of North Devon England and its relations to other Pleistocene deposits and to Palaeolithic man, were discussed by Mr. H. Dewey in the Geological Magazine for April.

A table of the geological range of Western American sharks, from Triassic to Pleistocene, was published in the bulletin of the University of California, 1913.

The curious little bodies of volcanic glass found scattered throughout Australia, and known as australites, are the subject of a memoir by E. J. Dunn.

An interesting description of the structure of the hill of Gebel Hamman Farum, Sinai, was published in the Cairo Scientific Journal

The conglomerates, the oolites and the interbedded sands of the Cambrian and Ordovician rocks of Center County, Pa., were discussed in the Journal of Geology for April, 1913.

After six years' excavation at La Brea, Cal., the University of California obtained nearly perfect skulls of Camelops hesternus and varieties, with associated skeletal material, representing the greater part of the animal.

The Pleistocene Geology of New York State was the subject of the annual address to the Geological Society of America, by the President, Mr. H. L. Fairchild.

A number of new forms of Eocene mollusca, from the Marysville Buttes, were described in a 1913 bulletin of the University of California.

In an article on the geology of Luzon, P. I., in the first number of the Journal of Geology, the general physical features of the island and their influence on the character and pursuits of the inhabitants are given.

A monograph on the Coal Resources of the World was compiled by the Executive Committee of the Twelfth International Congress of Geology, which met at Toronto, Canada, August 7 to 14.

The total resources are estimated at 7,397,533 million tons, of which 4,000,000 million tons are bituminous, 3,000,000 million tons brown coal, and the remainder anthracite.

ENGINEERING.

The Lotschberg Tunnel through the Alps was officially opened June 20, 1913. It is the third longest in Europe, measuring over 9¼ miles, and cost nearly $10,000,000. Electric locomotives are used for hauling the trains. The tunnel and the electric railroad system operated in connection with it give improved service between France, Belgium and Italy.

The Union of South Africa Railways Construction act, approved June 14, 1913, authorized the building of many additional lines in Natal. The new construction authorized by Parliament, for the entire Union of South Africa, totals nearly 800 miles and will cost about $13,300,000.

Extensive improvements were made in the 61-mile Kaiser Wilhelm Canal connecting the North and Baltic Seas. The new canal locks are larger than those of the Panama Canal, being 1,082 feet long by 147 feet wide, and at the lowest stage of the water the depth is 36 feet.

A large number of irrigation projects are being worked on in India. It is estimated that upward of $182,000,000 will be spent in irrigating arid and, at present, non-productive land.

Work was started on a tunnel through the Continental Divide for the Denver and Salt Lake Railroad. The eastern portal will be at Tolland, 35 miles from Denver, Col. The tunnel will be 6.4 miles long, and will reduce by many hours the running time between Denver and Salt Lake City.

It was announced that work upon the Cape Cod Canal will be completed by July 1, 1914, and that the canal will be in use by the following November.

A provisional agreement on the construction of a 1,200 foot dock at Boston, Mass., has been reached between the Hamburg-American and the International Mercantile Marine Companies, and the Directors of the Port of Boston.

A report issued in 1913 on the Panama Canal stated that 99 per cent. of the concrete work has been completed, that only 20,000,000 cubic yards of dirt are still to be excavated, and the expenditure so far has been about $290,110,000.

A large number of engineering developments were planned in Argentina, S. A. The municipality of Bahia Blanca called for estimates on a drainage system to cost $1,500,000. New water supply and sewerage systems for Buenos Ayres were proposed, to cost over $20,000,000. A large electric light plant will be built, utilizing the Iguazu waterfalls.

About 200 miles of the New York State Barge Canal is completed and by the Spring of 1914 the entire section from Tonawanda to Rochester will be in operation.

The work of deepening and widening Ambrose Channel leading into New York Harbor was finished. The channel is 7 miles long, 2,000 feet wide and 40 feet deep at low tide. At night it is brilliantly lighted by buoys. Work was begun in 1901.

Contracts were signed for the construction of a railroad in China extending from the eastern border of inner Mongolia to Chen-tu in Szechwan, a distance of over 1,000 miles. Another railroad, of almost equal importance, will be built from Lanchow, on the southern border of Mongolia, to Kweichow on the Yangtze.

New York Subway, see index.

What is claimed to be the longest reinforced concrete arch in existence was built at Langwiez, Switzerland, on the Chur-Arosa Railway. The arch has a 160-foot rise and a clear length between abutments of 330 feet.

The subway extensions and new construction now in progress at Boston, Mass., will cost approximately $15,000,000 when finished.

The floating islands in the Halemauman crater, Hawaii, which present a particularly impressive picture, supported on a glowing lake of lava, were described in the American Journal of Science for March.

Col. Theodore Roosevelt and party left for the Amazon River, where they will spend several months exploring it and its tributaries.

EUROPE.

Hydrographic observations were simultaneously made in the North Sea, by vessels especially equipped for making such observations, from England, Sweden, Scotland and Holland.

An elaborate account of the vegetation of the Baltic coast of Germany was published by Dr. Hans Preuss.

The Tenth International Geographical Congress was held in Rome, Italy, from March 27 to April 3, 1913. The next meeting of the Congress will take place at St. Petersburg, Russia, in 1916.

Arrangements were made for determining the longitude between the Observatory at Paris, France, and the Naval Observatory, at Washington, D. C. The beats of the clocks at each are to be transmitted across the Atlantic by means of the wireless stations at Eifel Tower, and at Arlington, Va.

Plans have been prepared for a new port for the city of Milan, Italy. The port will cover an area of nearly 280 acres, and it is hoped that it will be ready on the completion of the great Venice-Milan waterway, which is to give passage to vessels up to 600 tons burden.

A publication of the Magistrato alle Acque of Venice, Italy, deals with the importance of collecting data on rainfall, foreseeing of floods, and forest laws, and gives information on the Venetian rivers.

A systematic study of present and past erosion of the coast of Samland, east of the Gulf of Danzig, was made by Dr. R. Bruckman.

A curious phenomenon took place on the piercing of the new tunnel through the Mont d'Or in the Swiss Jura. A large quantity of water was encountered, and at the same time the Blef Rouge, a tributary of the Doubs, dried up.

The University of Paris, France, will erect an Institute of Geography by the side of the Oceanographical Institute.

A descent was made into the crater of Mount Vesuvius by Prof. Mercalli of the Observatory of Mount Vesuvius and party. A depth of 1,200 feet was reached and, by means of a steel rope, soundings were made to a depth of 200 feet more, when on account of the heat the rope was fused. Before this occurred a temperature of 626 degrees Fahrenheit was registered.

An elaborate study of the surface forms of the Harz Mountains, was made by Dr. W. Behrmann, and published in Forschungen zur Deutschen Landes und Volkskunde.

The Turkish war in the Balkan Peninsula caused a rearrangement of the boundaries of Turkey, Bulgaria, Rumania, Montenegro and Servia. Bulgaria gained about 4,000 square miles.

A proposal to make the Azore archipelago an international neutral zone was considered by the United States, Germany and Great Britain.

The Long Valley, Aldershot, Eng., is described by A. G. Ogilvie in the June, 1913, Geographical Journal, as an area which exhibits many of the phenomena characteristic of deserts. The desert features are not due to aridity, but to the ceaseless erosion caused by the hoofs and wheels of cavalry and artillery.

POLAR RESEARCH.

Under the auspices of the Norwegian Government, Christian Leden left for the northeast coast of Canada. He will make a survey of the country and a special study of the Esquimau tribes, endeavoring to find out from them the fate of the Arctic explorer Andree, who attempted to reach the North Pole in a balloon in 1897.

Captain Koch, a Danish explorer, started in June, 1912, from the east coast of Greenland, and succeeded in reaching, after a year's travel, Proven near Upernink, on Baffin's Bay, having crossed from east to west the inland ice field.

No news has been received from the Schroeder-Stranz Arctic expedition, which left in 1912, to discover a northeast passage. A Norwegian relief party, in charge of Capt. Staxrud, reported in August, 1913, that no trace of the Schroeder-Stranz party had been found on Northeast Land.

The Stefansson Arctic Expedition, which left Nome Alaska, in the Summer of 1913, was organized to find out whether a polar continent exists, to map the islands east of the mouth of the Mackenzie River, and to study the blond Esquimaux of Coronation Gulf. The expedition expects to return in September, 1916.

Relief arrived just in time to save the lives of Dr. D. Mawson, the Australian Antarctic explorer and his five companions, who were left on Macquarie land, in the Antarctic Ocean, in March, 1913. The original expedition left Hobart, Tasmania, in December, 1911, its principal object being the exploration and survey of the Antarctic coast line.

Prof. Stormer and Dr. Birkeland spent February and March at Bosekop, in northern Norway, taking photographs of the aurora. The photographs were taken simultaneously from two stations about 2½ mies apart, in order to furnish means for computing the distance and altitude of the aurora.

An expedition to Franz Josef Land, under the command of M. Jules de Payer, left Havre, France, on August 10. The object is to explore the little known northeastern corner of Franz Josef Land.

After the return of the German Antarctic party, the steamer Deutschland undertook a new voyage to South Georgia. The position of the South Orkney Islands was found to need rectification on the charts, which also fail to show a series of reefs dangerous to navigation.

The main geographical tasks to be undertaken by the Crocker Land Expedition, which left New York in the Summer of 1913, are the determination of the extent of Crocker Land, the investigation of the region west and southwest of Cape T. Hubbard, and a study of the Greenland ice cap.

The achievements of Frank Wild and his seven companions, who formed the second base of the Australasian Antarctic Expedition, were made public. After leaving Dr. Mawson and the main party at Adelie Land, they discovered a tract of land having about 350 miles of coast, which they named Queen Mary's Land.

In an address before the Royal Geographical Society, Com. E. R. G. R. Evans outlined the British Antarctic Expedition in charge of Captain Scott, and the tragic death of Captain Scott and

COLORED MASONIC BODIES.

There are grand lodges in many different States of the United States and one in Canada. The Prince Hall Grand Lodge, of Massachusetts, is the oldest lodge, having been organized in the year 1808. It was the outgrowth of African Lodge, No. 459, the warrant for which was issued by the Grand Master of England to Prince Hall and fifteen other colored Masons September 29, 1784.

The approximate number of colored Masons in the United States and Canada is 150,000. The Grand Lodge of New York was organized in 1848. Information concerning this organization may be obtained from Harry A. Williamson, Grand Secretary, 294 Putnam Ave., Brooklyn, New York.

NOBLES OF THE MYSTIC SHRINE.

THE Ancient Arabic Order of the Nobles of the Mystic Shrine is not a regular Masonic body, but its membership is composed strictly of Masons who have reached the 32d degree, A. A. S. Rite (18th degree in England), or Knights Templar in good standing. There are 133 temples in the United States, and a total membership of about 185,446.

The following are the imperial officers for the United States for 1912-13: Potentate, W. Irwin, Wheeling, W. Va.; Imperial Chief Rabban, J. P. # The Episcopal General Convention.

BY AUGUSTIN McNALLY.

THE Fall of 1913 was notable, in the religious field, for extraordinary assemblages of the leaders of the several large denominations. Here in New York the General Convention of the Protestant Episcopal Church was assembled in forty-fourth session from October 8 to 25 inclusive. It was the first time in twenty-four years that the convention had honored this city with its presence, and its deliberations occupied considerable space in the daily press. Bishops travelled from European missionary posts and from Alaska to present their claims and participate in the legislation brought forward. On the morning of Wednesday, October 8, the members of the House of Bishops and the House of Deputies, which are the legislative bodies of the Episcopal Church in America, assembled in the Cathedral of St. John the Divine for a solemn service of Holy Communion, with which the convention was formally opened. The celebrant was the venerable Bishop of St. Louis, Right Rev. Daniel F. Tuttle, D. D. Bishop Lawrence, of Massachusetts, was the preacher. Immediately after, both bodies began their deliberations, the upper house convening in the old Synod Hall, the lower one in the new Synod Hall. The House of Bishops elected as its Chairman Right Rev. J. Boyd Vincent, Bishop of Southern Ohio. The House of Deputies selected the Rev. Dr. Alexander Mann, of Boston, as its Chief Executive.

The sum total of constructive legislation was not large, and, in the end, the Episcopal Church emerged as it had entered, a conservative one in respect of civil life and its own spiritual traditions. What seemed to be socialistic measures met with little or no encouragement in either house. Nearly every gamut of human emotion and human and spiritual ideals had their hour in the House of Deputies. Apart from purely administrative and internal legislation enacted, the popular measures, long heralded, were church unity and the movement to strike out the word "Protestant" from the legal title of the church. These two measures brought to the fore all the eloquence and dynamic force of two opposing elements, the Catholic Party and the Low Church Party. The heroic figure throughout the long and interesting debates was the rector of Trinity Church, Rev. Dr. W. T. Manning. In the beginning it seemed as if he were on the eve of a big spiritual victory. It seemed quite possible that the change of name could be effected by a bare majority. But Dr. Manning declared he wanted no split in his church. He was content to wait until the whole body has seen the wisdom of catholic ideals. As proof of his sincerity he introduced, on October 16, an amendment to the Constitution by virtue of which a vote of two-thirds of the dioceses would be necessary to make any change in the title page of the prayer book or the prayer book itself.

Though the debate was bitter, the motion to amend was carried by 106 to 24½. In defending his measure, Dr. Manning renewed, in stirring sentences, his appeal for the change of name. He declared that the word "Protestant" was entirely too sectarian. The resolution of Dr. Manning, unfortunately, was delayed in transmission to the upper house. In fact, the Bishops were almost on the eve of adjournment when it was discovered. They returned it with the frank statement that it was too important a subject to be discussed in the last hours of the convention. Dr. Manning was plainly disappointed. But he and his supporters did the next best thing. They succeeded in having passed by both houses a resolution appointing a commission to report on the subject at the next general convention.

Dr. Manning gave earnest support to two measures permitting intimate association with the mission bodies of other churches and the Federal Council of Churches. These propositions passed after considerable opposition from the extremists of the Catholic wing. The opposition set forth, substantially, that the idea of intimate activity with other denominations was fostering the sentiment that one church was as good as another. The upper house condemned the broad principles involved in both measures, but hinted acceptance with certain modifications. On October 24 both houses concurred in the recognition of monastic orders in the church. Prior to the passage of this measure the monastic bodies had only a semi-official standing in the dioceses where they have communities. The question of racial Bishops was the subject of heated discussion in both houses. The lower house avoided protracted debates by adopting a resolution appointing a new commission to report in 1914. The upper house was more direct. Shortly before adjourning, it announced that, by a unanimous vote, it favored the appointment of negro Bishops for specified sections and under the direction of the Bishop of the diocese. A proposal for a Court of Appeal, similar to the Tribunal of the Rota in the Roman Catholic body, was defeated by a vote of 115 to 16½. The upper house refused its concurrence in a proposal to amend the collect for Good Friday in such fashion that the words "Jews," "Infidels," etc., would be excluded. It did, however, unite with the lower body in an appeal to the Holy Orthodox (Eastern) Church of Russia to make formal pronouncement that the charges of so-called ritual murders are without foundation. From time to time the subject of change of name came up afresh, in diverse ways, showing the untiring activities of its supporters. Shortly before the adjournment it was brought to the front by a proposal to revise the text of the oath taken by Bishops. George Wharton Pepper, of Philadelphia, led the debate for the affirmative. He demanded the substitution of the word "Catholic" for "Protestant." It was again contended that the Episcopal was part of the Holy Catholic Church. In this instance the ritualists seemed to have a victory. By a vote of 231 to 131 they carried their motion and the subject was referred to a committee on the Enrichment of the Prayer Book. The upper house put its veto on a measure condemning in general the employment of child labor. It accepted, however, a similar measure with a modified text.

The following new Bishops were elected: the Rev. F. B. Howden, to be Bishop of New Mexico; the Rev. Charles Blaney Colmore, to be Bishop of Porto Rico; the Rev. William Cabbell Brown, to be Bishop of Cuba, and the Rev. Dr. John Poyntz Tyler, to be Bishop of North Dakota.

The convention made no changes whatever in the laws of the church relative to marriage and divorce. Discussion of the subject was evoked at different times, and the lower house suggested a joint commission to study the subject and report to the assemblage of 1914, but at no time did this question create any extraordinary commotion. Eugenics, votes for women and a proposition to add a group of new saints to the present list were some of the miscellaneous thoughts brought forward for a minute or two and as quickly forgotten. During the progress of the convention several auxiliary bodies of the church held meetings. The Women's Auxiliary raised a thank offering of $307,561, the largest in its history. A report on the state of the church shows the Episcopalians number a full million in this country, and have 5,670 clergymen in charge of 3,193 parishes and 7,063 church edifices. The total contributions for the three years preceding the convention amounted to $58,000,000. Dr. Manning, who had a large part in the discussion in the lower house and is regarded as the progressive leader of his church, dictated for THE WORLD ALMANAC the following thought on the convention, with which this article may be fittingly concluded:

"The striking feature of this convention has been its admirable and harmonious spirit. It may be said that little has been done in the way of constructive legislation, but the convention has other values besides those of legislation. Perhaps the greatest value of this meeting has been its educational value. At this convention, as at the last one, the questions which have excited the deepest interest have been those relative to the subject of Christian Unity."

The next general convention will be held in St. Louis in 1914.

* The totals are given to the nearest hundred thousand, and include Christians not separately specified. For countries outside Europe, Roman Catholics are not separately specified, but are included under the heading "Others." It is estimated that there are about 89 million Roman Catholics outside Europe, thus making a total in the world of about 268 millions, as against 177 million Protestants. Greek Catholics numbered 119,300,000. Buddhists and Brahminists about 550 millions. † Including Greek Catholics. ‡ Readjustment of boundaries owing to the Balkan war of 1912 will probably affect the figures given in table.

* The aggregate of 36,668,165 represents actual church membership, and includes all Catholics (communicants, but not unconfirmed minors). It does not give all persons affiliated by family ties to Protestant bodies. The larger of the Protestant bodies may claim twice the number of their communicants as nominal adherents.—Editor of The Almanac.

Note.—(a) Besides actual church members the Christian Scientists claim several hundred thousand unattached adherents. (b) The London Jewish Year Book for 1910 estimates the number of the Jewish race in the United States as 1,903,926.

SEATING CAPACITY OF CHURCHES.

The total seating capacity of church edifices reported in 1906, according to the Census Bulletin of August 20, 1909, was 58,536,830, an increase over 1890 of 14,976,767, or 34.4 per cent. The seating capacity reported for the Protestant bodies was 53,282,445; for the Roman Catholic Church, 4,494,377; and for the remaining bodies, 760,008. The rate of increase was practically the same for both the Protestants and the Roman Catholics, being 33.6 per cent. for the former, and 33.3 per cent. for the latter. The increase in the seating capacity of churches has kept pace with the increase in population, the seating capacity being 69.2 per cent. of the population in 1890, compared with 69.5 per cent. in 1906.

The average seating capacity per organization for the Protestant bodies taken together was 317, and for the Roman Catholic Church, 436. With the single exception of the Roman Catholic Church, all the denominations showed an average seating capacity considerably in excess of the average membership. For the Protestant bodies the average seating capacity was three times the average membership per organization, while for the Roman Catholic Church the average membership was almost two and one-fourth times the average seating capacity.

GENERAL SUMMARY OF THE ROMAN CATHOLIC CHURCH IN THE UNITED STATES.

Cardinals, 3; archbishops, 14; bishops, 100; archabbots, 2; abbots, 15; clergy, 17,945; churches, 14,312; seminaries, 85; students, 6,169; colleges for boys, 230; academies for girls, 684; parishes with schools, 5,256; attendance, 1,360,761; orphan asylums, 288; orphans, 47,415; children in institutions, 1,593,316; homes for aged, 108. Total Roman Catholic population, 15,154,158. (Report from Kenedy's Official Catholic Directory.)

Pope Pius X., nine years ago, announced his motto to be: "To restore all things in Christ."

Pius X. has effected marked changes in important matters of church government and discipline, and has been unrelenting in attacking the doctrinal errors of Modernism, which he calls the "synthesis of all heresies." He has reorganized the Roman Curia, made up of the various sacred congregations of cardinals who assist the Pope in the administration of church affairs, revived the venerable tribunal of the Rota, inaugurated a codification of canon law, transferred the church in the United States from the jurisdiction of the propaganda as a missionary land to the immediate supervision of the Cardinal Secretary of State in the Vatican itself, instituted in Rome a school for higher biblical studies, ordered the establishment of confraternities for the teaching of catechism in every parish, issued decrees reforming church music, introduced new legislation on marriage, recommended frequent and daily communion to the people, directed the first communion be given to children on reaching the age of reason, and on November 27, 1911, bestowed the red hat on eighteen prelates, three of whom are citizens of the United States: His Eminence, John Murphy Farley, of New York; His Eminence, William H. O'Connell, of Boston, and His Eminence, Diomede Falconio, former Apostolic Delegate at Washington, D.C. (From a statement furnished by the Chancellor of the Diocese of New York.)

The World Conference on Christian Unity,

FOR THE CONSIDERATION OF QUESTIONS TOUCHING FAITH AND ORDER.

(Report of the Joint Commission to the General Convention of the Protestant Episcopal Church.)

At the General Convention of the Protestant Episcopal Church in the United States of America in 1910 the following resolution was adopted:

"Whereas, There is to-day among all Christian people a growing desire for the fulfilment of our Lord's prayer that all His disciples may be one; that the world may believe that God has sent Him: Resolved,

"That a joint commission be appointed to bring about a conference for the consideration of questions touching faith and order, and that all Christian communions throughout the world which confess our Lord Jesus Christ as God and Saviour be asked to unite with us in arranging for and conducting such a conference. The Commission shall consist of seven bishops, appointed by the Chairman of the House of Bishops, and seven presbyters and seven laymen, appointed by the President of the House of Deputies, and shall have power to add to its number and to fill any vacancies occurring before the next General Convention."

C. P. Anderson, President, Bishop of Chicago.
Boyd Vincent, Bishop of Southern Ohio.
Thomas F. Gailor, Bishop of Tennessee.
A. C. A. Hall, Bishop of Vermont.
C. B. Brewster, Bishop of Ct.
Reginald H. Weller, Bishop of Fond du Lac.
Charles H. Brent, Bishop of the Philippine Islands.
David H. Greer, Bishop of New York.
Philip M. Rhinelander, Bishop of Pennsylvania.
William T. Manning, Chairman Executive Committee, Rector of Trinity Church, New York.
Alexander Mann, Rector of Trinity Church, Boston.
Francis J. Hall, Professor in the General Theological Seminary.
B. Talbot Rogers, Warden of Grafton Hall, Fond du Lac.
William M. Clark, Rector of St. James's Church, Richmond, Va.
Edward L. Parsons, Rector of St. Mark's Church, Berkeley, Cal.
Hugheil E. W. Fosbroke, Professor in the Episcopal Theological School.
Seth Low, New York.
George Wharton Pepper, Philadelphia.
Samuel Mather, Cleveland.
Francis Lynde Stetson, New York.
Edward P. Bailey, Chicago.
George Zabriskie, Treasurer, 49 Wall Street, New York.
Horace H. Lurton, Washington.
Robert H. Gardiner, Secretary, Gardiner, Me.

The Commission has carefully borne in mind the world-wide aspect of the proposed conference, and has sought with impartial anxiety to enlist the co-operation of both Catholic and Protestant bodies. This aim has been duly communicated to all who have been approached with regard to the conference, and a general understanding exists that the actual work of arranging for the World Conference shall not be directly undertaken until as adequate a representation as possible shall have been secured from all the chief groups of Christians—Catholic as well as Protestant.

Immediately after the appointment of the Commission in October, 1910, steps were taken to secure the co-operation of Christians in the United States. The leading Protestant communions in this country promptly and cordially responded, and the majority of them now have commissions or committees officially appointed to represent them. With a view to obtaining co-operation on the part of the Roman Catholic Church and of the Eastern Orthodox Churches, and as preliminary to more formal approaches, important conferences have been held by members of the Commission with Archbishop Platon of the Holy Orthodox Church of Russia in New York, and with Cardinal Gibbons and Cardinal Farley of the Roman Catholic Church. Archbishop Platon has expressed hearty approval of the undertaking and great interest in it, and has promised to urge the matter upon the cordial consideration of the Holy Orthodox Church of Russia. Similar expressions of interest and assurances of support have been received from Archbishop Seropian of the Church of Armenia.

The first interview with Cardinal Gibbons was soon after the organization of this Commission. His Eminence expressed friendly interest in the subject, a desire to be kept informed of the progress of the movement, and a conviction both that clear statements of positions would show them to be nearer together than had been supposed, and that only good could come of the effort to promote the spirit in which such a conference should be undertaken. Similar sentiments have been expressed orally by Cardinal Farley, and by letter by a number of other cardinals, archbishops, bishops and priests of the Roman Catholic Church in various parts of the world.

Up to October 15, 1913, the Secretary had received notice of the appointment of thirty commissions or committees. The names are given in the order in which the Secretary of the Commission received the lists of members, the country being the United States unless it is otherwise stated:

Protestant Episcopal Church.
National Council of Congregational Churches.
Disciples of Christ.
Presbyterian Church in the U. S. A.
Executive Committee of the Executive Commission of the Alliance of Reformed Churches holding the Presbyterian System, Western or American Section.
Methodist Episcopal Church, South.
Southern Baptist Convention.
Moravian Church in America, Northern Province.
Reformed Church in the U. S.
Methodist Episcopal Church.
General Synod of the Evangelical Lutheran Church in the U. S. A.
Presbyterian Church in the United States.
United Presbyterian Church of North America.
Northern Baptist Convention.
Free Baptist Conference.
Reformed Church in America.
Reformed Presbyterian Church in North America.
Church of England in Canada.
Seventh Day Baptist General Conference.
Chinese Church, Chung Hua Sheng Kung Hui.
Church of England.
Moravian Church in America, Southern Province.
Moravian Church in Great Britain and Ireland.
Methodist Church in Canada.
Church of England in Argentina.
Episcopal Church in Scotland.
Baptist Union of Great Britain and Ireland.
Nippon Sei Kokwai (the Holy Catholic Church of Japan).
Church of England in Australia and Tasmania.
Church of England in India.
Disciples of Christ in Great Britain.
United Methodist Church in England.
Wesleyan Methodist Conference in England, which will act also for the Methodist Church in Ireland.

Invitations to appoint co-operating commissions have been sent to the following communions, from which no reply has been received up to October 15, 1913. In many cases, owing to the date of an official triennial or biennial gathering at which the necessary action must be taken, and in other cases owing to the recent despatch of the invitation, there has not yet been time for a reply to be received.

The Baptist Churches—United States: National Baptist Convention; Scotland; Wales; West

Indies; the Ontario and Quebec (which has referred the invitation to its executive), the Maritime, and the Western Baptist Conventions in Canada; the six Baptist Churches or Unions in Australia and Tasmania; New Zealand.

The Congregational Churches. Canada: Though no commission has yet been appointed, a representative has been named to receive communications; England and Wales: Sympathy expressed and the matter referred to counc l at next meeting; Scotland; Australasia; New Zealand.

Disciples of Christ. Australia.

The German Evangelical Synod of North America. United States: Referred to the next synod.

The Lutheran Churches. United States: The General Council of the Evangelical Lutheran Church; the United Synod South; the Synodical Conference; the Ohio Joint Synod; the United Norwegian Lutheran Church of America. This church is at present trying to bring about a union between all the Norwegian Lutherans in the United States, and is not disposed to take any other action with regard to unity until it has succeeded in this.

The Mennonite Churches. United States: The General Conference of the Mennonite Church in North America; the Mennonite Church.

The Methodist Churches. England: Primitive Methodist; declined April 25, 1913; United States: The Wesleyan Methodist Connection; the Methodist Protestant Church; the African Methodist Episcopal Church; Australasia; New Zealand.

The Moravian Church. Jamaica.

The Presbyterian Churches. Canada; England: Referred to its Executive Commission, meeting November 20, 1913; Calvinistic Methodist, referred to General Assembly; Ireland: Referred to its officers; Scotland: The Church of Scotland, referred to a committee; the Free Church of Scotland; the United Free Church of Scotland, referred to Committee on Assembly Arrangements; West Indies; Australia; New Zealand.

The Cumberland Presbyterian Church. United States: Invitation refused June 27, 1911.

Reformed Episcopal Church. United States.

Swedish Augustana Synod. United States.

United Brethren in Christ. United States.

In the West Indies, the Archbishop of the Church of England, and representatives of the Moravians, Presbyterians and others, are forming a working committee to further the objects in view.

The Commission has been able, at present, to issue invitations to Non-Anglican Communions only in the United States, Canada, the West Indies, England, Scotland, Ireland, Australia and Tasmania, and New Zealand, except that it was found possible to send an invitation to the Old Catholic churches in Europe.

The Commission hopes soon to be able to take up actively the work of issuing invitations in other countries, and the way for this has been already somewhat prepared by the wide distribution of our literature.

On May 8, 1913, an informal conference was held in New York, in which representatives of all the commissions at present appointed in the United States were invited to take part. It was the first meeting, on any considerable scale, of representatives of the different commissions for mutual counsel and for joint consideration of the problems involved in the work of preparing for the World Conference. Nothing could have been more encouraging than the spirit and temper of the gathering. There was deep realization of the difficulties with which this undertaking is confronted, but the spirit of the meeting was one of courage and hope, and of faith in the present power of God the Holy Spirit.

At the conclusion of the meeting the following resolutions were adopted as expressive of the results reached in conference and not theretofore embodied in formal resolutions:

1. That the true ideal of the World Conference is of a great meeting participated in by men of all Christian Churches with n the scope of the call, at which there shall be consideration not only of points of difference and agreement between Christians, but of the values of the various approximations of belief characteristic of the several Churches.

2. That while organic unity is the ideal which all Christians should have in their thoughts and prayers, yet the business of the commissions is not to force any particular scheme of unity, but to promote the holding of such a conference as is above described.

3. That in order that the World Conference may have a maximum value, the questions there to be considered shall be formulated in advance by committees of competent men representative of various schools of thought, these committees to be appointed at as early a date as is consistent with assurance that their truly representative character cannot be successfully challenged.

4. That among the subjects for joint consideration by the Executive Committee of the Episcopal Commission and the General Committee appointed at this meeting are the following:

First What questions must be considered before it can be decided how the World Conference shall be convened, what its membership shall be, and when and where it shall assemble.

Second. How such prior questions can best be considered and answered.

Third. How the matters for consideration by the World Conference shall be ascertained and referred to the committees which are to study them, and how and when those committees shall be appointed.

From 20,000 to 30,000 letters and postcards relating to the subject of the World Conference have been received by the secretary, besides a great mass of newspapers, pamphlets, sermons, etc., and in addition a great number of letters have been received and sent by the President of the Commission, the Chairman of the Executive Committee, and other members of the Commission.

SEVENTH-DAY ADVENTISTS.

The following statement has been prepared by H. E. Rogers, Statistical Secretary of the General Conference:

The doctrine of the second coming of Christ was preached extensively in the United States and Europe during 1840-1844, and found adherents in many denominations. (The circulation of books and journals on this question deepened the interest, and this study and agitation brought about the formation of a movement which assumed definite form in 1846 in the New England States and was later organized as the Seventh-Day Adventist denomination). The chief tenets of this body are a belief in the literal, personal second appearance of Christ, yet without ever setting a time for that event, and the observance of the seventh day of the week as the Sabbath. They believe that the dead sleep until Christ's second coming; that the righteous dead are then raised to life, and that the living righteous are made immortal. Their total communicants throughout the world is 114,206. They have 126 organized conferences, 100 mission fields, 2,874 churches, 90 advanced educational institutions, 573 primary schools; total enrolment, 23,807.

Beginning in 1894, active work was begun in non-Christian lands, and has been continued until the present, so that a segregation of the work conducted in non-Christian and non-Protestant lands, from the foregoing figures, indicates the following: Mission work is carried forward in 68 countries, with a total foreign force of 1,481 helpers. There are 507 churches, 18,287 adherents, 8,630 pupils in 151 schools taught by 329 foreign and native teachers.

The headquarters is in Washington, D. C.

THE LATTER-DAY SAINTS.

The Mormons is a term applied to the members of the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-Day Saints. This church was organized April 6, 1830, with six members, by Joseph Smith, at Fayette, Seneca County, N. Y. After being driven by mobs from various places in Missouri, Ohio, and Illinois, they settled at Great Salt Lake, Utah, under the leadership of Brigham Young, in 1847. The total church membership is about 450,000, and the number of missionaries, about 2,000.

LATTER-DAY SAINTS' REORGANIZED CHURCH.

The Reorganized Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-Day Saints is a separate body, having its headquarters at Lamoni, Iowa. Its membership now numbers 68,211. It has 347 active ministers in the field, 31,066 Sunday-school members and 628 Sunday-schools. It claims to be the church in succession to the one founded by Joseph Smith in 1830. It was reorganized in 1860, and is presided over by Joseph Smith, of Independence, Mo., son of the Prophet. Presiding Bishop—Edmund L. Kelley, Independence, Mo. General Church Secretary—Richard S. Salvards, Lamoni, Iowa. The only church of this denomination in New York City is at Park Place and Schenectady Avenue, Brooklyn, N. Y. Pastor—E. B. Hull, 1339 Prospect Place, Brooklyn, N. Y.

MISSIONARY EDUCATION MOVEMENT.

Chairman—Fred P. Haggard. Vice-Chairman—Samuel Thorne, Jr. Recording Secretary—F. C. Stephenson. General Secretary—Harry W. Hicks. Treasurer—James S. Cushman. Headquarters, 156 Fifth Avenue, New York City.

YOUNG PEOPLE'S SOCIETY OF CHRISTIAN ENDEAVOR.

President—Rev. Francis E. Clark, D. D. General Secretary—William Shaw.

Each society is in some local church, and in no sense outside. It exists simply to make the young people loyal and efficient members of the Church of Christ. It is the church training the young. Its motto is, "For Christ and the Church." In July, 1913, there were more than 75,000 societies, with a membership of 3,953,850, chiefly in the United States and Canada, and in Australia, Great Britain, China, India, Japan, and in all missionary lands. It is found in about the same proportions in all the great evangelical denominations and in all their sub-divisions. Headquarters, Tremont Temple, Boston, Mass.

AMERICAN SUNDAY-SCHOOL UNION.

The First Day Society, founded in Philadelphia in 1791, still active, led to the formation of the Philadelphia Sunday and Adult School Union in 1817. With other similar societies it was changed to the American Sunday-school Union in 1824. Its object is twofold: To establish and maintain Sunday-schools; to publish and circulate moral and religious publications. It is a voluntary union of Christians of different denominations to teach the truths of our common Christianity as they are taught in the Bible.

Its great field is the rural districts. The Philadelphia Union began with one juvenile book in 1817, and one missionary in 1821. The American Sunday-School Union now issues a thousand works and nine periodicals. In eighty-eight years it has circulated $12,000,000 to $15,000,000 worth of Bibles, testaments and religious works. In ten years it founded 24,962 Sunday-schools, with 964,550 members; resulting in 218,083 hopeful conversions and 1,213 churches. In eighty-nine years the Union has founded 124,613 Sunday-schools, with 5,560,636 members. It employs Sunday-school missionaries, who have organized an average of four new Sunday-schools for each day of the last eighty years. Its benevolent work costs $225,000 yearly. Officers: President, Martin L. Finckel; Vice-Presidents, William N. Ashman, Richard Ashhurst, Clarkson Clothier; Recording Secretary, William H. Hirst; Treasurer, John E. Stevenson. Headquarters, 1816 Chestnut Street, Philadelphia, Pa.

NATIONAL WOMAN'S CHRISTIAN TEMPERANCE UNION.

The National W. C. T. U. was organized in Cleveland, Ohio, in 1874, and is the sober second thought of the great woman's crusade. It is now regularly organized in every State of the Union.

There are about 12,000 local unions, with a membership and following, including the children's societies, of about half a million. The W. C. T. U. has forty distinct departments of work, presided over by as many women experts, in the national and in nearly every State organization. All the States have laws requiring the study of scientific temperance in the public schools, and all these laws were secured by the W. C. T. U.; also the laws forbidding the sale of tobacco to minors. The first police matrons and most industrial homes for girls were secured through the efforts of this society, as were the refuges for erring women.

The World's W. C. T. U. was founded by Frances E. Willard in 1883, and has auxiliaries in more than fifty countries and provinces. The white ribbon is the badge of all the W. C. T. U. members, and is now a familiar emblem in every civilized country.

The headquarters of the National organization is The Willards Rest Cottage, Evanston, Ill. The following are the officers: President, Mrs. Lillian M. N. Stevens, Portland, Me.; Vice-President-at-Large, Miss Anna A. Gordon, Evanston, Ill.; Corresponding Secretary, Mrs. Frances P. Parks, Evanston, Ill.; Treasurer, Mrs. Elizabeth P. Hutchinson, Evanston, Ill.

THE VEDANTA SOCIETY.

The Vedanta Society of New York was established in 1894 by Swami Vivekananda of India and was regularly incorporated in 1898 by Swami Abhedananda. The object of the society is to explain through logic and reason the spiritual laws that govern our lives; to show that the True Religion of the Soul is not antagonistic to, but in harmony with, philosophy and science; to establish that Universal Religion which underlies all the various sects and creeds of special religions; to propagate the principles taught by great seers of Truth and religious leaders of different countries; and to help mankind in the practical application of those principles in their spiritual, moral, intellectual and physical needs.

The present headquarters of the society with its Circulating Library, Reading Room and Meditation Room is at 135 West Eightieth Street, New York City.

The officers of the society are: President—W. N. Goodyear. Vice-President—R. W. Cooke. Secretary—H. R. Hosback.

The society has a large publishing department and issues a catalogue containing nearly forty titles of works on the Philosophy and Religion of Vedanta. Within the last five years it has sent out from its headquarters 39,876 books and pamphlets written by Swamis of India. There are also centres in Pittsburgh, San Francisco, Los Angeles and Washington, D. C., besides a Peace Retreat in the mountains of Santa Clara County, Cal. These organizations in America are affiliated with hundreds of Vedanta Societies throughout India and Ceylon.

AMERICAN BOARD OF COMMISSIONERS FOR FOREIGN MISSIONS.

The head office of the American Board of Commissioners for Foreign Missions is at the Congregational House, 14 Beacon Street, Boston, Mass. There are three district offices: (1) at the United Charities Building, Twenty-second Street and Fourth Avenue, New York City, Rev. E. L. Smith, D. D., Secretary; (2) 19 S. La Salle Street, Chicago, Ill., Rev. A. N. Hitchcock, D. D., District Secretary; (3) Mechanics' Savings Bank Building, San Francisco, Cal., Rev. H. M. Tenney, District Secretary. Its officers are: President—Samuel B. Capen, LL. D., Boston, Mass. Corresponding Secretaries—James L. Barton, LL. D., Cornelius H. Patton, D. D. Treasurer—Frank H. Wiggin.

The American Board, which is the oldest foreign missionary society in the United States, was organized June 29, 1810. During its history it has sent out over 3,000 missionaries, of whom 611 are now in service. Into the 629 churches which have been organized by these missionaries there have been received from the first 224,582 members. The total receipts from the beginning have been $43,305,196; for year 1913, $1,048,938.

The mission fields now occupied by the board are: Mexico; Micronesian Islands; Mindanao, Philippine Islands; Japan; North China; Shansi, in Northwestern China; Foochow and Canton, in Southern China; Ceylon; Madura, in Southern India; the Marathi field of Western India; in Southern Africa, the Rhodesian Branch and the Zulu Branch; West Central Africa; European and Asiatic Turkey; Austria, Spain, Greece and Servia.

INTERNATIONAL ORDER OF THE KING'S DAUGHTERS AND SONS.

Headquarters, 156 5th Ave., New York City. Officers: President—Miss Kate Bond. General Secretary and Treasurer—Mrs. Mary Lowe Dickinson.

The order is an interdenominational, religious and philanthropic society, working locally in Circles, County and City Unions, Chapters, National, State and Provincial organizations. Branches are established in thirty-two States and in eight Canadian provinces.

The objects of the order are "the development of spiritual life and the stimulation of Christian activities." It has a paid membership in all countries of 52,000. The order has established and is supporting several hundred institutions of different kinds in different localities. Its members are engaged in every form of helpful work, religious, educational and philanthropic. The badge is a small silver cross, which is also the corporate seal of the society. A monthly magazine, The Silver Cross, is the official organ of the order.

THE DAUGHTERS OF THE KING.

The Order of the Daughters of the King was organized on Easter evening, 1885. It is desired by its promoters that a careful distinction shall be made between the Daughters of the King and the King's Daughters. This is the older organization, and differs from the King's Daughters in many important particulars. In the first place, it is an order, and is distinctively Episcopal. Its work is definite, and is "for the spread of Christ's kingdom among women," and the "active support of the rector's plans in the parish in which the particular chapter may be located." Its emblem is a cross of silver, a Greek cross fleury, and its motto is "Magnanimeter Crucem Sustine" and its watchword "For His Sake." Its colors are white and blue—white, the old royal color of Israel, and blue, the color of the Virgin Mary, the "blessed daughter of Israel's King, the Mother of the King of Kings." Its Constitution is framed, as far as is possible, in the terms of that of the Brotherhood of St. Andrew, the work of the two organizations being similar. The officers of the Council are: President—Mrs. Adam Denmead, Baltimore, Md. General Secretary—Emma E. Behlendorff. Office of the Council, Church Missions House, 281 Fourth Avenue, New York.

UNITED BRETHREN CHRISTIAN ENDEAVOR UNION.

The union was organized June 5, 1890. It is a union of all forms of young people's societies within the Church of the United Brethren in Christ. There are now 2,178 societies, with 89,125 members. Each conference is called a Branch and holds its annual conventions, when a review of the year's work is made and new plans are laid. The Watchword is the organ of the union. Its circulation is 40,000. H. F. Shupe, D. D., Dayton, Ohio, is editor. The principal officers are: President—Rev. J. G. Huber, D. D., Dayton, Ohio. General Secretary—Rev. O. J. Deever, Dayton, Ohio.

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE.

The Christian Science Publication Committee contributes the following statement:

There are many teachers of Christian Science, and upward of 5,300 practitioners of Christian Science mind-healing. Organizations can now be found in almost every city in the United States, and there are branches in Canada, Nova Scotia, British Columbia, Mexico, the British West Indies, the Hawaiian Islands, Cuba, Philippine Islands, Holland, Sweden, British Isles, France, Germany, Norway, Switzerland, Italy, Australia, New South Wales, India, China, South Africa, Argentina, Chile, Russia, Panama, and many other countries. The churches and societies number 1,451.

In all of the churches the Sunday services are uniform, and consist of correlative passages read from the Bible and the Christian Science text-book, "Science and Health, with Key to the Scriptures," by Mary Baker Eddy. On Wednesday evening testimony meetings are held.

Mrs. Eddy said in her book "Retrospection and Introspection": "I claim for healing scientifically the following advantages: 1. It does away with all material medicines and recognizes the antidote for all sickness, as well as sin, in the immortal mind; and mortal mind as the source of all the ills which befall mortals. 2. It is more effectual than drugs, and cures when they fail or only relieve, thus proving the superiority of metaphysics over physics. 3. A person healed by Christian Science is not only healed of his disease, but he is advanced morally and spiritually. The mortal body being but the objective state of the mortal mind, this mind must be renovated to improve the body.'' The absence of creed and dogma in the Christian Science Church, its freedom from materialism, mysticism and superstition, also the simplicity, uniformity and impersonality of its form of worship and organization, are among the distinguishing features which characterize this modern religious movement. Hypnotism, mesmerism, spiritualism, theosophy, faith cure and kindred systems are foreign to true Christian Science. Those practising these beliefs are denied admission to the Christian Science Church.

THE THEOSOPHICAL SOCIETY.

The Theosophical Society was founded in New York City on November 17, 1875, by Mme. H. P. Blavatsky and Col. Henry S. Olcott, but its headquarters was removed in 1879 to Adyar, Madras, India, where the President, Mrs. Annie Besant, resides. Its objects are three: (a) To form a nucleus of the universal brotherhood of humanity, without distinction of race creed, sex, caste, or color; (b) to encourage the study of comparative religion, philosophy and science; (c) to investigate unexplained laws of nature and the powers latent in man. It has now twenty-two territorial sections, each presided over by a general secretary, three by Presidential agents: America, England, Wales, India, Scandinavia, Holland, Hungary, France, Italy, Germany, Australia, Cuba, Finland, Russia, Bohemia, South Africa, Scotland, Switzerland, Belgium, Dutch East Indies, South America, Spain, Ireland, and New Zealand. During the 38 years of its existence it has admitted 30,000 members and chartered over 1,405 branches. The membership at present of the American section is about 4,065; there are 137 branches. Although there is but one dogma in the society, namely, the belief in the Universal Brotherhood of Man, yet Reincarnation and Karma are among some of the basic stones of the Theosophical system. General Secretary—A. P. Warrington, Krotona, Hollywood, Los Angeles, Cal., contributes the above statement.

THE NATIONAL SPIRITUALISTS' ASSOCIATION.

Organized September 28, 1893; incorporated November 1, 1893, at Washington, D. C. The object of said association shall be the organization of the various Spiritualist societies of the United States into one general association for the purpose of mutual aid and co-operation in benevolent, charitable, educational, literary, musical, scientific, religious, and missionary purposes and enterprises germane to the phenomena, science, philosophy, and religion of Spiritualism.

Active working local societies, 600; State associations, 24; other local societies meeting at irregular intervals, 400; public meetings not organized as societies, 500; camp meeting associations, 32; academy for liberal education, 1; churches and temples, 200; membership of avowed Spiritualists, 600,000; unidentified with organized societies, but believers in the philosophy and phenomena and frequent attendants upon public services, 1,500,000 to 2,000,000; number of public mediums, 1,500; private mediums, many thousands; ordained ministers, 500; total valuation of church, temple and camp meeting property, $6,000,000.

President—Dr. George B. Warne, 749 Oakwood Boulevard, Chicago; Secretary—George W. Kates, 600 Pennsylvania Ave., S. E., Washington, D. C.; Treasurer—Cassius L. Stevens, Pittsburgh, Pa. Headquarters, 600 Pennsylvania Ave., Washington, D. C. The next annual convention will be held in Boston, Mass., October, 1914.

THE UNIVERSAL BROTHERHOOD AND THEOSOPHICAL SOCIETY.

The Universal Brotherhood and Theosophical Society, founded by Mme. H. P. Blavatsky in New York, 1875, continued after her death under the leadership of the co-founder, William Q. Judge, and now, under the leadership of their successor, Katherine Tingley, has its international headquarters at the world's Theosophical centre, Point Loma, Cal.

This organization declares that brotherhood is a fact in nature. The principal purpose of the organization is to teach brotherhood, demonstrate that it is a fact in nature, and make it a living power in the life of humanity, establishing Raja Yoga schools throughout the world, and creating a new literature. Its subsidiary purpose is to study ancient and modern religion, science, philosophy, and art, to investigate the laws of nature and the latent divine powers in man. It declares in its constitution that every member has a right to believe or disbelieve in any religious system or philosophy, each being required to show that tolerance for the opinions of others which he expects for his own.

Secretary—Mr. J. H. Fussell, Point Loma, Cal.

THE BROTHERHOOD OF ANDREW AND PHILIP.

This organization, founded by Rev. Rufus W. Miller in Reading, Pa., in 1888, held its first federal convention in the city of New York in 1893. It is composed of members of twenty-six evangelical denominations, among them the Reformed Church in America, the Reformed Church in the United States, the Congregational, Presbyterian (North, South, Canadian, and United), Methodist Episcopal, Methodist Protestant, Baptist, United Brethren, Lutheran, Reformed Episcopal, Church of Christ, Progressive Brethren, Friends, United Evangelical, Free Baptist, Federal, African Methodist Episcopal, and Evangelical Association. It has chapters in Australia and Japan, China and England. Its objects are embodied in the statement that "any man can belong to the brotherhood who will promise to pray daily for the spread of the kingdom of Christ among men, and to make an earnest effort each week to bring at least one man within the hearing of the Gospel.'' The number of chapters of the brotherhood in the United States is 1,000, and the membership 30,000; 102 boys' chapters enrolling 1,972 members. The office of Rev. R. Howard Taylor, General Secretary, is at 1328 Chestnut Street, Philadelphia, Pa.

THE BROTHERHOOD OF ST. ANDREW.

"The Brotherhood of St. Andrew is an organization of men in the Protestant Episcopal Church. Its sole object is the spread of Christ's kingdom among men. It works under two rules, known as (1) The Rule of Prayer: To pray daily for the spread of Christ's kingdom among men, especially young men, and for God's blessing upon the labors of the brotherhood, and (2) The Rule of Service: To make at least one earnest effort each week to lead some man nearer to Christ through His church.'' There are now 1,500 active chapters with a membership of about 15,000 men.

The Brotherhood of St. Andrew in the Church of England in the Dominion of Canada has been formed, with 500 chapters and 4,500 men. A similar organization has been formed in the Scottish Episcopal Church. In the West Indies there is a membership of 1,000 men, and there is also a national organization in Japan. June 12, 1896, the Brotherhood of St. Andrew in the Church of England was formed, and now has a membership of 1,200.

The brotherhood in the United States includes a Junior Department. It has 500 chapters in the United States, with about 6,000 members.

SOUTHERN BAPTIST CONVENTION.

President—Edwin C. Dargan, Macon, Ga. Secretaries—Lansing Burrows, Americus, Ga., Oliver F. Gregory, Staunton, Va.

It shall be the design of the convention to promote foreign and domestic missions, and other important objects connected with the Redeemer's kingdom, and to combine for this purpose such portions of the Baptist denomination in the United States as may desire a general organization for Christian benevolence, which shall fully respect the independence and equal rights of the churches.

NATIONAL CONFERENCE OF CHARITIES AND CORRECTION.

The National Conference of Charities and Correction meets annually. The Forty-first Session—1914—will be at Memphis, Tenn., in May. President—Graham Taylor, Chicago, Ill. Treasurer—Washington Loan and Trust Company, Washington, D. C. General Secretary—Wm. T. Cross, 315 Plymouth Court, Chicago, Ill.

The purpose of the National Conference is to be a forum for discussion of the various problems of philanthropy, penology and social progress. The conference does not formulate platforms nor adopt resolutions calling for action. Proceedings published, cloth bound, about 650 to 700 pages; price $2.00.

The Secretary's office includes a bureau of information on all subjects concerning charity and correction, service free to members of the conference. Annual dues $2.50. Sustaining membership, $10.00. Headquarters, Chicago, Ill.

AMERICAN ASSOCIATION OF SOCIETIES FOR ORGANIZING CHARITIES.

The chief work of the association is to carry the message of organized charity throughout the country, and to assist in the formation of new societies, in response to a call which will probably exceed all present resources for such work.

Executive Committee—John F. Moors, Boston, Mass., Chairman; W. E. Cummer, Vice-Chairman. Treasurer—W. Frank Persons. General Secretary—Francis H. McLean. General Office, 105 East Twenty-second Street, New York City.

LAKE MOHONK CONFERENCE.

Secretary—H. C. Phillips, Mohonk Lake, N. Y.

The first Lake Mohonk Conference was held in 1883, when Mr. Albert K. Smiley, who was a member of the Board of Indian Commissioners, invited a number of those interested in Indian affairs to a meeting at Mohonk Lake to confer regarding measures affecting the interests of the Indians. This was the first of a series of October meetings, which has been continued to the present day. On Mr. Smiley's death, his brother Daniel Smiley, succeeded him as host of the conferences.

In 1904 the scope of the conference was enlarged to include the peoples of the Philippines, Porto Rico and other dependencies of the United States.

The conference seeks to clarify public opinion on these great questions through free discussion by those having first-hand knowledge of existing conditions.

LAKE MOHONK CONFERENCE ON INTERNATIONAL ARBITRATION.

The first of these conferences was held in 1895. The purpose is specifically to create and direct public sentiment in favor of international arbitration and an international court, and generally to encourage the substitution of pacific methods for war in settling disputes between nations. The conference maintains a permanent office.

THE FEDERAL COUNCIL OF THE CHURCHES OF CHRIST IN AMERICA.

The Federal Council was organized as the chief consummation of the National Federation of Churches at its first meeting, held in Philadelphia, December 2-8, 1908. It is the delegated congress of thirty leading Christian bodies which are constitutionally federated for the purpose of providing this congress through which to realize their fellowship and united action. The Federal Council, through its Committees and Secretaries, seeks to organize efficient State and local federations, to secure co-operation in home missionary work, and to promote moral reform and social service by the churches throughout the United States.

The following churches are represented in this Federal Council: Baptist (North), Free Baptist, Christian, Congregational, Disciples of Christ, Evangelical Association, Evangelical Synod, Friends, General Synod, Methodist Episcopal, Methodist Episcopal (South), Primitive Methodist, Colored Methodist Episcopal, Methodist Protestant, African Methodist Episcopal, African Methodist Episcopal Zion, Mennonite, Moravian, Presbyterian, Presbyterian South, Welsh Presbyterian, Reformed Presbyterian, United Presbyterian, Protestant Episcopal, Reformed Church in America, Reformed Church in the U. S. A., Reformed Episcopal, Seventh Day Baptist, United Brethren in Christ, United Evangelical, National Baptist Convention.

The Council has active Commissions on Foreign Missions, Home Missions, Sunday Observance, Evangelism, Peace and Arbitration, Temperance, Family Life, Social Service, and Christian Education. The executive and field work of the Council is in charge of the Executive Secretary, Rev. Chas. S. Macfarland, D. D.; Rev. E. B. Sandford, D. D., is Honorary Secretary; Rev. Charles S. Macfarland, Ph. D., is Secretary of the Commission on the Church and Social Service. The officers may be addressed at the National office, Clarendon Building, 215 Fourth Avenue, New York City.

RELIGIOUS EDUCATION ASSOCIATION.

The Religious Education Association was organized on February 12, 1903, at the close of a three days' convention held in Chicago, called to consider the improvement of moral and religious education. Its object is the promotion of moral and religious training in existing educational agencies, in homes and through the press. It has no theological platform. It now enrolls over 3,000 members, including laymen, college Presidents and professors, pastors, teachers and parents, interested in the problem of reverent, scientific, effective character training.

LUTHER LEAGUE OF AMERICA.

President—Wm. C. Stoever, Philadelphia, Pa. Secretary—Luther M. Kuhns, Omaha, Neb.

The first National Convention of the Luther League of America was held at Pittsburgh, Pa., October 30 and 31, 1895. The League is a Lutheran organization, linking together the Lutheran young people who are laboring for the good of the church by means of many individual societies of various names and styles of organization, each within its own immediate church. The Constitution declares that its objects shall be "to encourage the formation of the young people's societies in all Lutheran congregations in America, to urge their affiliation with their respective State or Territorial leagues, and with this league to stimulate the various young people's societies to greater Christian activity and to foster the spirit of loyalty to the church." The fundamental principles are federation and co-operation, and it is non-synodical in character. The membership of the various organizations is over 100,000. These are comprised in twenty-five States, fourteen of which already have permanent State organizations and four foreign countries. The first local organization adopting the title of "The Luther League" was organized by delegates of six Lutheran Church societies in the city of New York, April 19, 1888.

Organizations of this league exist in Canada Porto Rico, Japan, China and India.

The Volunteers of America.

THIS statement of the inauguration, purposes, and advance of The Volunteers of America has been prepared by its President, General Ballington Booth, for THE WORLD ALMANAC.

The Volunteers of America is a philanthropic, social and Christian movement. It was inaugurated in March, 1896, in response to a number of requests on the part of American citizens. It was subsequently incorporated on November 6, 1896, under the Membership act of the State of New York. It is organized in military style, having as its model the United States Army, but in conjunction with military discipline and methods of work it possesses a thoroughly democratic form of government. Its constitution and by-laws are framed by a Grand Field Council, which represents the minor councils of officers throughout the country annually. Though only seventeen years old the Volunteers have representatives and branches of their benevolent cause in almost all the principal centres of the United States.

The Volunteers have some 44 principal homes and institutions of benevolence, many of which are Volunteer property, and are open for poor and deserving people in different sections of the country. During the past year no less than 35,443 beds have been provided for all classes of women in the Volunteers' Women's Homes. The commissioned workers in their visitation called upon and aided, in one form or another, no less than 26,154 families. This was primarily in the poorer sections of the large cities. In the different permanent philanthropic homes and institutions no less than 153,338 free lodgings have been given, and 270,168 have been paid for by work and other means, while 529,125 free meals were given, and 354,330 meals were distributed to persons who paid for them, many doing so by work.

In their latest undertaking, which has proved a large responsibility, that is, the Volunteer Hospital work, which hospital is located at 93 Gold Street, New York City, in the shadow of the Brooklyn Bridge, there have been 1,214 ambulance calls, 362 major operations, 5,796 days' treatment given to patients in the surgical and medical wards, 11,879 new cases treated, 20,031 old cases treated, and a total during the year of not less than 31,910 cases of all kinds surgically and medically treated in the institution. In addition, physicians connected with the hospital made visits to 121 homes.

The Volunteer Prisoners' League has embraced upward of some 75,000 members since its inauguration. It has leagues in nearly 30 State prisons, and over seventy per cent. of those having left the prisons are, through their Hope Halls, living reformed and honest lives. Through the Fresh Air branch of the work many thousands of mothers and children have been taken from crowded cities for a change in the open air amid hills and lakes, rivers and dales. From the regimental reports of Volunteer centres, it is carefully calculated that 844,011 persons were gathered to their indoor services, while 2,063,893 persons were listeners in God's natural cathedral, their open-air stands. By these services 5,182 were led to promise that they would lead a new life.

In addition to the Volunteer reading rooms, thousands of copies of Christian literature are circulated in the State prisons, jails, hospitals, soldiers' homes, and children's homes. In connection with the Volunteers there are also sewing classes, hospital nursing, temporary financial relief departments, fresh air camps, Thanksgiving and Christmas dinners, and many other worthy undertakings. The headquarters of The Volunteers of America is at 34 West Twenty-eighth Street, New York City. The principal officers are General and Mrs. Ballington Booth, Presidents; General Edward Fielding, Vice-President; Colonel Walter J. Crafts, Treasurer, and Colonel James W. Merrill, National Secretary.

CHURCH OF GOD.

The historic and patriotic Order of the Cincinnati was founded by the American and French officers at the cantonments of the Continental army on the Hudson at the close of hostilities in the War of the Revolution for American Independence, May 10. 1783.

In forming the society it was declared that, "To perpetuate, therefore, as well the remembrance of this vast event as the mutual friendships which have been formed under the pressure of common danger, and, in many instances, cemented by the blood of the parties, the officers of the American army do hereby, in the most solemn manner, associate, constitute, and combine themselves into one Society of Friends, to endure as long as they shall endure, or any of their eldest male posterity, and in failure thereof the collateral branches who may be judged worthy of becoming its supporters and members."

For convenience, thirteen State societies were formed, and one in France, under the direct patronage of Louis XVI., which was dispersed at the Reign of Terror in 1793. Upon the roll of original members appeared the names of all the great historic military and naval characters of the Revolution, and upon the roll of honorary members, elected for their own lives only, appeared many of the signers of the Declaration of Independence.

THE RIGHT TO MEMBERSHIP.

All Continental officers who had served with honor and resigned after three years' service as officers, or who had been rendered supernumerary and honorably discharged, in one of the several reductions of the American army, or who had continued to the end of the war, and all French officers who had served in the co-operating army under Count d'Estaing, or auxiliary army under Count de Rochambeau, and held or attained the rank of colonel for such services, or who had commanded a French fleet or ship of war on the American coast, were entitled to become original members, and upon doing so were required to contribute a month's pay.

STATE SOCIETIES.

The Cincinnati is organically one society in membership, but for convenience in admission of members and in its charitable and patriotic objects is subdivided into State societies, there being thirteen. Four dormant societies were restored to membership at the triennial meeting of 1902.

Membership descends to the eldest lineal male descendant, if judged worthy, and, in failure of direct male descent, to male descendants through intervening female descendants.

The general society when legislating for the good of the Order is composed of the general officers and five delegates from each State society, and meets triennially. In 1854 it ruled that proper descendants of Revolutionary officers who were entitled to original membership, but who never could avail themselves of it, are qualified for hereditary membership, if found worthy, on due application.

Sons of the Revolution.

General President—Edmund Wetmore, N. Y.
General Vice-President—J. M. Montgomery, N. Y.
Second General Vice-Pres.—Hon. J. W. Weeks, Mass.
General Secretary—Prof. Wm. Libbey, N. J.
General Treasurer—Richard M. Cadwalader, Pa.
General Registrar—Hon. George E. Pomeroy, Ohio.
General Historian—Marshall D. Haywood, N. C.

The society of the "Sons of the Revolution" was originated in New York in 1875 by John Austin Stevens, in conjunction with other patriotic gentlemen of Revolutionary ancestry. The New York Society was instituted February 22, 1876; reorganized December 4, 1883, and incorporated May 3, 1884, to "perpetuate the memory of the men who, in military, naval or civil service, by their acts or counsel, achieved American Independence; to promote and assist in the proper celebration of the Anniversaries of Washington's Birthday, the Battles of Lexington and Bunker Hill, the Fourth of July, the Capitulations of Saratoga and Yorktown, the Evacuation of New York by the British Army, and other prominent events relating to or connected with the war of the Revolution; to collect and secure for preservation the manuscript rolls, records and other documents and memorials relating to that war; to inspire among the members and their descendants the patriotic spirit of their forefathers; to inculcate in the community in general sentiments of nationality and respect for the principles for which the patriots of the Revolution contended; to assist in the commemorative celebration of other great historical events of national importance, and to promote social intercourse and the feeling of fellowship among its members."

Eligibility to membership is confined to male descendants, above the age of twenty-one years, from an ancestor who as either a military, naval, or marine officer, soldier, sailor, or marine, or official in the service of any one of the thirteen original Colonies or States, or of the national Government, representing or composed of those Colonies or States, assisted in establishing American independence during the war of the Revolution between the 19th day of April, 1775, when hostilities commenced, and the 19th day of April, 1783, when they were ordered to cease. The next triennial meeting of the general society will be held in the city of Washington, April 19, 1914.

The officers of the New York Society Sons of the Revolution are as follows: President—Edmund Wetmore. Vice-Presidents—Robert Olyphant, Walter L. Suydam and Henry D. Babcock. Secretary—Henry Russell Drowne, Fraunces' Tavern, corner Broad and Pearl Streets, New York. Treasurer—Arthur Melvin Hatch. Registrar—Prof. Henry Phelps Johnston. Chaplain—Rt. Rev. David H. Greer, D. D.

There are thirty-one State societies and a society in the District of Columbia. The aggregate membership is 7,560, that of the New York Society being over 2,000, and the Pennsylvania Society over 1,000.

The National Society of "Sons of the American Revolution" was organized in New York April 30, 1889, and was incorporated by act of Congress, June 9, 1906. State societies exist in forty-three States, the District of Columbia, Hawaii and France. A California society of descendants of Revolutionary patriots, entitled "Sons of Revolutionary Sires," organized July 4, 1875, became a part of the National Society in 1889. The total membership of the organization is about 12,500.

The New York or Empire State Society was organized February 11, 1890. The following are the officers: President—Louis Annin Ames. Secretary—Walter B. Hopping, 220 Broadway, New York. Registrar—Tennis D. Huntting. Historian—Josiah C. Pumpelly.

Aztec Club of 1847.

President—Gen. H. G. Gibson, U. S. A., Washington, D. C. Vice-President—Admiral J. H. Upshur, U. S. N., Washington, D. C. Secretary—Wm. S. Abert, Washington, D. C. Treasurer—William Turnbull, New York City. Vice-Treasurer—Edward H. Floyd-Jones, New York City.

This society, originally composed of officers of the United States Army who served in the war with Mexico, was formed in the city of Mexico in 1847, and has been continued "with a view to cherish the memories and keep alive the traditions that cluster about the names of those officers who took part in the Mexican War." Membership is confined to officers of the army, navy and marine corps who served in the war, or their male blood relatives. Each primary member may nominate as his successor his son or a male blood relative, who during the life of the primary member is known as associate-member, and on the death of the former is entitled, as his representative, to full membership. There are 224 members.

SOCIETY OF AMERICAN WARS.

Commander-in-Chief—Richard Wainwright. Recorder-General—Geo. T. Langhorne. Object: For the purpose of paying just homage to the memory of those who conquered that we might live, and to inculcate and foster in all citizens that love of country and flag and that ambition for honorable achievement upon which so largely depends the maintenance of our high position among nations. An applicant for membership in the society must be a citizen of the United States, twenty-one years of age, of good moral character and reputation, who is: (a) A lineal descendant of an ancestor who served as a Governor, Lieutenant-Governor or Deputy-Governor of any of the thirteen colonies. (b) A member of the Council of War of any of the thirteen colonies. (c) A lineal descendant of a military or naval officer under authority of the colonies which afterward formed the United States, from the settlement of Jamestown, May 13, 1607, to April 19, 1783. (d) A military or naval officer who has served with honor as a commissioned officer of the United States, in the army, navy, marine corps or revenue cutter service, in any war in which the United States has been engaged, or a lineal descendant thereof. (e) A lineal descendant of a companion of the Society of the American Wars. Headquarters, Washington, D. C. Membership, 997. New York State Commandery: Commander—Col. W. B. Hotchkin. Junior Vice-Commander—Lieut. Rufus George Shirley Recorder—Henry S. Colding, 251 West Ninety-second Street, New York City. Membership, 187.

DESCENDANTS OF THE SIGNERS.

The society was organized July 4, 1907, at Jamestown, Va. Its purpose is to help educate the people in love and patriotism to country, and to encourage a devotion which will stimulate them to offer upon the altar of their country their lives and property (if necessary) for its continuance and prosperity. Eligibility: Persons who are over twenty-one years of age and are lineally descended from one of the fifty-six signers of the Declaration of Independence. Headquarters, Philadelphia, Pa. President—Chas. L. Davis, Schenectady, N. Y. Secretary—Carl M. Kneuss, Philadelphia. Treasurer—John S. Braxton, Philadelphia, Pa.

MILITARY ORDER OF FOREIGN WARS.

The Military Order of Foreign Wars of the United States was instituted in the city of New York December 27, 1894, by veterans and descendants of veterans of one or more of the four foreign wars which the United States had been engaged in, to wit: The war of the Revolution, the war with Tripoli, the war of 1812, the Mexican war, "to perpetuate the names and memory of brave and loyal men who took part in establishing and maintaining the principles of the Government" in said wars, and "to preserve records and documents relating to said wars, and to celebrate the anniversaries of historic events connected therewith." Since the institution of the order the United States has fought two foreign wars (war with Spain and China campaign). By an amendment to the Constitution all American officers who participated in the war with Spain, or any future foreign campaign recognized by the United States Government as "war," are rendered eligible to membership as veteran companions.

State commanderies now exist in New York, Pennsylvania, Connecticut, Illinois, California, Massachusetts, Maryland, Ohio, Missouri, Vermont, Virginia, Rhode Island, Louisiana, Indiana, Wisconsin, Michigan, Texas, Colorado, New Jersey and the District of Columbia.

The National Commandery was instituted March 11, 1896, by the officers of the New York, Pennsylvania and Connecticut commanderies. The following are the officers of the National Commandery: Commander-General—Major-Gen. Chas. F. Roe, N.G.N.Y. Secretary-General—Major David Banks, 23 Park Place, N. Y. Treasurer-General—Gen. Oliver C. Bosbyshell. Registrar-General—Rev. Henry N. Wayne. Judge-Advocate-General—Henry M. Lamberton. Present membership, about 1,500 companions. There are Vice-Commanders-General representing each State commandery.

GENERAL SOCIETY OF MAYFLOWER DESCENDANTS.

The Society of Mayflower Descendants was organized in the city of New York December 22, 1894, by lineal descendants of the Mayflower pilgrims, "to preserve their memory, their records, their history, and all facts relating to them, their ancestors, and their posterity." Every lineal descendant over eighteen years of age, male or female, of any passenger of the voyage of the Mayflower, which terminated at Plymouth, Mass., December, 1620, including all signers of "The Compact," are eligible to membership. The Triennial Congress is held in September at Plymouth, Mass. Societies have been organized in New York, Connecticut, Massachusetts, Pennsylvania, Illinois, District of Columbia, Ohio, New Jersey, Wisconsin, Rhode Island, Michigan, Minnesota, Maine, Colorado, California, and Washington. The officers of the General Society are: Governor-General—Thos. S. Hopkins. Secretary-General—John Packwood Tilden, 44 E. 23d St., New York City. Treasurer-General—Henry H. Belknap.

ORDER OF WASHINGTON.

This society is similar to the Orders of Chivalry instituted in Europe. Its purposes are to promote the growth of the spirit of patriotism, to cultivate the study of history, to preserve family records and other documents relating to the rise of the Republic, to stimulate a national pride and to preserve the integrity, honor and Christian manhood of the members. Eligibility: The ancestor must have arrived in America prior to 1750, have been a landowner or founder of a town, and have held some official, military, naval or ministerial position and this ancestor must have had a descendant who assisted the Colonies in attaining their independence.

GEORGE WASHINGTON MEMORAL ASSOCIATION.

President—Mrs. Henry F. Dimock, New York. Treasurer—Mrs. Frank Northrop, New York. General Secretary—George Milbank Hersey, 702 Ford Building, Boston, Mass.

To furnish our national capital with a building which will provide facilities for the holding of congresses and conventions—both national and international. The building will also provide office accommodations for the many societies of National scope devoted to the advancement of mankind which require National headquarters, such as the patriotic, scientific, educational, art, literary, sociological and civic virtue organizations. It will also set apart a room for each State (which appropriates its quota of the total amount to be raised) so that a permanent exhibit of the State's resources may be accessible to the vast number of people visiting the National capital. It is to cost $2,000,000 and will have an endowment fund of $500,000 for maintenance. The building may also be used for inaugural receptions and special public meetings authorized by Congress. The structure which is to embody this idea is to be known as the George Washington Memorial. In a broader sense it will fulfil Washington's wish expressed in his Farewell Address, to "promote as an object of primary importance institutions for the general diffusion of knowledge." President Taft signed the bill on March 4, 1913, giving the association permission to erect this building in the north end of the reservation known as Armory Square, bounded by Sixth and Seventh Streets West, and B Street South.

SOCIETY OF THE ARMY AND NAVY OF THE CONFEDERATE STATES.

President—Capt. George W. Booth. Vice-President—Lieut. McHenry Howard. Secretary—Capt. William L. Ritter, Reisterstown, Md. Treasurer—Capt. F. M. Colston. There are twelve Vice-Presidents and an executive committee of seven members. The Society of the Army and Navy of the Confederate States in the State of Maryland was organized in 1871. "to collect and preserve the material for a truthful history of the late war between the Confederate States and the United States of America; to honor the memory of our comrades who have fallen; to cherish the ties of friendship among those who survive, and to fulfil the duties of sacred charity toward those who may stand in need of them." The membership is 810.

UNITED CONFEDERATE VETERANS.

Commander—Gen. Bennett H. Young, Louisville, Ky. Adjutant-General and Chief of Staff—Major-Gen. William E. Mickle, New Orleans, La.

Army of Northern Virginia Department. Commander—Lieut.-Gen. Theodore S. Garnett, Norfolk, Va.; Adjutant-General—Brig.-Gen. E. V White, Norfolk, Va.

Army of Tennessee Department. Commander—Lieut.-Gen. Geo. P. Harrison, Opelika, Ala. Adjutant-General—Brig.-Gen. E. T. Sykes, Columbus, Miss.

Trans-Mississippi Department. Commander—Lieut.-Gen. K. M. Vanzandt, Fort Worth, Tex. Adjutant-General—Brig.-Gen. W. T. Shaw, Ft. Worth, Tex.

The Confederate Veteran, Nashville, Tenn., established by S. A. Cunningham, is the official organ.

This association was organized at New Orleans, June 10, 1889. Its avowed purpose is strictly social, literary, historical, and benevolent. Its Constitution says that it "will endeavor to unite in a general federation all associations of Confederate veterans, soldiers, and sailors now in existence or hereafter to be formed; to gather authentic data for an impartial history of the war between the States; to preserve relics or mementoes of the same; to cherish the ties of friendship that should exist among men who have shared common dangers, common sufferings, and privations; to care for the disabled and extend a helping hand to the needy; to protect the widows and the orphans, and to make and preserve a record of the services of every member, and, as far as possible, of those of our comrades who have preceded us in eternity." State organizations are authorized, and are called Divisions. The permanent headquarters of the association is at New Orleans, La. Number of Camps, 1,770. Number of members, according to last report, about 55,000. The last reunion of the veterans was at Chattanooga, Tenn., in 1913, and the next will be held at Jacksonville, Fla.

ARLINGTON CONFEDERATE MONUMENT ASSOCIATION.

During the administration of President McKinley the Confederate dead buried in the city of Washington, D. C., and vicinity were removed to the National Cemetery at Arlington, Va., the old home of Robert E. Lee, where they were reinterred in a plot of ground set apart by the President for that purpose, and designated "The Confederate Section."

The Arlington Confederate Monument Association was formed for the purpose of erecting in this section a suitable monument to the dead there buried, and to stand, in a larger sense, as a memorial to all those who lost their lives in defence of the Confederacy, as well as to the cause they represented. It is formed as a committee of the United Daughters of the Confederacy, the President-General of which is the President of the association.

Recording Secretary, Mrs. Drury C. Ludlow, Washington, D. C.; Corresponding Secretary, Mrs. Lilian Pike Roome, No. 1419 Clifton Street, Washington, D. C.; Treasurer, Wallace Streater.

THE AMERICAN FLAG ASSOCIATION.

President—Col. Ralph E. Prime, Yonkers, N. Y. Secretary—Louis A. Ames, 99 Fulton Street, New York. Treasurer—Major Henry L. Swords, U. S. Custom House, New York. The American Flag Association was organized February 17, 1898, its motto being "One Flag, One Country, God Over All." Its object is to secure national and State legislation for the protection of the flag from degrading and desecrating uses, and to secure a general observance of June 14 as "Flag Day," because on that day in 1777 Congress adopted the United States flag The association is composed of individual members and also the members of the flag committees of patriotic societies for the purpose of fostering public sentiment in favor of honoring the flag of our country and preserving it from desecration. It aims to co-ordinate the efforts of all flag committees.

SOCIETIES OF THE WAR OF 1812.

THE VETERAN CORPS OF ARTILLERY OF THE STATE OF NEW YORK.

The Veteran Corps of Artillery of the State of New York was instituted in New York City, November 25, 1790, exclusively by officers and soldiers of the war of the Revolution, and was duly confirmed as a separate corps in the active militia of the State by Governor George Clinton, March 3, 1791. Congress, in its militia laws of 1792, 1874, 1903 and May 27, 1908, enacted that it should retain "accustomed privileges" as a component part of the active militia, supplemental to the National Guard and the status of the corps, as part of the active militia, has also been embodied in several State statutes.

When composed wholly of Revolutionary veterans, it was in the military service of the United States, June 25 to July 2, 1812, and September 2, 1814, to March 2, 1815, and afterward recruited exclusively from veterans, war of 1812, until 1890, when the surviving veteran original members amended their regulations to admit male descendants of original members or male descendants of those who served honorably in the war of 1812, which limitation was fixed by law March 9, 1895.

On January 8, 1826, the Society of the War of 1812 was formed at New York City exclusively by officers of the Regular Army, Navy and Volunteer services of that war, and consolidated January 8, 1848, with the Veteran Corps of Artillery, and was constituted by law the Civic Association of the Corps. Its last Revolutionary member, Daniel Spencer, died March 4, 1854, aged 94; its last war of 1812 member, Hiram Cronk, died May 13, 1905, aged 105.

The officers are: Commandant—Asa Bird Gardiner. Vice-Commandant—John Hone. Adjutant—Charles Eliot Warren, 32 East 42d Street, New York City. Quartermaster—Walter Lispenard Suydam. Paymaster—James Mortimer Montgomery. Chaplain—F. Landon Humphreys.

The officers are commissioned, and the Corps, with the National Guard, form the active militia of the State.

THE GENERAL SOCIETY OF THE WAR OF 1812.

Composed of federated State societies in Pennsylvania, Maryland, Massachusetts, Connecticut, Illinois, District of Columbia, New York and New Jersey, the members of each of which State societies are borne upon the membership roll of the general society. Any male person above the age of twenty-one years who participated in, or who is a lineal descendant of one who served during the war of 1812-14 in the army, navy, revenue marine, or privateer service of the United States, offering satisfactory proof to the State society to which he makes application, and is of good moral character and reputation, may become a member. In case of failure of lineal descendants of an actual participant in said war, one collateral representative who is deemed worthy may be admitted to membership. President-General—John Cadwalader, Pennsylvania. Secretary-General—Herbert M. Leland, 10 Post Office Square, Boston, Mass. Registrar-General—Henry Harmon Noble, Essex, N. Y. Treasurer-General—George H. Richards, M.D., Orange, N. J. Surgeon-General—George Horace Burgin, M. D., Pennsylvania. Judge-Advocate-General—A. Leo Knott, Maryland. Chaplain-General—Rev. Henry Branch, Maryland.

The Sixty-second Congress of the United States, Second Session, enacted the following law incorporating the Naval History Society:

SEC. 2. That the object of such corporation shall be to discover and procure data, manuscripts, writings, and whatever may relate to naval history, science, and art, and the surroundings and experiences of seamen in general and of American seamen in particular, and to preserve same by publication or otherwise.

SEC. 4. That said corporation shall have the right to hold meetings at any place in the United States, but annual meetings for the election of officers shall be held in the city of Washington, where the principal office of said corporation shall be.

SEC. 5. That the said corporation shall have the power to take and hold, by gift, grant, purchase, or devise, real and personal property not exceeding in value five hundred thousand dollars, which shall not be divided among the members of the corporation, but shall be used and administered as a trust for the purposes of the corporation, and so far as unexpended transmitted to their successors for the further promotion of such purposes.

SEC. 6. That the government of such corporation shall be vested in a board of eleven managers, to be elected by the members of such corporation, and the corporation shall have such officers as its Constitution and by-laws may prescribe.

NAVAL ORDER OF THE UNITED STATES.

The Naval Order of the United States is composed of a General Commandery and Commanderies in the States of Massachusetts, Pennsylvania, New York, California and Illinois, and in the District of Columbia. The General Commandery meets triennially on October 5, and the State Commanderies meet annually in the month of November. The Massachusetts Commandery is the parent Commandery, and was organized at Boston on July 4, 1890. The General Commandery was established three years later, on June 19, 1893. ## SOCIETY OF COLONIAL WARS.

The Society of Colonial Wars was instituted in 1892 to "perpetuate the memory of these events and of the men who, in military, naval, and civil positions of high trust and responsibility, by their acts or counsel assisted in the establishment, defence, and preservation of the American Colonies, and were in truth the founders of this nation. With this end in view it seeks to collect and preserve manuscripts, rolls, and records; to provide suitable commemorations or memorials relating to the American Colonial period." Eligibility is confined to an adult male descendant of an ancestor who fought in battle under Colonial or British authority, from the settlement of Jamestown, Va., in 1607, to the battle of Lexington, in 1775, or who served as Governor, Deputy-Governor, Lieutenant-Governor, Member of the Council, or other high civil officer in the service of the Colonies, or under the banner of Great Britain.

THE ORDER OF THE FOUNDERS AND PATRIOTS OF AMERICA.

Governor-General—Rev. Chas. Wadsworth, Jr., Philadelphia, Pa. Secretary-General—John Elderkin, Lotos Club, New York City. Treasurer-General—Arthur Marvin.

The order was founded in 1896, its object being "to bring together and associate congenial men whose ancestors struggled together for life and liberty, home and happiness, in the land when it was a new and unknown country, and whose line of descent from them comes through patriots who sustained the Colonies in the struggle for independence in the Revolutionary war; to teach reverent regard for the names and history, character and perseverance, deeds and heroism of the founders of this country and their patriot descendants; to discover, collect, and preserve records, documents, manuscripts, monuments, and history relating to the first colonists and their ancestors and their descendants, and to commemorate and celebrate events in the history of the Colonies and the Republic." Eligibility—Any man above the age of twenty-one years, of good moral character and reputation, and a citizen of the United States, who is lineally descended, in the male line of either parent, from an ancestor who settled in any of the Colonies now included in the United States of America prior to May 13, 1657, and whose intermediate ancestors in the same line during the Revolutionary period adhered as patriots to the cause of the Colonies. There are State societies in New York, Connecticut, New Jersey, and Pennsylvania. The Governor of the New York Society is Geo. C. Batcheller, 130 Fifth Ave., New York City. Secretary, H. S. Ahearn, Asa Bird Gardiner, George W. Plunkitt, John Fox, William Dalton. Secretary—Thomas F. Smith. Treasurer—William Sohmer. Sagamore—Bryan P. Henry. Wiskinkie—John A. Boyle.

This organization was formed in 1789, being the effect of a popular movement in New York having primarily in view a counterweight to the so-called "aristocratic" Society of the Cincinnati. It was essentially anti-Federalist or democratic in its character, and its chief founder was William Mooney, an upholsterer and a native-born American of Irish extraction. It took its first title from a noted ancient, wise and friendly chief of the Delaware tribe of Indians, named Tammany, who had, for the want of a better subject, been canonized by the soldiers of the Revolution as the American patron saint. The first meeting was held May 12, 1789. The act of incorporation was passed in 1805. The Grand Sachem and thirteen Sachems were designed to typify the President and the Governors of the thirteen original States. William Mooney was the first Grand Sachem. The society is nominally a charitable and social organization, and is distinct from the General Committee of the Tammany Democracy, which is a political organization, and cannot use Tammany Hall without the consent of the society.

NATIONAL ASSOCIATION FOR THE STUDY AND EDUCATION OF EXCEPTIONAL CHILDREN.

"This association, which was founded by Dr. Maximilian P. E. Groszmann, has approached the problem of exceptional development from the point of view of the normal, or potentially normal, child as representing an actual, positive asset in human society. In doing this, this association has endeavored to elaborate a suitable and scientifically tenable classification and terminology which would enable students of this problem to understand the different types of exceptional development in their true perspective. It is the purpose of this association to evolve methods by which this human waste can be avoided, just as modern processes of manufacture and industry have led to saving what was formerly waste material and what is now often turned into products more valuable than the original object of production."

President—A. Emil Schmitt, M. D., New York City; Vice-President—Wm. De la Roche Anderson, Plainfield, N. J. Secretary and Treasurer—Waldemar H. Groszmann, Watchung Crest, Plainfield, N. J. Educational Director—Dr. Maximilian P. E. Groszmann.

CARNEGIE FOUNDATION FOR THE ADVANCEMENT OF TEACHING.

An institution founded by Andrew Carnegie in 1905, and incorporated by the Congress of the United States in 1906. The institution is endowed with $15,000,000, to provide retiring allowances for teachers and officers of colleges, universities and technical schools in the United States, Canada, and Newfoundland and, with $1,250,000 to provide for educational inquiry and publication. By the seventh annual meeting of the trustees in 1912, 315 allowances were being paid to teachers, and 83 pensions to widows of teachers, at an annual cost of $603,855. The amount of the average retiring allowance is $1,676.66, the average age of retirement being about 70 years.

In the administration of its endowment, the foundation has restricted its allowances to professors and officers in a list of 73 institutions selected for their educational standing, and has published a series of widely influential reports and bulletins concerning educational conditions. The President of the foundation is Dr. Henry S. Pritchett; Secretary, Clyde Furst; address, 576 Fifth Avenue, New York City.

THE CARNEGIE INSTITUTION OF WASHINGTON.

The Carnegie Institution of Washington was founded by Mr. Andrew Carnegie, January 28, 1902, when he gave to a board of trustees $10,000,000, in registered bonds, yielding 5 per cent. annual interest. In general terms, he stated that his purpose was to "found in the city of Washington an institution which, with the co-operation of institutions now or hereafter established, there or elsewhere, shall in the broadest and most liberal manner encourage investigation, research and discovery, show the application of knowledge to the improvement of mankind, and provide such buildings, laboratories, books, and apparatus as may be needed." Mr. Carnegie added $2,000,000 to his gift in 1907, and $10,000,000 in 1911, making a total endowment of $22,000,000.

By an act of Congress, approved April 28, 1904, the institution was placed under the control of a board of twenty-four trustees, all of whom had been members of the original board referred to above.

The trustees meet annually, and during the intervals between such meetings the affairs of the institution are conducted by an executive committee, chosen by and from the board of trustees, acting through the President of the institution as chief executive officer.

The Administration Building is situated on the S. E. corner of 16th and P Streets N. W., Washington, D. C.

THE CARNEGIE CORPORATION OF NEW YORK.

The Carnegie Corporation of New York, incorporated by an act passed by the New York Legislature June 9, 1911, was organized November 10, 1911.

The purposes of the corporation, as stated in the charter, are as follows:

"Section 1. Andrew Carnegie, Elihu Root, Henry S. Pritchett, William N. Frew, Robert S. Woodward, Charles L. Taylor, Robert A. Franks, James Bertram, and their successors are hereby constituted a body corporate by the name of Carnegie Corporation of New York, for the purpose of receiving and maintaining a fund or funds and applying the income thereof to promote the advancement and diffusion of knowledge and understanding among the people of the United States, by aiding technical schools, institutions of higher learning, libraries, scientific research, hero funds, useful publications, and by such other agencies and means as shall from time to time be found appropriate therefor."

The incorporators met at Mr. Carnegie's house, Friday afternoon, November 10, 1911, accepted the charter, adopted the Constitution and By-Laws, and elected the following officers:

President—Andrew Carnegie. Vice-President—Elihu Root. Treasurer—Robert A. Franks. Secretary—James Bertram, 2 East 91st Street, New York City.

Mr. Carnegie transferred to the corporation, for its corporate purposes, $25,000,000 par value first mortgage gold bonds of the United States Steel Corporation.

It is intended that the business of founding and aiding libraries and educational institutions which has been carried on by Mr. Carnegie as an individual for many years, will be turned over to the corporation at an early date and carried on by the corporation.

THE CARNEGIE HERO FUND.

In April, 1904, Andrew Carnegie created a fund of $5,000,000 for the benefit of the dependents of those losing their lives in heroic effort to save their fellow men, or for the heroes themselves if injured only. Provision was also made for medals to be given in commemoration of heroic acts.

The endowment known as "The Hero Fund" was placed in the hands of a commission composed of twenty-one persons, residents of Pittsburgh, Pa., of which Charles L. Taylor is President, and F. M. Wilmot, Secretary and Manager of the fund.

In his letter to the Hero Fund Commission Mr. Carnegie outlined the general scheme of the fund thus: "To place those following peaceful vocations who have been injured in heroic effort to save human life, in somewhat better positions pecuniarily than before, until able to work again. In case of death, the widow and children or other dependents are to be provided for until she remarries, and the children until they reach a self-supporting age. For exceptional children, exceptional grants may be made for exceptional education. Grants of sums of money may also be made to heroes or heroines as the commission thinks advisable—each case to be judged on its merits."

The fund applies only to acts performed within the United States of America, the Dominion of Canada, the Colony of Newfoundland, and the waters thereof, and such acts must have been performed on or after April 15, 1904 and brought to the attention of the commission within three years of the date of the act.

Applications should be made by letter addressed to the manager, Oliver Building, Pittsburgh, Pa.

The commission has awarded 841 medals—506 bronze, 319 silver and 16 gold. In addition to the medals, $835,986 has been awarded for disablement benefits, and for educational and other special purposes, and for the dependents of heroes who lost their lives, including payments made to December 31, 1913, on monthly allowances. Pensions in force as of this date amount to $65,460 annually. The commission has also awarded $169,462 for relief of sufferers from disasters—at Brockton, Mass., $10,000; from the California earthquake, $54,462; at Monongah Mines, Monongah, W. Va., $35,000; at Darr Mine, Jacobs Creek, Pa., $25,000; at Lick Branch Mine, Switchback, W. Va., $10,000; at McCurtain Mine, McCurtain, Okla., $15,000; at Jed Mine, Jed, W. Va., $10,000, and for relief of Ohio and Indiana flood sufferers, $10,000.

RUSSELL SAGE FOUNDATION.

The Russell Sage Foundation was incorporated under the laws of the State of New York, April 1, 1907, for the improvement of social and living conditions in the United States of America. The Foundation does not attempt to relieve individual or family need.

NEGRO RURAL SCHOOL FUND, JEANES FOUNDATION.

The Negro Rural School Fund, amounting to $1,000,000, was established in 1907 by Miss Anna T. Jeanes, a resident of Philadelphia. The income of the fund is used in assisting the community and small rural public schools for negroes in the Southern States by supplying county superintendents with the salary of a supervising industrial teacher who introduces simple forms of home industries in the schools and supervises them. The board consists of: President—James H. Dillard; Vice-President—Walter H. Page; Treasurer—George Foster Peabody; Secretary—R. R. Moton, and David C. Barrow, Andrew Carnegie, H. B. Frissell, Belton Gilreath, H. T. Kealing, George McAneny, S. C. Mitchell, J. C. Napier, R. L. Smith, William H. Taft, Booker T. Washington and Talcott Williams. Director—James H. Dillard, Charlottesville, Va.; Field Agents—B. C. Caldwell, New Orleans, La., and W. T. B. Williams, Hampton Institute, Va.

THE AMERICAN-SCANDINAVIAN SOCIETY.

This society was organized 1908. Its purposes are to cultivate closer relations between the Scandinavian countries and the United States, and to strengthen the bonds between Scandinavian-Americans. In the Winter of 1912-13 the society organized an Exhibition of Scandinavian Art, which was shown in the galleries of New York, Buffalo, Toledo, Chicago, and Boston. The society is arranging Scandinavian concerts and lectures. Headquarters, 25 West 45th Street, New York. President—John A. Gade. Secretary—Henry Goddard Leach.

THE AMERICAN-SCANDINAVIAN FOUNDATION.

Consists of a self-perpetuating board of trustees, incorporated in 1911, to hold in trust and administer an endowment of more than $500,000, given by the late Niels Poulson, and other funds which may be intrusted to their care for the purposes similar to those of the American-Scandinavian Society. The Foundation has given financial support to the art exhibit of the society, created travelling fellowships, and received the patronage of the Kings of Denmark, Norway and Sweden. Headquarters, 25 West 45th Street. Secretary, Henry Goddard Leach.

AMERICAN CIVIC ALLIANCE.

Annual fees, $10, $5 or $2 a year. Life membership, $100. Annual meeting, the last Monday in December.

The Rhodes Scholarship at Oxford University.

Cecil Rhodes, statesman, who died at Cape Town, South Africa, March 26, 1902, directed in his will dated July 1, 1899, that a part of his fortune, estimated at $10,000,000, should be applied to the creation of a fund for the support of a certain number of scholarships covering a three-years' course at the University of Oxford. He directed that the selection of the recipients of this gift should be made from three to nine from each of the British Colonies, two from each State and Territory of the United States, or one hundred in all, and fifteen from Germany. Mr. Rhodes desired that in awarding the scholarships, account should be taken of different qualities—literary and scholastic attainments, love of outdoor sports, strong, manly qualities such as courage, generosity, kindness, etc., high moral character, and desire to serve in public affairs.

The agencies for final selection vary a good deal. Scholars from Cape Colony are chosen by the individual schools to which the scholarships are especially assigned. In several of the Canadian provinces it has been decided that an appointment shall be made in rotation by the leading universities. The five German students for whom annual provision is made are nominated, according to the terms of the will, by the Emperor himself. In most of the States of the Union, in outlying colonies like Bermuda, Jamaica and Newfoundland, in provinces of Canada, in New Zealand and the States of Australia, the final choice of the scholar is left in the hands of a Committee of Selection. Great care has been taken in the constitution of these committees, as it has been felt that on the wise and impartial exercise of their judgment depends more than upon anything else the full success of the scheme.

The conditions regulating the award of scholarships in the American States provide that the candidates shall have satisfactorily completed the work of at least two years in some college of liberal arts and sciences. The upper age limit must be twenty-four years at the time of entering upon the scholarship at Oxford. To be eligible the candidate must be a citizen of the United States, or the son of a citizen, and must be unmarried. Each student receives an allowance of £300 a year, which is equivalent to $1,500, payable in quarterly instalments, which is just enough to enable a man to pay the expenses of vacations as well as terms. The first instalment is not payable until the student has actually gone into residence at Oxford, so he should go abroad with one or two hundred dollars in his possession.

The full number of scholarships, when all are filled, is, at present, 189; and this number should be maintained from year to year, vacancies being filled as the men complete their three-years' course. The last examination in the United States took place in October, 1913. There will be examinations also in October, 1915, and 1916, respectively. The examinations are not competitive, but qualifying. Inquiries as to particulars by intending candidates may be addressed to any college. Information may also be obtained from The Rhodes Trust, Seymour House, Waterloo Place, London, S. W., or from F. J. Wylie, Secretary to the Rhodes trustees, 9 South Parks Road, Oxford, England.

National Municipal and Civic Organizations.

NATIONAL MUNICIPAL LEAGUE.

The purpose of the Conference is to bring together men of every calling to further educational development in the South.

CATHOLIC SUMMER SCHOOL OF AMERICA.

A Roman Catholic Chautauqua or Summer School was opened at New London, Ct., in the Summer of 1892 under the auspices of distinguished clergymen and laymen, and the first meetings were held from July 30 to August 14. The association has since acquired a site at Cliff Haven, near Plattsburg, N. Y., on Lake Champlain, upon which the necessary buildings have been erected, and here the Summer School is held annually from July to September. The work of the institution is continued throughout the year by means of reading circles and study clubs on the University Extension plan. President, Rev. John P. Chidwick, D. D., 7 East Forty-second Street, New York.

Smithsonian Institution
(WASHINGTON, D. C.)

FOR THE INCREASE AND DIFFUSION OF KNOWLEDGE AMONG MEN.

OFFICERS OF THE SMITHSONIAN INSTITUTION.

Ex-Officio Presiding Officer of the Institution, Woodrow Wilson, President of the United States; Chancellor of the Institution, Edward Douglass White, Chief Justice of the United States; Secretary of the Institution, Charles D. Walcott; Assistant Secretary in Charge of United States National Museum, Richard Rathbun; Assistant Secretary in Charge of Library and Exchanges, Frederick W. True.

Board of Regents, Edward Douglass White, Chief Justice of the United States, Chancellor; Thomas R. Marshall, Vice-President of the United States, Henry Cabot Lodge, Member of the Senate; A. O. Bacon, Member of the Senate; William J. Stone, Member of the Senate; John Dalzell, former Member of the House of Representatives; Scott Ferris, Member of the House of Representatives; Irvin S. Pepper, Member of the House of Representatives; Andrew D. White, citizen of New York; Alexander Graham Bell, citizen of Washington, D. C.; Charles F. Choate, Jr., citizen of Massachusetts; George Gray, citizen of Delaware; John B. Henderson Jr. citizen of Washington, D. C.; Charles W. Fairbanks, citizen of Indiana.

The Institution at Washington, D. C., was established by statute in 1846, under the terms of the will of James Smithson, who bequeathed his fortune in 1826 to the United States for the "increase and diffusion of knowledge among men." From the income of the fund a building, known as the Smithsonian Building, was erected on land given by the United States. The Institution is legally an establishment having as its members the President of the United States, the Vice-President, the Chief Justice, and the President's Cabinet. It is governed by a Board of Regents consisting of the Vice-President, the Chief Justice, three members of the United States Senate, three members of the House of Representatives, and six citizens of the United States appointed by joint resolution of Congress. It is under the immediate direction of the Secretary of the Smithsonian Institution, who is the executive officer of the Board and the director of the Institution's activities.

For the increase of knowledge, the Institution aids investigators by making grants for research and exploration, supplying books, apparatus, laboratory accommodations, etc. It occasionally provides for lectures, which are published. It has initiated numerous scientific projects of national importance, some of which have been turned over to the Government and resulted in the creation of independent Government bureaus. It advises the Government in many matters of scientific importance, especially in those that have an international aspect. It co-operates with national scientific bodies, such as the National Academy of Sciences, the American Association for the Advancement of Science, the American Historical Association, etc. It issues three regular series of publications: Annual Reports, containing papers of general interest intended to keep the ordinary reader abreast of the progress of science; Contributions to Knowledge, the distinct feature of which is that each memoir constitutes an original contribution to knowledge; Miscellaneous Collections, which contain bibliographies, reports of expeditions and of various scientific researches, and standard tables. All these publications are distributed gratuitously to important libraries throughout the world.

The Institution maintains a library, in co-operation with the Library of Congress, which numbers 265,000 volumes and consists mainly of the transactions of learned societies and scientific periodicals. While the body of the library is deposited in the Library of Congress and accessible to all its readers, a working library is maintained at the Institution. Lists, bibliographies, rules for cataloguing and library work have been published. The Institution supports a table at the Naples Zoological Station. All these and numerous other activities may be carried on solely from the income of the Smithsonian fund. The Regents are empowered to accept gifts without action of Congress, in furtherance of the purposes of the Institution, and to administer trusts in accord therewith.

The parent Institution has the administrative charge of several branches which grew out of its early activities and which are supported by Congressional appropriations. These are the National Museum, including the National Gallery of Art; the International Exchange Service, the Bureau of American Ethnology, the National Zoological Park, the Astrophysical Observatory, and the United States Regional Bureau for the International Catalogue of Scientific Literature.

THE UNITED STATES NATIONAL MUSEUM is the depository of the national collections. It is especially rich in the natural history, geology, paleontology, archaeology and ethnology of America, and has unique collections of American history, as well as many series relating to fine arts and the industrial arts. It is both an educational and a research museum, and issues numerous scientific publications. The National Gallery of Art consists largely of the collections of etchings and engravings of George P. Marsh, the collections of Charles L. Freer, containing numerous paintings and etchings by Whistler, and examples of Chinese and Japanese art; the Harriet Lane Johnston collection, including works of a number of the greatest English portrait painters, and the collection of William T. Evans, of one hundred and thirty-nine paintings, representing some of the best work of one hundred American artists.

THE INTERNATIONAL EXCHANGE SERVICE, carried on in accordance with the terms of treaties entered into between the United States and various foreign nations, is for the free interchange of scientific, literary and Governmental publications between the Government of the United States and foreign Governments and institutions, and investigators in the United States and foreign lands. It has correspondents in all parts of the world, and since its establishment more than 4,000,000 packages, containing many millions of publications, have been handled by it.

THE BUREAU OF AMERICAN ETHNOLOGY, for the study of the American Indian; THE ASTROPHYSICAL OBSERVATORY, for the investigation of solar phenomena; THE NATIONAL ZOOLOGICAL PARK at Washington, containing about 1,400 animals; the Regional Bureau of the INTERNATIONAL CATALOGUE OF SCIENTIFIC LITERATURE, for the preparation of a classified index to the current scientific literature of the United States, and the LANGLEY AERODYNAMICAL LABORATORY are also branches of the Institution.

Copyright Law of the United States.

DIRECTIONS FOR SECURING COPYRIGHT UNDER ACT OF CONGRESS OF MARCH 4, 1909.

THE copyright law approved March 4, 1909, which took effect on July 1, 1909, provides that the application for registration of any work "shall specify to which of the following classes the work in which copyright is claimed belongs:"

SUBJECT MATTER OF COPYRIGHT.

(a) Books, including composite and cyclopaedic works, directories, gazetteers, and other compilations; (b) periodicals, including newspapers; (c) lectures, sermons, addresses, prepared for oral delivery; (d) dramatic or dramatico-musical compositions; (e) musical compositions; (f) maps; (g) works of art; models or designs for works of art; (h) reproductions of a work of art; (i) drawings or plastic works of a scientific or technical character; (j) photographs; (k) prints and pictorial illustrations. The Amendment of August 24, 1912, adds: (l) motion picture photo-plays; (m) motion pictures other than photo-plays.

The application for registration of any article should distinctly specify to which one of these classes the work belongs. An article is not entitled to registration unless it is reasonably possible to class it under one or the other of the designations named in the statute.

STEPS NECESSARY TO SECURE COPYRIGHT REGISTRATION.

For works reproduced in copies for sale: 1. Publish the work with the copyright notice. The notice may be in the form "Copyright, 19.... (year date of publication) by ..... (name of copyright proprietor)." 2. Promptly after publication, send to the Copyright Office, Library of Congress, Washington, D. C., two copies of the best edition of the work, with an application for registration. In the case of motion picture photo-plays and of motion pictures other than photo-plays a description of the work must be filed and a money order payable to the Register of Copyrights for the statutory registration fee of $1.

In the case of books by American authors, or permanent residents of the United States, the copies deposited must be accompanied by an affidavit, under the official seal of an officer authorized to administer oaths, stating that the typesetting, printing, and binding of the book have been performed within the United States. Affidavit and application forms will be supplied by the copyright office on request.

Books of foreign origin in a language or languages other than English are not required to be manufactured in the United States. In the case of a book in the English language published abroad before publication in this country, an ad interim copyright for 30 days from the day of the deposit of the foreign copy may be secured by depositing in the Copyright Office one complete copy of the foreign edition within 30 days after its publication abroad. If two copies of such book manufactured in this country are deposited with application for registration and fee ($1) during the ad interim term, the copyright shall be extended for the full term of 28 years.

For works not reproduced in copies for sale: Copyright may also be had of certain classes of works (see a, b, c, below) of which copies are not reproduced for sale, by filing in the Copyright Office an application for registration, with the statutory fee of $1, sending therewith: (a) In the case of lectures or other oral addresses or of dramatic or musical compositions, one complete manuscript or typewritten copy of the work. This privilege of registration, however, does not exempt the copyright proprietor from the deposit of printed copies of a dramatic or musical composition or lecture where the work is later reproduced in copies for sale. A new application must be made in such cases and another fee of $1.00 paid. (b) In the case of photographs not intended for general circulation, one photographic print. (c) In the case of works of art (paintings, drawings, sculpture); or of drawings or plastic works of a scientific or technical character, one photograph or other identifying reproduction of the work. In the case of a motion picture photo-play, a title and description and one print taken from each scene or act. In case of a motion picture other than a photo-play, a title and description with not less than two prints to be taken from different sections of a complete motion picture. In all these cases, if the work is later reproduced in copies for sale, two copies must then be deposited.

COPYRIGHT FEES.

For registration of any work subject to copyright, $1, which sum is to include a certificate of registration under seal. But only one registration at one fee is required in the case of several volumes of the same book deposited in the Copyright Office at the same time. For every additional certificate of registration, or copy of record under seal, 50 cents. In the case of photographs the fee shall be 50 cents where a certificate is not requested. For recording and certifying an assignment of copyright, or for a certified copy of an assignment, $1, if the instrument is not over three hundred words in length; if more than three hundred and less than one thousand words in length, $2; if more than one thousand words in length, $1 additional for each additional one thousand words or fraction thereof over three hundred words. For comparing a copy of an assignment with the record of such document in the Copyright Office and certifying the same under seal, $1. For recording the transfer of the proprietorship of copyright articles, 10 cents for each title of a book or other article, in addition to the fee prescribed for recording the instrument of assignment. For recording an extension or renewal of copyright, 50 cents. Remittances should be made by money order payable to the Register of Copyrights. Forms for application for copyright registration will be furnished on request.

DURATION OF COPYRIGHT.

The original term of copyright runs for twenty-eight years. Within one year prior to the expiration of the original term, the author, if living, or the widow or widower of the author, or the children of the author if he be not living; or if none of these be living then the author's executors, or in the absence of a will, the author's next of kin may secure a renewal for a further term of twenty-eight years, making fifty-six years in all. In case of composite works, if the proprietor secured the original copyright, he may also secure the renewal.

ASSIGNMENTS.

Copyrights are assignable by any instrument of writing. Every assignment of copyright must be recorded in the Copyright Office within three calendar months after its execution in the United States or within six calendar months after its execution without the limits of the United States, "in default of which it shall be void as against any subsequent purchaser or mortgagee for a valuable consideration, without notice, whose assignment has been duly recorded." Every assignment of copyright executed in a foreign country must be acknowledged by the assignor before a consular officer or secretary of legation of the United States authorized by law to administer oaths or perform notarial acts. The certificate of such acknowledgment under the hand and official seal of such consular officer or secretary of legation is prima facie evidence of the execution of the instrument.

INTERNATIONAL COPYRIGHT RELATIONS.

Copyright relations have been established with the following foreign countries by proclamation of the President: Austria, Belgium, Chile, Costa Rica, Cuba, Denmark, France, Germany, Great Britain and her possessions, Italy, Luxemburg, Mexico, Netherlands and possessions, Norway, Portugal, Spain, Sweden, Switzerland, Tunis.

Copyright treaties have also been entered into with China, Japan and Hungary (the latter in effect on October 16, 1912). The Copyright Convention of Mexico of 1902 has been ratified by the United States and is effective from July 1, 1908, as between the United States and Costa Rica, Guatemala, Honduras, Nicaragua and Salvador.

The Initiative and Referendum.

THE Referendum has been defined as "the referring of legislation to the people for final rejection or acceptance"; the Initiative as "the giving to the people the right of proposing legislation to be acted upon." It has been further said that the Referendum as it is now generally advocated requires that no law save a strictly defined class of urgent measures for the public peace, health and safety, which usually must have a two-thirds or three-fourths majority to pass, shall go into effect without waiting a fixed time, say ninety days. If, during this time, a part of the voters, say ten per cent. sign a petition for the Referendum on that law, it would not go into effect till the next regular election, when the people would vote on it, and if a majority voted "no" it would not be a law. The Initiative gives the people the power to originate laws. If a certain percentage of the voters, say ten per cent., sign a petition for a law and file it with the proper official it must come before the Legislature and perhaps be referred to the people. Sometimes the law requires that legislation be referred to the people, whether they petition it or not. This is called the "Compulsory Referendum." Where the Referendum is taken only when a certain number petition for it, it is called the "Optional Referendum." The Referendum and the Initiative provide for direct legislation, that is, legislation directly by the people.

For adoption by States from 1897 to 1908, see 1913 ALMANAC, page 565.

1909—Arkansas Legislature voted to submit Initiative and Referendum amendment.

Colorado Legislature voted to submit Initiative and Referendum amendment.

1910—Arkansas adopted Initiative and Referendum amendment by a vote of 91,367 to 39,111.

Colorado adopted Initiative and Referendum amendment by a vote of 89,141 to 28,698.

Arizona placed Initiative and Referendum in Constitution to be submitted to popular vote.

New Mexico placed Initiative and Referendum in Constitution to be submitted to popular vote.

1911—People of Arizona voted approval of Constitution containing provisions for Initiative, Referendum and Recall.

The people of New Mexico voted approval of Constitution containing provisions for the Initiative and Referendum.

The California Legislature voted to submit the Initiative, Referendum and Recall amendments, and the electors later in the same year adopted them by a vote of 168,744 to 52,093.

The Legislature of Nevada for a second time voted to submit an Initiative amendment to the Constitution.

The Legislatures of the States of Washington, Wyoming, North Dakota, Nebraska, Florida, Idaho and Wisconsin voted to submit to the people Initiative and Referendum amendments to the Constitution.[1]

The Legislature of Ohio in 1911 passed an act providing for the Initiative and Referendum in all the cities of the State; requiring thirty per cent. of the electors for the Initiative and fifteen per cent. for the Referendum.

An Initiative and Referendum system was adopted by the city of Los Angeles at a special election held on December 1, 1902. Since then Sacramento, San Bernardino, San Diego, Pasadena, Eureka, Santa Monica, Alameda, Santa Cruz, Long Beach, Santa Barbara, Palo Alto, Richmond, and Berkeley in California have adopted charters of the model of Los Angeles. The California Legislature in 1911 passed a law conferring Initiative and Referendum powers on voters in cities.

Methods of electing United States Senators by a popular vote have been adopted by the States of Oregon, Nebraska, Nevada, Minnesota, New Jersey, Ohio, Wisconsin, Kansas, and California.

The Initiative and Referendum bill was killed in the Massachusetts House of Representatives in 1911 by a vote of 125 to 75. A two-thirds vote necessary in order to amend State Constitution.

1912—The Supreme Court of the United States on February 19, 1912, handed down a decision upon the claim of the Pacific States Telephone and Telegraph Company, that a tax upon it imposed by the Initiative and Referendum method in Oregon, was unconstitutional. The Court decided that only Congress and not the Supreme Court of the United States may object to the Initiative and Referendum. Chief Justice White announced the decision of the Court. Returns on the Initiative and Referendum measures submitted to Montana's voters at the election in November, 1912, indicated that several of them were carried by heavy majorities. They provide for party nominations for State offices by direct vote, limiting the campaign expenditures of candidates to 15 per cent. of the office salary for one year, and providing for the direct election of United States Senators and for a Presidential primary.

The Ohio Constitutional Convention proposed an amendment to the Constitution of the State providing for Initiative and Referendum, requiring signatures of ten per cent. of the electors to propose an amendment to the Constitution, and three per cent. of the electors for a Referendum proposing a law. The amendment submitted to the people for approval, same to take effect October 1, 1912, was approved by vote of people at election held September 3, 1912.

1913—The Legislature of Ohio in 1913 passed following safety guards for the Initiative and Referendum petitions: Accepting money for signing, prohibited; applicable to each plan of organization in municipalities; giving money or value for signing, prohibited; printing and distribution of publicity pamphlets relative to measures submitted to people through Initiative and Referendum; provisions for Initiative and Referendum in municipal corporations; statement showing payments for circulating petitions.

California—Chapter 630, laws 1913, provides that the sheet or pamphlet containing Constitutional amendments, as well as any question, proposition or amendment to the Constitution to be submitted to the people by either Initiative or Referendum petition, shall also contain the corresponding Constitutional provisions as then in force, so as to facilitate comparison.

Colorado—An amendment to the Constitution became effective on January 22, 1913, providing that every elective public officer may be recalled from office at any time; the initiation of the proceeding being a petition signed by electors equal in number to twenty-five per cent. of the entire vote cast at the last preceding election for all candidates for the position which the incumbent sought to be recalled occupied. An amendment to the Constitution became effective on January 22, 1913, providing for the recall of judicial decisions.

The Library of Congress.

THE Library of Congress was established in 1800, destroyed in 1814 by the burning of the Capitol, afterward replenished by the purchase by Congress of the library of ex-President Jefferson, 6,760 volumes (cost, $23,950); in 1851, 35,000 volumes destroyed by fire; in 1852, partially replenished by an appropriation of $75,000; increased (1) by regular appropriations by Congress; (2) by deposits under the copyright law; (3) by gifts and exchanges; (4) by the exchanges of the Smithsonian Institution, the library of which (40,000 volumes) was, in 1866, deposited in the Library of Congress with the stipulation that future accessions should follow it. Sixty sets of Government publications are at the disposal of the Librarian of Congress for exchange, through the Smithsonian, with foreign Governments, and this number may be increased up to 100. Other special accessions have been: The Peter Force collection (22,529 volumes, 37,000 pamphlets), purchased 1867, cost $100,000; the Count de Rochambeau collection (manuscript), purchased 1883, cost $20,000; the Toner collection (24,484 volumes, numerous pamphlets), gift in 1882 of Dr. Joseph M. Toner; the Hubbard collection (engravings).

The collection is now the largest in the Western Hemisphere, and third in the world. It comprised at the end of the fiscal year (June 30, 1913) about 2,128,255 printed books and pamphlets (including the law library of which, while a division of the Library of Congress, still remains at the Capitol), manuscripts, maps and charts, pieces of music, and photographs, prints, engravings, and lithographs numbering about a million.

The collection is rich in history, political science, in official documents, National, state, and foreign, and in Americana, including important files of American newspapers and original manuscripts (Colonial, Revolutionary, and formative periods). Many of the rare books and manuscripts belonging to the Library are exhibited in show cases on the second floor.

The Library is rich in special collections acquired since 1897.

In Prints—the Hubbard collection, gift in 1898 of Mrs. Gardiner G. Hubbard; Noyes works of Japanese artists; Garrett, 19,113 prints (on deposit); George Lothrop Bradley, 1,980 engravings; prints issued by the Government calcographies of France, Germany, Italy, Japan and Austria-Hungary.

Manuscripts—The PAPERS OF NINE PRESIDENTS: Washington, Jefferson, Madison, Monroe, Jackson, Van Buren, Polk, Pierce, and Johnson. AMERICAN STATESMEN AND POLITICIANS: Franklin R. Morris, Hamilton, Van Buren, Duff Green, Washburne, Clayton, Chase, Crittenden, Lyman Trumbull, E. M. Stanton, John Sherman, Gideon Welles (deposited); James H. Hammond, J. L. M. Curry. MILITARY PAPERS: Pickett papers, Gen. George B. McClellan; Gen. W. T. Sherman. DIPLOMATIC: Wm. Short papers. NAVAL PAPERS: Preble; John Paul Jones. COMMERCIAL HISTORY: Ellis, 1805-1853; Bourne, 1776-1816; Galloway (early part of the eighteenth century); letters of William Taylor (the latter part of the eighteenth century); of John White, cashier of the Bank of the United States at Baltimore; Edward Dixon, merchant of Port Royal, 1743-1796. Biddle papers (Bank of the U. S.), deposited. DISTRICT OF COLUMBIA: Papers of William Thornton; George Watterston. EUROPEAN ARCHIVES: Stevens Index, 1763-1783; upward of 100,000 folios of transcripts of documents relating to American Colonial history. STATE PAPERS: Continental Congress; House of Representatives. COLONIAL DOCUMENTARY HISTORY: Records of Virginia Company; Spanish papers of New Mexico and Florida; Philippine and Guam documents. SCIENTIFIC: Maury papers. MEXICAN HISTORY: Yturbide papers; Inquisition papers, 1759. LITERARY: Louise Chandler Moulton collection of letters.

Maps—The Kohl Collection; manuscript maps of Lord Howe (and many other manuscript maps); the Lowery Collection of maps of SPANISH POSSESSIONS NOW WITHIN THE LIMITS OF THE UNITED STATES.

Printed Books—The Weber library (Sanskrit literature, 3,018 volumes, 1,002 pamphlets); Hattala (Slavic, about 1 500 volumes); Yudin (Russian, 80,000 volumes); the Huitfeldt-Kaas (Scandinavian, 5,000 volumes); the John Boyd Thacher collection of Incunabula (deposited); the Deinard collection of Hebraica, comprising upward of 10,000 titles, was given to the Library by Mr. Jacob H. Schiff in 1912.

In 1897 the main collection was removed from the Capitol to the building erected for it under the acts of Congress approved April 15, 1886, October 2, 1888, and March 2, 1889, at a cost of $6,347,000 (limit by law, $6,500,000), exclusive of the land, which cost $585,000. The architects who furnished the original designs were John L. Smithmeyer and Paul J. Pelz. By the act of October 2, 1888, before the foundations were laid, Thomas L. Casey, Chief of Engineers of the Army, was placed in charge of the construction of the building, and the architectural details were worked out by Paul J. Pelz and Edward P. Casey. Upon the death of General Casey, in March, 1896, the entire charge of the construction devolved upon Bernard R. Green, General Casey's assistant, and under his superintendence the building was completed in February, 1897, opened to the public November, 1897. The building occupies three and three-quarter acres upon a site ten acres in extent at a distance of 1,270 feet east of the Capitol, and is the largest and most magnificent library building in the world. In the decorations some forty painters and sculptors are represented—all American citizens. The floor space is 326,195 square feet, or nearly 8 acres. The book stacks including the new stack built over the southeast interior court, contain about 100 miles of shelving, affording space for 3,540,000 octavo volumes and 84,000 volumes of newspapers.

The Library is maintained by annual appropriations by Congress for various purposes, including the purchase of books. Total appropriation for 1914—$606,085.00. For service and contingent expenses, $406,760.00; purchase of books, $98,000.00; building and grounds, $101,325.00.

Library Service.—Library proper, 254 employés; copyright, 91; distribution of cards, 40; disbursement and care of building and grounds, 128. Total, 513. By virtue of the act of 1897, employés in the Library proper are appointed by the Librarian of Congress "solely with reference to their fitness for their particular duties."

Copyright Office.—The Copyright Office is a distinct division of the Liorary of Congress, and is located on the ground floor, south side; open 9 to 4.30. It is under the immediate charge of the Register of Copyrights, who, by the acts of February 19, 1897, and March 4, 1909, is authorized "under the direction and supervision of the Librarian of Congress," to perform all the duties relating to copyrights. Copyright registration was transferred to the Librarian of Congress by the act of July 8, 1870. Of most articles copyrighted two copies, and of some one copy, must be deposited in the Library of Congress to perfect copyright.

Entitled by statute to draw books for home use are the following: The President, the Vice-President, Senators, Representatives, and Delegates in Congress (no books may be given out upon the orders of members in favor of those who are not members); Heads of Departments; the Justices, Reporter, and Clerk of the Supreme Court; the Judges and Clerk of the Court of Claims; Judges of the Court of Appeals of the District of Columbia and Judges of the Supreme Court of the District of Columbia; representatives at Washington of foreign Governments; the Solicitor-General and Assistant Attorney-General; the Secretary of the Senate; the Clerk of the House of Representatives, the Solicitor of the Treasury, ex-Presidents of the United States; the Chaplains of the two Houses of Congress; the Secretary and Regents of the Smithsonian Institution; the members and Secretary of the Interstate Commerce Commission, and Chief of Engineers of the Army.

Inter-Library Loans.—While not a lending Library, but a reference Library, primarily and essentially, the Library of Congress maintains an inter-library loan system by which special service is rendered to scholarship by the lending of books to other libraries for the use of investigators, engaged in serious research, which it is not within the power or duty of the Library in question to supply, and which at the time, are not needed in Washington.

Hours.—The Library building is open to the public all days in the year excepting 4th of July and Christmas. The hours are from 9 A.M. to 10 P.M. week days, and from 2 P.M. to 10 P.M. Sundays and holidays.

The Main Reading Room, and Periodical Reading Room are open to the public from 9 A.M. to 10 P.M. week days, and from 2 P.M. to 10 P.M. Sundays and holidays.

The Librarian's Office is open for the transaction of business from 9 A.M. to 4.30 P.M. week days, and from 2 P.M. to 6 P.M. Sundays and holidays.

The other administrative divisions of the Library, including the Copyright Office, are open for the transaction of business from 9 A.M. to 4.30 P.M. all days in the year, excepting legal holidays and Sundays.

Librarians Since the Inception of the Library.—1800-1814, the Clerk of the House of Representatives (for the time being); 1815-1829, George Watterston; 1829-1861, John S. Meehan; 1861-1864, John G. Stephenson; 1864-1897 (June 30), Ainsworth R. Spofford; 1897-January 17, 1899, John Russell Young; 1899 (April 5), Herbert Putnam.

The Principal Languages of the World.

THERE are said to be 3,424 spoken languages or dialects in the world, distributed as follows: America, 1,624; Asia, 937; Europe, 587; Africa, 276.

The English language is spoken by more than 150,000,000 of people.

| French " " " | 60,000,000 " " | Portuguese " " " | 30,000,000 " " |

The English language contains approximately 600,000 words. Of this total nearly one-half consists of scientific terminology seldom met outside of text-books and of archaic, obsolescent or obsolete terms.

Various estimates of the sources of English words have been made at different times. On the basis of the Lord's Prayer, George Hickes calculated that nine-tenths of our words were of Saxon origin. Sharon Turner's estimate was that the Norman were to the Saxon as 4 to 6. Trench computed 60 per cent. Saxon; 30 per cent. Latin, including those received through French; 5 per cent. Greek, and 5 per cent. other sources. Prof. W. W. Skeat in the recently published fourth edition of his Dictionary, which contains approximately 20,000 words, shows the following sources:

As regards the number of words in the principal other languages no estimate of any practical value has been made in recent years, but existing dictionaries show the following facts:

The vocabulary of the New Standard Dictionary of the English Language aggregates approximately 450,000 words.

The German word-book (Kürschner's Universal-Konversations-Lexikon) contains not more than 300,000 words, including personal names.

Grimm's Dictionary of the German Language contains approximately 150,000 words; Littre's Dictionary of the French Language, 210,000 words; Dahl's Dictionary of the Russian Language, 140,000 words; Carlos de Ochoa's Dictionary of the Spanish Language, 120,000 words; Petrocchi's Dictionary of the Italian Language, 140,000 words.

ASTOR, LENOX AND TILDEN FOUNDATIONS.

ESTABLISHED by consolidation of the "Trustees of the Astor Library," the "Trustees of the Lenox Library," and the "Tilden Trust," May 23, 1895, twenty-one trustees being chosen from the Trustees of these corporations; in 1902 the number of Trustees was increased to twenty-five, of which number the Mayor of the city of New York, the Comptroller, and the President of the Board of Aldermen serve ex officio. The agreement of consolidation provided for the establishment and maintenance of a free public library and reading room in the city of New York, with such branches as might be deemed advisable for the continued promotion of the objects and purposes of these several corporations.

The Trustees soon after consolidation in 1895 determined to pursue a liberal policy and to create a great library system that would serve the needs of scholars and of the general reading public as well. An act was passed by the Legislature and approved May 19, 1897, giving the city the necessary authority to issue bonds for the construction of a building on the present site and to contract with the New York Public Library for its occupancy. Carrère & Hastings were appointed architects of the building on December 9, 1897. The corner-stone was laid November 10, 1902, and the building was opened to the public on May 23, 1911.

The building is in the form of a rectangle 390 feet long and 270 feet deep, built around two inner courts, each about 80 feet square; it has a cellar, basement, and three upper floors. The area covered is about 115,000 square feet, the cubic contents 10,380,000 cubic feet. The material is largely Vermont marble (375,000 cubic feet), bonded in brick walls. There are seats for 768 readers in the main reading room and seats in other public rooms bring the total capacity up to 1,760. In the main stack room are 334,530 feet (63.3 miles) of shelving, with capacity for about 2,500,000 volumes. Book stacks in the special reading rooms amount to about 70,000 feet, with capacity for about 500,000 volumes.

The building fronts on Fifth Avenue, looking east. On the basement floor, with entrance from Forty-second Street, are the rooms for circulation of books, for children's reading, for newspapers, a Library School and its offices, and public telephones; on this basement floor, with entrance on Fortieth Street, are the shipping rooms and the printing and binding offices. On the first floor are the business offices of the circulation department, the offices of the Bursar, a reception room, an exhibition room, and reading rooms for current periodicals, technology, patents. On the second floor are the offices of the Director, a lecture room, the ordering and cataloguing rooms, and reading rooms for Jewish literature, Oriental literature, Slavonic literature, science, economics and sociology, and public documents. On the third floor are the public catalogue room and the main reading room, the latter occupying nearly the whole of the west front of the building, in size about 300 feet long by 80 feet wide, with seats for 768 readers. Along the south side of the third floor are special reading rooms devoted to American history, maps, and engravings. Along the Fifth Avenue front are the art and architecture reading room, the Stuart room, and the picture galleries. Along the north front of the third floor are reading rooms for music and for genealogy and local history.

On March 12, 1901, Mr. Andrew Carnegie offered to give $5,200,000 to the city for the construction and equipment of free circulating libraries upon condition that the city should provide the land and agree to maintain the libraries when built. This communication was submitted to the Mayor on March 15, and on April 26 an act was passed authorizing acceptance of the gift by the city upon the terms imposed by Mr. Carnegie. An agreement with the city was executed on July 17, the library acting as agent for Mr. Carnegie, under which forty-two buildings are to be erected in Manhattan, the Bronx, and Richmond (later increased to fifty), on sites to be selected and purchased by the city with the approval of the library, the buildings to be leased to the library and to be under its control. The city agrees to provide adequate yearly maintenance, 10 per cent. of the cost of each building being agreed upon as a minimum.

On November 7, 1901, an agreement was made with three firms of architects in New York to prepare plans and specifications for these branch libraries. On June 6, 1902, an issue of bonds for $250,000 was authorized for purchase of sites. The first Carnegie building, known as the Yorkville branch, was opened December 13, 1902, at 222 East Seventy-ninth Street; the second, providing a new home for the Chatham Square branch, was opened November 2, 1903, at 33 East Broadway. By the end of 1911 thirty-two branches had been opened under this contract.

Literature of 1913.

BY FREMONT RIDER.

THE book production of the United States in 1913 showed a marked improvement in quality over 1912 as well as increase in quantity. There is an increasing output of practical popularly edited books in almost every field of knowledge. Average prices continue to fall.

FICTION offered a half dozen novels above the average of merit, three of the best "The Happy Warrior," "V. V's Eyes" and "The Garden Without Walls" by new, or at least unseasoned, writers. Wars in China, Tripoli, Mexico and the Balkans caused a flood of new books of HISTORY. BIOGRAPHY continues large. Feminine unrest the world over finds wide literary expression: indeed, books on the WOMAN question are the outstanding feature of the year's output. Books on two other new subjects—EUGENICS and AVIATION—fell off this year. POETRY and DRAMA show a continually increasing number of titles. If we may judge from their literatures auction is by far the most popular indoor GAME, as golf is the outdoor GAME.

The following 600 odd titles, out of some 12,000 published in 1913, aim to include the most important, not only in the sense of having more or less enduring value, but also because of their popularity, possibly transient, but no less significant, as evidenced by sales or repute. Where choice was necessary, emphasis has been laid on the popular and practical, rather than the scholarly and theoretical.

ESPERANTO, THE INTERNATIONAL LANGUAGE.

Esperanto is an artificial language invented by the Russian Dr. L. L. Zamenhof, of Warsaw, Poland. It has only one object in view, namely, to serve as an international auxiliary language; it is not in the least intended to replace the national languages. The first book in the new language was published in 1887.

The Esperanto words are mostly of Latin, but to some extent also of Anglo-German origin, so that at the first glance Esperanto has the familiar appearance of a Roman language.

The great success of Esperanto, which is now known and studied all over the world, is chiefly due to the facility with which it may be mastered. The pronunciation is strictly phonetic, making the study of spelling unnecessary. The grammar does not admit of any exceptions to the rules, and is so logical and simple that it may be learned completely in a few hours by any person who is familiar with the grammar of his mother tongue. The vocabulary consists of about 2,500 root words, a large majority of which is known to any one whose language contains a great number of Latin roots—for instance, English.

In spite of this small number of root words Esperanto has been made rich in words and expressions by the adoption of certain affixes and certain methods of word combination. By these simple and easy means a considerable vocabulary may be obtained. Esperanto is a well-sounding language when spoken.

Esperanto is now used for all civilized purposes by many hundreds of thousands of persons in all civilized countries. It made its appearance in the United States in an organized form in 1905, when thy first society for its study was formed in Boston, and this was followed soon afterward by societies in New York and Philadelphia. It is now promoted by a large and flourishing national association, the "Esperanto Association of North America."

Esperanto has a large literature, over a hundred periodicals, including a number in the United States, being published and a large and powerful "Universal Esperanto Association" maintains a regular system of consulates all over the world, to facilitate the transaction of all kinds of legitimate business for its members by means of the common tongue.

International congresses of Esperantists have been held at Boulogne, Geneva, Cambridge, Dresden, Barcelona, Washington, Antwerp, Cracow and Berne. The last was attended by delegates representing the Esperantists of forty different nations and languages.

The Esperantists of America have established in Boston an office from which may be obtained without charge, any desired information of the movement. Address "Esperanto Office," West Newton (Boston Postal District), Mass.

The total book publications of the world annually approximate 160,000. Paul Otlet, the Secretary of the Brussels International Bibliographic Institute, estimates the number of printed books since the invention of printing to January, 1900, at 12,163,000 separate works, and the number of periodicals at between fifteen and eighteen millions. M. Iwinski estimates the number of books published since the invention of printing to the end of 1908 at 10,378,365.

The Dickens Fellowship.

The Dickens Fellowship is a world-wide league of English-speaking men and women whose purpose is to exemplify the teachings of Charles Dickens and to cultivate and diffuse the spirit which pervades his writings—the spirit of innocent festivity and mirth, of religion without bigotry, of charity without coldness, of universal philanthropy and human kinship. The society began its existence in London in October, 1902. The object and aims of the Fellowship are:

"To knit together in a common bond of friendship lovers of that great master of humor and pathos, Charles Dickens. To spread the love of humanity, which is the keynote of all his work. To take such measures as may be expedient to remedy or ameliorate those existing social evils which would have appealed so strongly to the heart of Charles Dickens, and to help in every possible direction the cause of the poor and the oppressed. To assist in the preservation and purchase of buildings and objects associated with his name and mentioned in his works. To do all such things as are incidental or conducive to the attainment of the above objects or any of them."

The Fellowship is open to all, without restriction as to class, creed or nationality. Headquarters, Whitcomb House, London. Branches of the Fellowship have been formed not only throughout Great Britain but in the United States and Canada, India, Australia and New Zealand, 15,000 members in all. It is estimated that there are 24,000,000 copies of Dicken's works extant.

A Shakespearian Table.

Professor Rolfe, the Shakespearian scholar, has counted the lines which the principal characters in Shakespeare's plays have to speak. His rule was to consider parts of lines, beginnings and endings of speeches as full lines. This is the result:

| | Lines to Speak. | | Lines to Speak. | | Lines to Speak. |
|---|---|---|---|---|---|
| Hamlet | 1,569 | Macbeth | 705 | Mistress Page | 361 |
| Richard III | 1,161 | Cleopatra | 670 | Viola | 353 |
| Iago | 1,117 | Prospero | 665 | Julia ("Two Gentlemen") | 323 |
| Othello | 838 | Romeo | 618 | Volumnia | 315 |
| Coriolanus | 886 | Petruchio | 585 | Beatrice | 309 |
| Timon | 863 | Touchstone | 516 | Lady Macbeth | 261 |
| Anthony (Cleopatra's) | 829 | Imogen | 541 | Katherine (in "The Shrew") | 220 |
| Lear | 770 | Helen ("All's Well") | 479 | Miranda ("Tempest") | 142 |
| Richard II | 755 | Isabella | 426 | Perdita | 128 |
| Brutus | 727 | Desdemona | 389 | Cordelia | 115 |

Henry V. as king and prince (in "Henry IV." and "Henry V.") has 1,987 lines to speak, and Falstaff, in both parts of "Henry IV." and "Henry V." and in the "Merry Wives," has 1,895.

Order of the Blue Goose.

A NATIONAL organization of general and special agents of fire insurance companies for social purposes. Each State organization is known as a "pond" and the general organization as the "Grand Nest." The following are the national officers: Most Loyal Grand Gander, Frank G. Snyder, Kentucky Pond; Grand Supervisor of the Flock, Fred. W. Ransom, Ohio Pond; Grand Custodian of the Goslings, J. R. Stewart, Ontario Pond; Grand Wielder of the Goose Quill, R. H. Wieben, Milwaukee, Wis.; Keeper of the Golden Goose Egg, Gus M. Wise, Indiana Pond. Grand Nest, Milwaukee National Bank Building, Milwaukee, Wis.

National Model License League.

President—T. M. Gilmore, Louisville, Ky. Vice-President—George G. Brown, Louisville, Ky. Treasurer—O. H. Irvine, Louisville, Ky. Secretary—G. R. Washburne, Louisville, Ky.

The purpose of the organization is to conduct a national educational campaign in favor of legislation intended to take the liquor question out of politics and to put law-breakers out of the liquor business. It advocates limitation of licenses in proportion to population, thus preventing undue competition; mandatory penalties suspending and cancelling licenses of law-breakers; moderate license fees enabling the license holder to make a legitimate profit, and the renewal of a license so long as the holder obeys the law, and so long as the business is not outlawed by vote of the people, thereby relieving the liquor dealer of the domination of politicians.

The league's legislative plan has been adopted as a whole by Indiana, and in part by Texas, Ohio, Alabama, Arkansas, Michigan, Louisiana, Iowa, Connecticut and Oregon. The league was organized in October, 1907. Its membership comprises leading distillers, brewers, wholesalers and retailers throughout the country, and includes numerous professional and business men.

The School of Journalism.

(From a Statement Prepared by Dr. Talcott Williams, Director.)

THE School of Journalism in Columbia University, New York City, on the Pulitzer Foundation, opened September 30, 1912. On November 1, 1913, it had in all 126 students, of whom 29 are women. Divided by classes, there are 53 in the first year class, 27 in the second year class, 14 in the third year class, and 32 in the fourth year class. Of the women who will take their degree in the School of Journalism, 23 are in Barnard, and 9 of the men at present registered in Columbia College are taking courses in the School of Journalism. Of the first year class entering last Fall, 38 are men and 15 are women. Of this number, 29 men entered on examination and 9 under the provision laid down by the late Joseph Pulitzer in his gift, that students of maturity, experience and marked fitness should be admitted without examination. Of the women, 13 entered Barnard College, to be there two years, on examination, and 2 without examination. This provision, as Mr. Pulitzer expected, has enabled a number of journalists to enter the school. Some 25 States and 3 foreign countries—France, Turkey and New Zealand—are represented among those attending the course of the School of Journalism. The school offers a four-year course, leading to the degree of Bachelor of Literature in Journalism. This degree was conferred on 9 graduates in the course for the first time at the commencement of Columbia University, June 4, 1913, of the fourth year class, 9 were in the school last year in the third year class and 20 are graduates of other colleges. This is a notable step toward giving the school a graduate character.

The total attendance is far larger than was expected and establishes the position of the School. The number attending is greater in proportion to the number of journalists in the country than the number attending the law and medical courses in Columbia University is in proportion to the number of those practising law and medicine. Taking the number entering for the first year as a gauge, the attendance four years hence should reach 250. At the opening of this college year, in September, 1913, the school entered its new building, for which $500,000 was provided by Mr. Pulitzer's bequest.

No step in professional education has attracted wider public attention or awakened a more general approval in the American press. When Mr. Pulitzer proposed the school twelve years ago its plan, purposes and need were all challenged. From the announcement of the appointment in February, 1912, of its Director, Talcott Williams, formerly of the NEW YORK WORLD staff and for 38 years in active journalism, to its successful opening and full operation the school has commanded the confidence of newspapers and journalists. One-third of its teaching staff of 25 have been in active service on newspapers.

The plan of the school and its course of study were approved and at many points directed by an Advisory Board of twelve journalists, including Mr. John Langdon Heaton, of the editorial staff of the NEW YORK WORLD; Mr. Ralph Pulitzer, President of the Press Publishing Company (the NEW YORK WORLD), and Mr George S. Johns, editor of the St. Louis Post-Dispatch. The other journalists on this Advisory Board, of which President Butler of Columbia University is a member, are Samuel Bowles, Springfield Republican; Victor Fremont Lawson, Chicago Daily News; St. Clair McKelway, Brooklyn Eagle (Chairman); Charles Ranson Miller, New York Times; Edward Page Mitchell, The Sun, New York; Melville Elijah Stone, Associated Press, New York; Charles H. Taylor, Boston Globe, and Samuel Calvin Wells, Philadelphia Press.

The administrative work of the school is conducted by an Administrative Board, composed of President Butler; the Director, Talcott Williams; the Associate Director, Prof. John W. Cunliffe; Frederick P. Keppel, Dean of Columbia College; William P. Trent, Professor of English Literature; Henry R. Seager, Professor of Political Economy; James T. Shotwell, Professor of History; Ashley H. Thorndike, Professor of English, and Charles A. Beard, Associate Professor of Politics.

While there are 31 universities and colleges which give courses in various phases of journalism and several which have schools of journalism, no other school has an endowment so large, reaching $1,000,000 at present, with other gifts in prospect from the Pulitzer estate; none a course giving so much time to the solid study needed for the training of the journalist, and this has also the crowning advantage of a metropolis like New York in which to train its students in reporting by sending them to see and to write upon events as they come in the life of a great city. The visit of the battleship fleet and the Becker trial were two occurrences used in this way by the school. The City Hall, the departments and the regular newspaper assignments have all been used to train men in getting news as well as in writing it. Attendance on first night performances is employed in training for dramatic criticism. From the second year on, the students are under direction and correction, writing articles on financial and business subjects, editorials, special articles, and in other fields of newspaper work. The headquarters of the political parties in New York City have given opportunity for training in National and State politics.

This practical training in the work of the journalist in the greatest news centre of the country comes in the last two years, but of the four years' course four-fifths are devoted to the study of history, constitutional law, political science, economics, statistics, etc.; a mastery of either French or German. These studies follow the lines laid down by Mr. Joseph Pulitzer in his plan for the school. They are taught with the comprehensive thoroughness only possible in a great university. The work and study required is on a professional standard. Taking the technical work of reporting and their studies, the students of the school are working as hard as in a newspaper office, covering the same range of subjects and writing under close supervision and correction from men trained as journalists.

THE COMMISSION OF FINE ARTS.

Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the United States of America in Congress assembled, That a permanent Commission of Fine Arts is hereby created to be composed of seven well-qualified judges of the fine arts, who shall be appointed by the President, and shall serve for a period of four years each, and until their successors are appointed and qualified. The President shall have authority to fill all vacancies. It shall be the duty of such commission to advise upon the location of statues, fountains, and monuments in the public squares, streets, and parks in the District of Columbia, and upon the selection of models for statues, fountains, and monuments erected under the authority of the United States and upon the selection of artists for the execution of the same. It shall be the duty of the officers charged by law to determine such questions in each case to call for such advice. The foregoing provisions of this act shall not apply to the Capitol building of the United States and the building of the Library of Congress. The commission shall also advise generally upon questions of art when required to do so by the President, or by any committee of either House of Congress.

Sec. 2. That to meet the expenses made necessary by this act an expenditure of not exceeding ten thousand dollars a year is hereby authorized.
